COLD BLANKETS MIDWEST AREA AND 20 PERISH

Northeast Also Reports Suffering Under Heavy Blizzard.

SNOW FLAKES FALL ALONG GULF COAST

Man Is Frozen to Death in Near-Zero Weather at Shreveport.

FOG-BOUND SHIPS HELD AT NEW YORK

Communications Are Cut Off Along Canadian Border and in New England.

(Associated Press.)

While Chicago and the Midwest reported 20 deaths directly attributable to the worst blizzard that section had braved in a decade, the Pacific Coast, for the past ten days, also gripped by unseasonable weather, at last had seen the errant sunshine through murky skies.

But even as the sun poked through stories of suffering from cold were numerous. Havana, Cuba, wrapped in winter garments, feared snow might fall for Christmas.

The Midwest suffered most. Thousands idle because of factory shutdowns, communication lines asunder and snow covering the entire district, after a 36-hour fall, was the net result thus far. Five prisoners, under cover of the blizzard, escaped from a county jail near Chicago. At Elkhart, Ind., 70 students spent Wednesday night in the school room.

Snow Along Gulf.

In the "sunny south" a biting northwest wind brought on a cold wave, followed by snow, flakes falling as far south as New Orleans and Pensacola, Fla., a rarity in those centers. One fatality had been reported, an unidentified man having been frozen to death at Shreveport, La. Temperatures ranged from 6 above to zero.

The middle Atlantic States were storm-gripped. Upper New York State was cut off from the rest of the world in many places. The lower Canadian provinces on the Eastern seaboard were enabled to learn news of the outside world only after a rerouting of despatches through Detroit and thence, by short stages, in some instances via bob-sled, to Montreal, Quebec and Halifax.

Glens Falls and Plattsburg, N. Y., were apprised of doings outside their small geographical circle, but only after hundreds of linemen had worked for 24 hours repairing telegraph lines. New Hampshire and Vermont and Maine were hard hit, flood conditions being threatened in Vermont, when ice jams caused the Mohawk River to rise rapidly.

Ships Held in Harbor.

A train near Laconia, N. H., was nearly wrecked when an ice-laden tree crashed earthward. Passengers were badly cut by broken glass as branches of the tree tore through the panes.

Outside New York Harbor 41 ships were fog-bound at Sandy Hook, fearful to move in or out, after the collision of two vessels Wednesday night. Manhattan Island still was weathering a heavy rainfall, but where it had been springlike earlier this week it suddenly had turned cold, and a change to snow or sleet was promised for the week-end.

Pennsylvania had a touch of warmth, with temperatures ranging from 60 to 65 degrees common in the central and eastern sections.

Weather reports indicated the storm center moving eastward from both the Rocky, Central and Southern sections, thereby providing hope for those erstwhile stricken areas but causing pessimism along the Northeastern seaboard.

Rudy Vallee Faces Heart-Balm Suit

Broadway Show Girl Sues Radio and Vaudeville Singer for $200,000.

New York, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—The Daily News tomorrow will say that Rudy Vallee, vaudeville and radio singer, has been served with notice of a $200,000 breach-of-promise suit brought by Agnes O'Laughlin, Broadway showgirl.

Although Vallee admitted the papers were served on him in his dressing room at the Brooklyn Paramount Theater, counsel for Miss O'Laughlin today denied any knowledge of the action. The suit has not yet been filed in court.

Vallee issued a statement saying he was "greatly surprised and deeply hurt."

30 Risk Cracking Ice To Flee Jammed Ship

Eight Women, Two Infants in Group That Picks Perilous Path Over Frozen Bay at Sandusky to Reach Rescue Vessel.

Sandusky, Ohio, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Walking precariously through the dusk and snowfall for nearly a mile over cracking ice, 30 persons, including 8 women and 2 babies, were saved here tonight after the passenger vessel The Tourist was caught in an ice jam just outside Sandusky Bay.

They were picked up by the passenger boat Messenger, which stood by. The Tourist, a 78-ton oil burner, owned by the captain, Frank Hamilton, of Sandusky, had put out for Kelley's Island from Sandusky with a cargo of steel and the passengers, who had been doing their Christmas shopping in Sandusky and were returning home.

At 2 p. m., the Tourist, reputed to be one of the best ice breakers in this region, was caught in the ice, which had been blown in by a heavy northwesterly wind. The ice carried it several hundred yards from the dock and the vessel jammed. It was a four-hour battle in which the ice won, and in the battle it crawled up the sides of the boat and arose as high as the pilot house, according to passengers.

When Capt. Hamilton observed that he could not wrench the vessel free he ordered the passengers off, according to Charles Martin, one of them. The ice was rough and chopped and it was difficult for the passengers to retain a footing.

Mrs. Martin, with her husband, wheeled their 10-week-old baby, Elaine, to the Messenger. The other infant, 7 months old, belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elfers.

It was reported that none of the passengers had suffered from the cold although the temperature was around 14 degrees above zero.

At 7:30 p. m. the Tourist was still in the jam with efforts being made to free it.

This was the second rescue in ten days made by the Messenger. The first occurred after the Mascot, a 65-foot oil burner, sank off Kelley's Island after ice had rammed it. Five men, including a crew of three, were picked up from the water.

GOV. MOODY REPLIES TO STIMSON'S BARB

Hopes U. S. Policy Does Not Countenance Closing of Laredo Consulate.

OWN INACTION WAS HIT

Austen, Tex., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Hope that the Government at Washington has a policy with reference to foreign relations that will not permit the Mexican government to profess friendliness toward the United States and at the same time offer the affront of closing the door at one of the principal ports between the two nations was expressed by Gov. Moody tonight in a telegram to Secretary of State Stimson.

He made reply to Secretary Stimson's message advising the governor he understood the action of the Mexican government, in closing the consulate and port at Laredo, "was not in any sense an attempt at retaliation for a single incident, but because the Mexicans feel that, from several incidents lasting over a considerable period of time, Laredo is not a safe point for their public citizens to pass in traveling."

It was Gov. Moody's second appeal to the Secretary to use his good offices with the Mexican government in an effort to have the consulate and port reopened.

Secretary Stimson today notified Gov. Moody that his department was "taking steps to see what, if anything, can be done," toward adjusting differences between the Mexican government and the City of Laredo.

The Mexican government apparently also feels, Stimson said, that traffic can be diverted to some other border point without great difficulty.

"The Mexican government finds it hard to understand," the message said, "why you (Moody) have not found it possible either by your authority or advice, to ameliorate the conduct of the public officers of Webb County.

"I am not sure what can be effectively done, but perhaps it would help if we try to make it clear that the idea which the Mexicans seem to entertain—that Laredo is not a safe place for its public citizens—is erroneous."

Enrique Santibanez, Mexican Consul General at San Antonio, said today that unless District Attorney Valls resigns, or the charges of conspiracy to murder against Calles are

MEXICANS EXECUTE LEADER IN REVOLT

Gen. Bouquet, Vasconcelos Aid, Faces Firing Squad in Nogales, Sonora.

DISAVOWS CHIEF, REPORT

Nogales, Ariz., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Gen. Carlos Bouquet, officially considered the military head of the latest incipient revolution in Mexico, died yesterday in Nogales, Sonora, before a federal firing squad, it was announced today by Jose Valenzuela, Mexican consul here.

Gen. Juan Rico, who made the arrest, conducted the trial, and ordered the execution, confirmed the announcement and said Bouquet at the end repudiated his asserted chief—Jose Vasconcelos, who was defeated in the recent Mexican presidential election.

"The rebel general expressed hatred for Vasconcelos and the exiles in the United States, who left the rebels in Mexico in a trap," Gen. Rico reported, adding that Bouquet had said the operations of Mexican plotters in the United States were "infamous."

Consul Valenzuela said Col. Miguel Mendez, Daniel Navarro, Rezio Lougo and two other Mexicans, supposed aids of Bouquet, were in custody of Mexican federals in Nogales, Sonora, just across the international border.

He said Bouquet's arrest followed reports of spies in the Mexican quarter here, who mingled with Mexican exiles.

He asserted that Bouquet and his aids had come north to obtain money and instructions from the revolutionary junta at Tucson, Ariz., and that military maps, war equipment, arms and ammunition had been seized when the arrests were made.

Vasconcelos reached Arizona late today from El Paso. He was met at Tucson by his son and daughter, with whom he planned to motor to Los Angeles for the holidays. He only disclosed in El Paso his plans for an imminent revolution.

Tucson, Ariz., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Jose Vasconcelos, defeated presidential candidate in the recent Mexican election, tonight termed the execution of Gen. Carlos Bouquet at Nogales, Sonora, as an "outright murder."

Vasconcelos said it was his belief that the execution was a personal revenge on the part of Gen. Juan Rico, commanding officer at Nogales, who had fought against Bouquet in previous revolutions.

Woman Who Aided Fiance Wins $450,000 Balm Suit

Heaviest Award on Record Goes Against Rich Detroit Realtor.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—A jury of eight women and four men late today returned a verdict awarding Miss Bertha Cleavenger $450,000 in her breach of promise suit against John H. Castle, wealthy Detroit real estate operator.

Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson, who presided in the case, said that the amount was the largest ever awarded in a breach of promise case in the United States. It is twice the size of the next largest, which was in the O'Brien-Manning case, in New York, which was subsequently reduced to $100,000.

Miss Cleavenger's suit had asked for $750,000.

The woman who won this record judgment is 43 years old. She came to Detroit from West Virginia, and in

PRISON LEAGUE IS EXCORIATED IN RIOT INQUIRY

Criminal Machinations Exposed in Report to Governor.

CONVICTS TERRIFIED BY LEADERS, CLAIM

PRIVILEGES FLAYED AS DEMORALIZING

Better Food and Housing Called Necessary in Reforms Recommended.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Col. George F. Chandler, in his report made public tonight on the Auburn riot of last week, says that "a veritable reign of terror has obtained in this prison through the machinations of the criminals' control of the (mutual welfare) league." He has recommended to Gov. Roosevelt the abolishment of that organization.

The report also recommended the employment of at least 50 more guards, immediate relief of overcrowding, segregation of incorrigible prisoners, withdrawal of special privileges, increase of allowance for prison food and the employment of a sufficient civilian staff to handle lines of communication from the institution to the outside world.

This report was based on an intensive investigation by the organizer of the State police into all circumstances attending the outbreak at the Auburn institution at the request of Gov. Roosevelt.

Human Filing Cases.

Cells at Auburn were described by the colonel as antiquated, damp, dark and cold and as "simply files in which human beings are stored away."

Prisoners there, he asserted, "are poorly and inadequately clothed."

"Since the riot in July there has been a great feeling of unrest in the prison," he continued, "and some desperate characters have obtained control of the welfare league and have held responsible positions in the league. This has given them freedom and they have gone about the yard, throughout the corridors and have used their league room at any and all times, even well into the night.

"In fact, we have a statement from a guard at the gate that night after night he has looked through the window of this room at gambling going on, with money on the table, and drinks, of what character he did not know but surmised.

Abuse of Guards Cited.

"Prisoners have cat-called at the guards and have used vile and abusive language to them, defied their authority and, when put in the cells by the guards, have been let out

Trial of Bungling Charges Takes Aspect of Another Murder Investigation.

The Shelby-Kelly trial yesterday became the unofficial public trial of another man—Robert A. McPherson, jr., youthful bank clerk husband of Mrs. Virginia McPherson, who was found strangled on the floor of their Park Lane Apartment last September 14.

McPherson was not present nor were there any charges against him. The charges were against Inspector William S. Shelby and Lieut. Edward J. Kelly. They were charged with bungling the police investigation of Mrs. McPherson's death and were the defendants formally on trial before the extraordinary police trial board. But the actual effort of the prosecution was to implicate McPherson.

Throughout the day the prosecution pounded away at its witnesses to get from them statements tending to support the theory that Mrs. McPherson was slain and did not commit suicide. At every opportunity the prosecution sought to prove that the police not only were negligent because they did not prove the nurse was murdered but sought also to prove that the police were grossly negligent and guilty of improper conduct in releasing young McPherson.

Botts' Story Falls Allen.

Policeman Lawrence Botts, of the Third Precinct, who previously had admitted that he and Robert J. Allen, former policeman, were loafing in an alley in the rear of Emergency Hospital at the time Mrs. McPherson is believed to have died, took the witness stand and completed his repudiation of the story Allen had said he would tell. He had withheld the full truth before because he wanted to save Allen from difficulties while he was still a policeman.

Rex Collier, a reporter for the Evening Star, swore that Allen had gained access to the McPherson apartment without the knowledge of his superiors and before the investigation had been completed by representing to Wilmer Clark Ruff, manager of the building, that Collier was Edgar J. Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the De-

British Cabinet Saved By Only Eight Votes

MacDonald Government Has Close Call in Vote on Conservative Amendment Rejecting Coal Mines Bill; Liberals Desert Labor.

London, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Ramsay MacDonald's Labor party cabinet was saved from possible resignation tonight when the House of Commons defeated a Conservative amendment rejecting the coal mines bill, by a narrow margin of eight votes.

The vote was 281 against 273 in favor of giving the bill its second reading.

The division of the House climaxed the first serious crisis that has confronted the administration. Triumph of the Conservative amendment would have defeated the measure, which was one of the chief projects of the government. The bill was framed to meet campaign promises.

The narrow margin of victory was due to a lessening of government support which hitherto has come from the benches of the Liberals under the leadership of David Lloyd George. The Liberals themselves had prepared a dissenting amendment, but it took exception to only a few of the principal features of the bill and the Conservatives maneuvered themselves into the front of the battle by offering their comprehensive rejection amendment.

In the debate that preceded the vote, Lloyd George denounced the bill as vicious and as likely to raise the price of coal to the consumers, but he indicated that his party would not oppose a second reading if MacDonald would assure them that opportunity would be given to deal with unsatisfactory aspects of the measure, while the bill was still in the committee stage.

In closing the debate the prime minister agreed to consider the Liberal objections in committee. Despite this concession, Lloyd George and a number of other Liberal leaders voted against the cabinet in the division.

Loud cheers came from the Labor benches when the result was certain, but these were drowned by cries "resign," when the official figures disclosed the slim margin of government victory.

Examination of the ballot showed there were sufficient abstainers among the Liberals to account for the Laborites winning. Only 2 of the 43 Liberals in the house voted with the cabinet. The total Liberal membership is 58. The 8 independents split evenly, 4 to 4.

Details of Balloting.

The cabinet vote was made up of 275 Laborites, 4 independents and 2 Liberals. The antigovernment vote was made up of 228 Conservatives, 41 Liberals and 4 Independents.

Prior to the session, the total membership was figured as consisting of 289 Laborites, 260 Conservatives, 58 Liberals and 8 Independents. The

Senate Snag Trips Up Woman Tax Appointee

MISS ANNABEL MATTHEWS, whose nomination as member of the Board of Tax Appeals was confirmed and then sent back to the Senate finance committee because Senator Couzens said her appointment violated a resolution.

Selection Is Sent Back to Finance Body After Being Confirmed.

Just when Miss Annabel Matthews, of Gainesville, Ga., appeared to have risen from the ranks of Government clerks to a position as a member of the Board of Tax Appeals, through President Hoover's appointment, she ran into a senatorial snag yesterday. That branch of Congress reconsidered confirmation of Miss Matthews' appointment and sent it back to the finance committee for consideration.

The objection to the confirmation was made by Senator Couzens, Republican, of Michigan, on the grounds that a Senate resolution adopted in 1926 disapproves naming any one from the Internal Revenue Department to be a member of the tax appeals board. Miss Matthews has been connected with the Internal Revenue Department.

The new appointee to the board, however, had her champions in the Senate. Senators Norris of Nebraska, Glass of Virginia, and George of Georgia, the first a Republican and the latter two Democrats, rose to

"If my memory serves me correctly," said Mr. Legge to Mr. Butterworth in a letter, "you did not appeal for help, but rather proceeded to adjust your business to the new condition, in which effort you seem to have been quite successful."

Mr. Butterworth was president of the Moline Plow Co. which manufactured buggies as well as plows and was a competitor of Mr. Legge as president of the International Harvester Co. So Mr. Legge knows Mr. Butterworth.

Now Mr. Butterworth is president of what the agrarians like to call the Attorney for Sugar Concern Denies President and He Talked of Tariff.

FALSE VIEW CRITICIZED

(Associated Press.)

Whatever the reason for his employment to work against a high sugar tariff, Edwin P. Shattuck, of New York—a personal friend of President Hoover—testified yesterday before the Senate lobby committee that he had never discussed the sugar levies with the President.

Called because of testimony that he was retained by sugar interests partially because of his close relations with Mr. Hoover, the attorney said it was not fair for the name of the Chief Executive to be "bandied about" in the lobby hearings.

H. C. Lakin, president of the Cuba Co., dealing in Cuban sugar production and opposing an increased tariff on that product, employed Mr. Shattuck. He had been examined closely by the lobby committee for several days, especially in relation to Mr. Shattuck's work. Mr. Shattuck testified yesterday that, although he had not talked with the President about Delegation Would Back Proposal, Chief Says After Leaving City.

AIRPLANE CARRIERS' CUT ALSO DESIRED

Present Limitation Could Be Increased, Assert Tokyo Spokesmen.

COMMON OBJECTIVE BARED IN TALKS HERE

Stimson and Adams Issue Statements Criticizing Post Editorial.

With the Japanese Delegation En Route to New York, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki, chief delegate of the Japanese empire to the London naval conference, will enter the parley prepared to support a proposal for a complete holiday in capital ships until 1936.

The delegate disclosed this tonight in an interview with the Associated Press after the Japanese delegation departed from Washington, where Mr. Wakatsuki and his colleague, Admiral Takeshi Takarabe, minister of marine, conferred with Secretary Stimson and other American officials.

In discussing the subject of capital ships, Mr. Wakatsuki declined to reveal whether he had talked to the American Secretary of State on the subject, but it is understood that the Japanese viewpoint has been made known officially to the United States. The question will be raised at the London conference in connection with a consideration of the replacement program for battleships provided in the limitation agreement signed at the Washington arms conference. A ten-year holiday in this category was agreed upon at that time.

Carrier Limitation Favored.

Mr. Wakatsuki, further, disclosed that the Tokyo government is favorable to a program more closely limiting the construction of airplane carriers, also limited under the Washington treaty.

"If the proposal for a complete capital ship holiday until 1936 comes before the conference," the former premier said, "the Japanese delegation will be prepared to consider a similar agreement on airplane carriers. In addition, the present limits on the tonnage of airplane carriers could well be reduced to lower levels."

The Japanese attitude on both capital ships and airplane carriers will be fully stated at the conference by the Japanese delegation as soon as the question is raised, he added.

Categories Are Stressed.

"While the Japanese government considers the economic savings attending such a proposal to important," the delegate continued, "it must be borne in mind that the most vital matter for the consideration of the conference is that of limiting the categories which are not now limited. Progress was made in capital ship limitation at the Washington conference and all of the interested powers recognize that, once started, such a project is more readily revived and easily progressed than one which has not been touched upon or which has met with failure on previous occasions.

"The establishment of limitations upon auxiliary craft is therefore the most important matter for the forthcoming parley and Japan will enter the conference prepared to back reduction of auxiliary vessels in conformity with the policy established by the Tokyo government."

The delegate declined to discuss details of the economies which Japan would effect under a holiday in capital ships until 1936, but this is understood to be estimated by the Japanese to mean a possible saving to them of 650,000,000 yen, or more than $300,000,000.

Although the Japanese will not enter the conference with any program

NEWS of SUBURBAN Washington and the Surrounding States

other than that concerning naval matters, the delegate added Japan would be prepared to consider any matter which will tend to consolidate the preservation of peace.

He concluded that the conversations with American officials had been "most profitable" and expressed gratification over the "frank manner in which they were conducted."

(Associated Press.)

A common Japanese-American objective to halt competition in naval building was said by Secretary Stimson last night to have been revealed during the conversations between the Japanese delegates to the London naval parley and United States officials.

A final joint statement by Mr. Reijiro Wakatsuki, chief Japanese delegate, and Mr. Stimson, concerning an hour and a half meeting at the State Department yesterday morning, was issued shortly before the Far Eastern mission left for New York on the Congressional Limited at 4:25 p. m. The delegtaion embarks for London Monday.

This joint statement read:

"The discussion, like that at Woodley (Secretary Stimson's home where the first meeting occurred), was concerned with the general philosophy underlying naval agreements and the opportunities of the coming conference. It took up the good results between the United States and Japan of the Washington conference and the possibilities of continuing and increasing these results.

Positions Are Outlined.

"The agreement in the objectives of both countries was established. Then in a very frank and friendly way each delegation presented the broad outlines of its position. This discussion did not go into details of figures, which is the province of the conference (London naval) and should be done there where all the participating nations will be represented."

Later, when the Secretary of State was asked to explain the sentence that "the agreement in the objectives of both countries was established," he said:

"We found that both countries had the same general objectives in mind, namely, to establish lasting good will through the cessation of competition in their naval armaments."

Stimson Censures Post.

Stimson issued a formal statement defending the conduct of the American-Japanese conversations and censuring The Washington Post for an editorial characterized by the Secretary as having "the deliberate intention * * * to discredit our Government before the Japanese delegation."

A statement on the editorial also was issued by Secretary of the Navy Adams.

The Washington Post editorial had commented unfavorably upon the fact that Secretary Adams had been omitted from the conferences with the Japanese, and urged that it was "highly advisable" that the Naval Secretary should have been present at yesterday's final meeting between the Japanese delegates and American officials.

Adams' Absence Explained.

In answering the editorial and explaining the absence of Secretary Adams from the conversations, Stimson said:

"My attention has been called to an editorial in The Washington Post of this morning, which dwells upon the absence of Secretary Adams from certain conferences that are going on in Washington with the Japanese delegates who are on their way to the London conference. It is quite clear that it is the deliberate intention of that editorial to attempt to make trouble among the American delegates to the conference and the members of the President's cabinet, to discredit our Government before the Japanese delegation and thus try to cause a breakdown of the London conference.

"The utter falsity of the statement is evident if I recount that the Japanese delegates have indicated that they would be represented by three persons in the preliminary discussions. We, in usual courtesy, also determined to limit our numbers, and Mr. Adams, who was consulted by me, suggested that some other member undertake it, and our delegates were selected by Mr. Adams and myself.

"Every newspaper has a right to any views it pleases upon the matters before the conference, and The Washington Post has a full right to oppose limitation in arms, but I do not believe the American people approve of attempts to humiliate and cause dissension in their Government before representatives of foreign governments."

Adams Denies Inference.

Secretary Adams said:

"I have read this morning an editorial in The Washington Post, which indicates that my absence from certain conferences between the American delegates and the Japanese delegates who are on their way to the London conference has come about through some design aimed at the Navy and against my wishes. The truth is exactly to the contrary. The members selected for that conference were arrived at between myself and the Secretary of State, and to make a wise division of duties among the delegates."

Those present at the conference yesterday were Mr. Wakatsuki, Admiral Takeshi Takarabe, minister of marine, and delegate to the parley; Mr. Hiroshi Saito, secretar of the delegation; Secretary Stimson, Ambassador Morrow, Mr. William R. Castle, jr., Ambassador to Japan, and Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, retired, adviser to the American delegation.

Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, a member of the American delegation, had been scheduled to attend the conversations yesterday morning, but as was the case with the conference Monday, found it impossible to do so on account of other duties. Senator Robinson (Democrat), Arkansas, the only other American delegate now in the United States besides Adams, was out of the city.

After the conference Secretary Stimson entertained the Japanese delegates and their principal advisers and many members of the American group to the London conference at luncheon at the Pan-American Union.

Mrs. Amanda E. McCary Succumbs at Alberene

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Dec. 19.—Mrs. Amanda E. McCary, aged 73, wife of William M. McCary, died yesterday at her home at Alberene, in the southern end of the county, after a brief illness. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the Methodist Church at Alberene.

Mrs. McCary was a native of Fluvanna County, and a daughter of the late Samuel Kidd. Besides her husband, she is survived by four children, Mrs. C. J. Wood, Mrs. Forrest Kirby and Miss Ethel McCary, of Alberene, and R. B. McCary, of this city.

YOUTH IS REMOVED FOR SAFE CUSTODY

Suspect in Slaying of Girl Near Floyd, Va., Lodged in Roanoke Jail.

TWO FRIENDS ALSO HELD

Roanoke, Va., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—With Buren Harman, 19 years old, in Roanoke City Jail for safe-keeping and Graydon Bond and Guy Evans, youths of about 20, in the Floyd County Jail at Floyd, held as material witnesses, Roanoke and Floyd County officials turned their attention late today to an effort to establish jurisdiction and develop tangible facts that would answer the present riddle of who killed pretty Freeda Bolt, Willis High School senior, and where and how.

So far as authorities were willing to divulge, there is nothing nearer a confession from the Harman boy, who is charged in a warrant sworn out by the girl's father as early as last Sunday, with "destroying" the girl, than information he (Harman) gave deputy Sheriff Giles Harris that led to the discovery of the girl's body on a bleak, precipitate mountainside at midnight Wednesday.

Since telling the deputy about 4 o'clock Wednesday in the Floyd Jail where the girl's body would be found, the prisoner has held a close tongue, and no casual question by officers has added to the information they seek in solving the case.

Young Harman this afternoon traveled the road over which Freeda Bolt must have taken her last ride; the car in which she rode was halted at the point where physical evidence shows her body was dragged through the brush and wet leaves 200 feet to the place where the girl's body was found covered with logs, and the lad, of his own volition, went down the path that has been well marked by many feet since Sheriff D. P. Hylton and a party of Floyd and Roanoke officers found the body. When he reached the road, after the steep climb back, he shivered and complained of being cold.

Freda Bolt disappeared a week ago tonight and search for her failed until 4 o'clock Wednesday when Harman gave Deputy Sheriff Harris the information that led to finding the body.

Harman was arrested Sunday. Bond and Evans were held as witnesses today because they were close companions of Harman.

Although officers said there was no "dangerous sentiment" in Floyd, they saw fit to bring Harman to the Roanoke jail today. The body was found in Roanoke County, but the place where the girl died has not been determined.

5,000 Trout Put In Fishing Creek

Walton League Members at Frederick Perform Restocking Task.

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., Dec. 19.—More than 5,000 trout 7 inches and over in length, were placed in Fishing Creek, about 3 miles above the city water receiver, by Frederick Chapter of the Izaak Walton League. Approximately 3,000 of the same size were liberated in Tuscarora Creek several days ago. There are still about 8,000 at the Lewistown State hatchery to be liberated next Novembeer.

The Fishing Creek distribution was made under the direction of Albert M. Powell, superintendent of the State hatchery.

The fish were taken from the White Rocks Ponds, placed in cans and hauled to the city dam, where they were given over to members of the Walton League, who took them in a wagon to the points of distribution. One hundred and fifty cans were required.

A total of 8,765 trout of the legal size have been placed in Fishing and Tuscarora Creeks this fall and winter. The fish were sent to the ponds and maintained by the State.

I. C. C. Peach Rate Cut Is Forecast

Staunton Man Is Hopeful After Freight Hearing in Washington.

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., Dec. 19.—Very hopeful that the commission will grant a substantial reduction, William S. Campfield, of this city, returned today from Washington, where during the first three days of the week he participated in the hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission at which the Virginia and West Virginia Horticultural Societies sought to secure lower freight rates on peaches from this district to the North and Middle West.

The hearing was held before Examiner Anderson, of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Attorney H. E. Ketner, of the Virginia State Corporation Commission, handled the case for the complainants, together with R. M. Gilliland, a rate expert from Washington.

Mr. Campfield and J. W. Willen, traffic manager of the American Fruit Growers, assisted in preparing the case and testified before the commission. Other witnesses were Chesley Haden, of Crosett, and Eugene Scott, of Maryland.

Bedford Firemen's Band Is Honored by Pollard

Special to The Washington Post.

Bedford, Va., Dec. 19.—The Bedford Firemen's Band and the local military unit, Company A, 116th Infantry, Virginia National Guard, have been selected to serve as personal escort to Dr. John Garland Pollard, governor-elect, in the inaugural parade in Richmond.

The Bedford Firemen's Band was organized a little more than four years ago as a civic organization and now has 64 pieces. This band was awarded several honors in competition at the annual meeting of the fire companies of the State in Lexington during the past summer. The military company has ranged high among the military units of the State and maintained the rank of honor company for three successive years, thereby gaining the coveted "honor cup" for permanent possession.

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., Dec. 19.—Henry Bushong, one of the oldest Confederate veterans in this county, died at his home here this afternoon in his ninetieth year. He leaves a widow and four children, among them Mrs. Geo. Garret, of Washington.

He will be buried in Fairview Cemetery tomorrow afternoon.

QUIZZED IN DEATH OF SISTER

William Forsythe, Post Staff Photographer.

Left, Mrs. Elsa Knorr and Miss Frieda Fischer, sisters of Mrs. Aurelia Dreyfus, who conferred with United States Attorney Leo A. Rover yesterday concerning the mysterious death of Mrs. Dreyfus in October in a plunge from the balcony of the Potomac Boat Club.

Field Dresses Up Virginia Estate

Chicago Merchant Has Army of Men Employed on Show Place.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Dec. 19.—Marshall Field, of Chicago, who some months ago acquired large holdings of farm lands near The Plains, Fauquier County, Va., has an army of men employed in making improvements on his estate of 1,000 acres. It is understood that the Chicago financier and sportsman plans to make his country home in Virginia one of the showplaces of the South. His estate is in the very heart of the hunt club section of the Piedmont region of Virginia.

In the same neighborhood are Mrs. Phipps H. Teller and other wealthy horse breeders. Close by the Field place is the Rolling Plains estate of Mrs. R. Penn Smith, jr., who has 40 or more horses in winter quarters there, including breeding and racing stock, the latter numbering both performers on the flat and through the field.

Field owns Stimulus, whom able critics proclaim a coming sire, along with such mares as Nimba, Affection and Cross of Gold, in addition to an interest in the noted stud matron, Virginia L., daughter of McGee and Sanfara. The price reported for Virginia L. was $50,000 with foal at foot.

Mrs. Myrtle O. Hooper Dies in Charlottesville

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Dec. 19.—Mrs. Myrtle O. Hooper, wife of Philander M. Hooper, sr., of this city, died yesterday at University Hospital, after a brief illness. The funeral was held at 11 o'clock this morning from a local undertaking establishment, the service being conducted by Dr. Henry Alford Porter, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Hooper was, before marriage, Miss Myrtle O. Hill, of Orange County, and was 52 years of age.

Danville Tobacco Price Reaches Season's Low

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Dec. 19.—Tobacco prices touched the lowest level of the season yesterday when the market closed for the Christmas holidays.

The average price was $16.56 for the 200,000 pounds sold. The market will resume January 7.

Three District Men Held in Baltimore

Policeman Said to Have Them in Saloon Which They Broke Into.

Three Washington men were arrested in Baltimore late last night when a policeman there is alleged to have caught them in a saloon which they are said to have broken into.

They gave their names as Timothy Temple, 25 years old, of Gresham place, near Georgia avenue northwest; Walter L. Hodkinson, 23 years old, of E street, near Eighth street northeast, and Severence Farmer, 21 years old, of T street, near Fourteenth street northwest. A fourth member of the party is said to have eluded capture.

Police here learned that the screams of a little girl who saw the men in the saloon attracted a patrolman. He arrested the three. An automobile bearing a District tag, and listed to a T. W. Temple, of Thirteenth street near Kenyon street northwest, was found in front of the saloon. The tags on the car indicated that it had been issued for another make of car.

St. Columbia Lodge At La Plata Elects

Special to The Washington Post.

La Plata, Md., Dec. 19.—The annual election of officers of St. Columbia Lodge, No. 150, was held in the lodge hall at La Plata last night. Those elected for the coming year are Harold S. Swann, worshipful master; Dr. J. J. Jones, senior warden; Raymond Rowens, junior warden; Dr. P. Ernest Sasscer, secretary; R. H. Lee Reich, treasurer; John P. Hancock, tyler.

The appointive officers will be named at the January meeting. Walter G. Schwab is the retiring master.

Well-Known West Virginian Dies.

Kearneysville, W. Va., Dec. 19 (Special).—Thomas Jefferson Creamer, 66, widely known farmer residing near here, died at his home after a two-weeks illness. He was a native and lifelong resident of the section.

Historic Old Hall Will Be Dedicated

Restored Chamber of Virginia House of Delegates to Be Opened.

Richmond, Va., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—The dedication here tomorrow evening of the restored hall of the Virginia House of Delegates will bring about the formal restoration of one of the most important spots historically in the State and Nation.

Gov. Harry F. Byrd is to preside at the restoration ceremonies, with invocation and benediction by Dr. Beverly D. Tucker, of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, of Richmond. The principal speaker is to be Dr. Douglas Freeman, of the Richmond News Leader.

Chief Justice John Marshall, as head of the United States Supreme Court, presided in the old hall of the House of Delegates during the trial of Aaron Burr. The secession convention of 1861 met there and passed the articles which resulted in the Civil War, and it was there that Gen. Robert E. Lee was given command of the Confederate armies in 1862.

The hall was abandoned for legislative purposes in 1906.

Baltimore Prisoner Hangs Self in Jail

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—A verdict of suicide was given by Coroner William T. Riley today in the death of David McCandlish, 31, who was found Wednesday night hanging from a knotted sheet in his cell in the Maryland Penitentiary.

McCandlish was serving a term of ten years on several charges of larceny, entering the prison in March of 1928. Records of the police department also show that he served in the Federal prison at Atlanta and in the District of Columbia.

McCandlish was found about midnight. Physicians said he had been dead about twenty minutes when discovered.

Senate Approves Bill For Washington Home

(Associated Press.)

Senate approval was given yesterday to a bill by Senator Swanson (Democrat), Virginia, authorizing an appropriation of $50,000 for reproduction of the home in which George Washington was born at Wakefield, Va.

The bill must be acted upon by the House. Senator Swanson explained that the Wakefield National Association has raised $115,000 for this work.

Postmaster at Faber Succumbs to Illness

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Dec. 19.—Melton S. Roberts, postmaster at Faber, died yesterday at his home after a month's illness. The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock Friday morning from Rock Spring Church, at Raber, the service to be conducted by the Rev. C. H. Gaddy.

Mr. Roberts was 59 years of age. He was a native of Nelson County, son of the late Henry H. Roberts, one of the pioneers of that section. He married Miss Sarah Harris, of Faber, daughter of the late Joseph Coleman Harris. She survives, with nine children.

GRAND JURY TO ACT ON DREYFUS DEATH

Rover Indicates Program for New Inquisitorial Body by Interrogations.

SISTERS ARE QUESTIONED

The death of Mrs. Aurelia Fischer Dreyfus, beautiful young divorcee who was killed in a mysterious plunge from a balcony at the Potomac Boat Club following a dance early on the morning of October 13, is now likely to be one of the first matters to be taken up for investigation by the new grand jury which will convene next month.

Strong indications pointing to such investigation were seen yesterday when United States Attorney Leo A. Rover completed his interrogation of the first two of eight witnesses whom he has asked to appear in his office for private questioning with regard to the tragedy.

Although Rover declined to comment on the statements of these witnesses other than to state that they had "amplified" on the declarations made in sworn affidavits which they presented to him several days ago, it was learned that the statements in their affidavits were in no way shaken under minute questioning, and that they were able to supply additional information which is believed to make a grand jury probe imperative.

Two More Witnesses Called.

Rover has called two more witnesses to appear before him today, and it is expected that immediately after hearing them he will announce his decision regarding the advisability of a grand jury investigation.

These two witnesses called for today, like the first two heard yesterday, are members of the family of the dead girl.

Miss Freda Fischer, of 1504 Olive street northeast, and Mrs. Elsa Knorr, of 1803 Biltmore street northwest, sisters of Aurelia Dreyfus, were the two persons interrogated by Rover yesterday.

Sisters Give Statement.

Miss Fischer told the district attorney of the relationship between her sister and Edmund J. McBrian, New York broker who accompanied Mrs. Dreyfus to the boat club dance and who was arrested for investigation after the tragedy but released when he showed that he was not with Mrs. Dreyfus at the moment of her fatal fall, having left her alone on the balcony while he went to the cloakroom to get their wraps.

According to the story told to Rover by Miss Fischer, McBrian had been quarreling with Mrs. Dreyfus all afternoon and evening.

She declared that a few seconds before the end of the last dance she had seen him, visibly agitated, come in to the dance floor from the balcony, and that later, at the hospital where Mrs. Dreyfus lay dying after her fall, he had been greatly excited in efforts to prevent his identity from becoming known.

Chairmen of House At Hoover's Dinner

Republican Leaders Are Only Ones at Event in White House.

(Associated Press.)

An innovation in White House entertaining took place last night when President and Mrs. Hoover invited for dinner all Republican chairmen of House committees who were in the city.

Those present were the Speaker and Mrs. Longworth, Representative and Mrs. Haugen, of Iowa; Representative Porter, of Pennsylvania; Representative and Mrs. Tilson, of Connecticut; Representative and Mrs. Britten, of Illinois; Representative Graham, of Pennsylvania; Representative and Mrs. Johnson, of Washington State; Representative and Mrs. Dempsey, of New York; Representative and Mrs. Johnson, of South Dakota; Representative and Mrs. Lehlbach, of New Jersey; Representative and Mrs. McFadden, of Pennsylvania; Representative Wood, of Indiana; Representative and Mrs. Vestal, of Indiana; Representative and Mrs. White, of Maine; Walter H. Newton, one of the President's secretaries, and Mrs. Newton; Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee; Miss Susan S. Dyer and Mrs. J. H. Large, sister of Mrs. Hoover.

Capt. George Roberts Is Dead at Culpeper

Special to the Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., Dec. 19.—Capt. George E. Roberts, 74 years old, died here this afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. Alfred Pulliam. He had been in failing health for a number of years. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from St. Stephen's Episcopal Church and burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Capt. Roberts was for years one of the prominent business men of Richmond, Va. He leaves a sister and a brother, James J. Roberts, cashier of the Second National Bank of Culpeper.

'DRUNK' PRESCRIBED FOR BONE-DRY IOWA

Wet New Yorker Tells House Prohibition Has Ruined American Farmer.

COMMISSION DATA ASKED

Prohibition came to the fore at the Capitol again yesterday when Senator Harris (Democrat), Georgia, called for a preliminary report from President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission, and Representative Black (Democrat), New York, declared that the Eighteenth Amendment had ruined the farmers.

Senator Harris introduced a resolution asking President Hoover to supply the Senate with a report, but it went over without consideration or discussion.

Harris said that when Congress authorized creation of the Law Enforcement Commission it intended that a report should be prepared as soon as possible so that it might be used as a basis for appropriations. So far, he said, none has come, and he understands that one member of the commission has leased a house here for three years.

Spree Advised for Iowa.

The State of Iowa, stronghold of Senator Smith Wildman Brookhart and other rabid drys, was advised yesterday by Representative Black, wet Democrat, of New York, to go on "a good, substantial drunk."

"I do not know of anything that would do it more good," said Black, and the other wets laughed their ecquiescence.

Black had been trying to show how prohibition, by reducing the market for barley, hops and rye, had had a disastrous effect on the farmer.

"Why conceal from the farmer that he is the real martyr to prohibition," said the New Yorker. "We have the framer in the United tates living under a dole system while the bootleggers of the United States are riding in fine lomousines.

Farmers "Holding Bag."

"The wealth of the Antisaloon League, its main financial support, came from the farmer. The wealth of the bootleggers was at one time the wealth of the farmers.

"When the brewer and the distiller went down the bootlegger came up. The bootlegger was created at the expense of the farmer, because the farmer lost two of his most important and substantial customers, the distiller and the brewer."

Charles R. Eyler, 74, Is Dead in Cumberland

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Dec. 19.—Charles R. Eyler, 74, former city councilman and construction superintendent for the Edison Electric & Illuminating Co. and the Potomac Edison Co., for 38 years, died at his home here today. He retired in September, 1926, as a pioneer electrical worker. He was connected with one of the first Edison plants in the country.

Mr. Eyler was a Republican and served in the city council under old ward system. He was a member of the Patriotic Order, Sons of America, and of the Junior Order, United American Mechanics, and was a State officer in Shield of Honor when that organization was active here. He was an active member of Kingsley Methodist Episcopal Church. Surviving are his widow and three children, George Albert Eyler, Mrs. Harry G. Bolinger and Mrs. Harry J. Gurley.

Child Seriously Hurt When Struck by Truck

Barbara Mitchell, 6 years old, of Cottage City, Md., while crossing the Baltimore boulevard by her home at 9 o'clock yesterday morning received serious injuries about the head when she was struck and knocked down by a truck operated by R. E. Miles, of Ord street, near Forty-fourth street northeast.

The Prince Georges County Rescue Squad brought the child in its ambulance to Casualty Hospital where she was reported in an undetermined condition.

MITCHELL ATTACKS PRISON CONDITIONS

U. S. Penitentiaries Called Disgraceful and Medieval by Attorney General.

REMEDIAL FUND ASKED

In ruging the House judiciary committee to act favorably on pending bills providing for increased facilities and certain reforms in administration, Attorney General Mitchell yesterday indicated that conditions in the Federal prisons are a disgrace to the country and little better than medieval.

The Attorney General added that Federal prison facilities have not even kept pace wiht the normal increase in the population of the country, to say nothing of expansion to provide for the vast increase in prisoners due to the prohibitino, narcotics and automobile theft laws and other comparatively recent legislation.

Mr. Mitchell said that the only criticism he had to offer of the series of bills pending before the committee was that the program which they embody is too modest. If all of them are enacted into law, involving an expense of somewhat less than $7,000,000, he asserted, the Department of Justice, probably would have to come back again within a year and ask for more.

Questioned by Representative LaGuardia (Republican), of New York, about the contract entered into with the State of Georgia for the lease of prisoners, Mr. Mitchell defended it on the ground that the law gives him ample authority to contract with States for the care of Federal prisoners. Under the contract, he said, 97 Federal prisoners were turned over to the State of Georgia. This small number was taken out of an institution which now has 3,600 inmates, although designed to care for only 1,500. Georgia is working the 97 prisoners, Mr. Mitchell added, but they are under Federal inspection.

If he could find any other State willing to enter into a similar arrangement, Mr. Mitchell said he would gladly make another such contract. He indicated that he did not have much hope of doing so and that the several States had been pretty thoroughly canvassed already.

Mr. LaGuardia pressed his point that the Federal statutes may have been violated in entering into the Georgia contract, but the Attorney General insisted that was not the case.

Man Picked as Burke Eludes Deputy Sheriffs

Mansfield, Ohio, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Search of eastern Richland County for two men, one of whom three residents of Mansfield said they identified as Frederick R. Burke, St. Joseph, Mich., gunman, apparently had failed late today when no trace of the men was found along the Harding highway.

The men sought were hitch-hiking and had asked the road to Pittsburgh. They claimed they lost their money in an automobile accident in which one suffered an injured hand. Tracks in the snow disappeared a short distance from the corporation line and deputy sheriffs believe the men obtained a ride with an eastbound motorist.

TELLING BLOWS REGISTERED FOR SHELBY-KELLY DEFENSE

partment of Justice. Allen had no facts to support his theories about the murder of Mrs. McPherson, Collier said, and his newspaper refused to support Allen's campaign.

Allen, waiting in the witness room to be called, was informed by reporters covering the trial about the testimony of Botts and Collier and asserted that he would refuse to testify. Subsequently he was called, was told bluntly that he would not be given an opportunity to make any speeches, declared that the proceedings were a "whitewash" and was excused.

Coroner Backs Release.

Dr. Joseph D. Rogers, acting coroner at the time Mrs. McPherson's body was found with a pajama cord tied about her neck, just about completed the day for the defense.

The belief that Mrs. McPherson was murdered, Rogers testified, was due to the public's ignorance of the manner in which the cord had been tied about the nurse's neck.

The cord had been doubled and wrapped about the neck twice and tied once at the left side in front of the neck. The second knot in the cord, about which there has been so much talk, Rogers said, undoubtedly was a knot which had been tied before the cord had been placed about Mrs. McPherson's throat.

There was no questioning that Mrs. McPherson committed suicide, he said. He had come to that belief after a preliminary examination and every subsequent development had tended to confirm his belief.

Police, he said, were not responsible for the release of McPherson in the custody of his father before the coroner's inquest. He ordered McPherson's release and would do so again under similar circumstances and was willing to take full responsibility for that action.

Neighbors' Quarrel Gone Over.

Through the testimony given under the greater latitude of trial-board procedure than governs in court there ran a surprising story of how developments which seemed sensational in the first heat of the McPherson investigation were born of neighbors' gossip and hearsay.

William M. Brown and his wife, Mrs. Alice Brown, who occupy an apartment in the Lombardy apartments, across a court from the McPherson apartment, told of a bitter quarrel they had had in the early morning hours of Thursday, September 12, when Mrs. McPherson is believed to have died.

Brown was the first witness. He told the story with no relish. He provided no embellishments, but withheld no information that was asked for. He had been to a dance, and when he returned home Mrs. Brown upbraided him. Their voices had been loud, he admitted. Yes, they were very loud. It was probable that his voice could have been heard farther than his wife's because his voice was the stronger. There was no effort at humor, but rather an effort to take most of any blame there might be on his own shoulders. But the crowd guffawed.

Spectators Warned.

Mrs. Brown followed her husband. She was pretty and smartly dressed. But no laughter greeted her story, because Maj. L. E. Atkins, chairman of the trial board, warned the spectators before she appeared that the trial room would be cleared if there was any further demonstration.

The third-hand gossip of a neighbor, Mrs. Roy A. Heavrin, sent her to Policeman Allen to take her before the July grand jury, Mrs. Brown disclosed. The telephone operator in the Lombardy apartments told her that Mrs. Heavrin had said that she, Mrs. Brown, should be warned that her husband had been before the grand jury and had told a story that she had taken her clothes and gone out of town. So she went before the grand jury, too, she said.

LAWRENCE BOTTS.

Tells of Sobs Again.

"You were angry?" asked James A. O'Shea.

"Yes, I was," Mrs. Brown replied.

"You thought perhaps that your husband was trying to put something over on you?"

"Yes, I didn't know what it was all about."

Mrs. Brown declared that after their intermittent quarreling, which had covered a long time, she was awakened and heard a woman sobbing and it seemed as is she choked and the sobs died away. She couldn't tell where the sobs came from, she said. No, she added, she did not know at the time that another woman in an apartment with windows on the court was crying that night because she had lost a beloved son or grandson.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Heavrin, who have been subpenaed to the Shelby-Kelly trial, were not present when the prosecution wanted to call them, and Walter L. Fowler, assistant corporation counsel, asked the board to have the police court issue an attachment to force their appearance.

Counsel in Bitter Clashes.

The trial was marked again with bitter clashes between opposing counsel, Robert E. Lynch, chief of the prosecution, engaging in frequent sallies with Henry I. Quinn and George E. Strong, counsel for Shelby, as well as with O'Shea. Both prosecution and defense were sharp and at times savage with witnesses, so much so that the kindly treatment given Mr. and Mrs. Brown by both sides showed in marked contrast.

Thirteen witnesses were heard in all. William R. Enyeart, police fingerprint expert, said he had looked for fingerprints at the time Mrs. McPherson's body was found. Sergt. Fred Sandberg, chief of the Bureau of Identification, said that everything proper had been done along that line. Harold Kneeland, a reporter for the News, said that far from letting reporters run riot through the McPherson apartment, as charged, Kelly and the police kept them out of the bedroom, where the body lay, and even put them out of the apartment altogether until the coroner's investigation had been made.

Mrs. Aileen Seville, resident manager of the Highview Apartments, where the McPhersons lived before moving to the Park Lane Apartments, said that Mrs. McPherson had three times attempted to commit suicide by gas, but the odor had been detected. It got so, she said, that whenever gas was smelled "we went to the McPherson apartment." Once McPherson called the janitor to help him control his wife, she said. Once Mrs. McPherson was not discovered until "nearly dead" and was sent to Emergency Hospital.

Stenographer's Memory Dim.

Ruff said that Allen was constantly telling theories about the McPherson death, but he never had heard him give a new fact. Ruff told, too, of the continuous and exhaustive investigation by Shelby and Kelly through the Park Lane Apartments seeking all available information. He said that Kelly had given him instructions to admit no one without police authority to the McPherson apartment until the coroner's inquest had been held. Ruff demolished another prosecution charge against the carelessness of the police investigation when he testified that the missing bloodstained tile from the bathroom had been chiseled up by himself and Kelly so that it could be kept for future evidence.

David Shott, Detective Bureau stenographer, fell into difficulties and neither prosecution nor defense could get him to remember definitely any of several things they wanted him to testify about. He did say, however, that his notebook, containing a statement from Botts, had disappeared. But the effect of that was lost when Botts testified that he had said the same thing in that statement he had said in a later one and Lynch declared that he only wanted the first Botts' statement to show that the Detective Bureau sometimes took "trivial" statements in writing.

Policeman Roy S. Miller, of the Third Precinct, added nothing of importance to the testimony. He merely had been assigned to guard the door of the apartment for a short time while other police officials were there investigating.

Lynch and Fowler said they had five or six more witnesses and expected to conclude the presentation this forenoon, and the defense began preparation for beginning its case this afternoon. The trial will be resumed at 9:30 o'clock.

Daughter of Publisher Wins Divorce at Reno

Reno, Nev., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Mrs. Dorothy Binney Putnam was awarded a divorce here today from George Palmer Putnam, member of the publishing house of Putnam.

The decree was granted on grounds of failure to provide. Custody of two minor children is to be joint, according to an agreement made out of court. They were married at Sound Beach, Conn., in October, 1911.

Girl Killed, 18 Injured, In School Bus Accident

Thezevant, Tenn., Dec. 19 (A.P.) Mildred McAlexander, 17, was killed; Pauline Woodward suffered a fractured arm and 18 other boys and girls were slightly injured today when the McLemore Seville School bus went into a ditch about three miles from the school.

The accident occurred when Ben Clark, driver, attempted to shift gears on a hill, witnesses said. Miss McAlexander jumped from the bus when it started backwards. She was pinned beneath the vehicle when it turned over into the ditch.

Snook Again Given Stay by Ohio Court

Coed Slayer's Death Now Set for January 31; Appeal Pends.

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Dr. James H. Snook, convicted slayer of Theora K. Hix, his coed sweetheart, was granted further respite from death in the electric chair today when the State Supreme Court continued his stay of execution until January 31 to permit more time for consideration of his appeal.

The court's action followed an announcement by Warden P. E. Thomas, of Ohio Penitentiary, that he was legally authorized to proceed with the execution of the former Ohio State veterinary professor any time after midnight Thursday, when the original stay of execution was to expire.

Dr. Snook's appeal is before the high tribunal on two motions—one seeking a review of his case and the other raising a constitutional question which will permit of an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States if the decision of the Ohio court is adverse. Attorney E. O. Ricketts, member of defense counsel, went to Dr. Snook's cell in death row at Ohio Penitentiary and informed him of the respite that had been granted. He assured the doctor that the case will be carried to the court of last resort if necessary.

Six Sick Men Flee Escape-Proof Jail

Blinding Snowstorm Helps Chicago Prisoners to Escape.

Chicago, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Six prisoners escaped today from Cook County's new "escape proof" jail.

The prisoners beat a guard into unconsciousness, locked him in a room, battered through a window, scaled a wall and fled under a hail of bullets into the blinding snowstorm.

Fred Knepper, the guard, was taking the six men to the clinic in the basement of the jail. All of them were, or were supposed to be ill. In a corridor on the second floor they overpowered him. To batter a barless window they used a heavy wooden bench.

Dropping from the window to a wall surrounding the prison, the men made their way to a yard adjoining the building and dropped into a snow bank.

Bourse to Close Four Days.

Paris, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—The Paris Bourse will be closed from December 25 to December 29, inclusive, by decree of the prefect of police. The decree was issued at the request of the minister of finances.

Three Maids Presented to Social World

Fourth Debutante Guest of Honor at Chilean Embassy Reception.

By JEAN ELIOT.

THE debutante was much in the picture yesterday, with three charming maids formally presented and a fourth, Miss Junia Culbertson, daughter of the United States Ambassador to Chile and Mrs. William S. Culbertson, honor guests at a reception at the Chilean Embassy.

The Ambassador of Chile and Senora de Davila entertained nearly 600 guests, with distinguished representation from the official, diplomatic and resident groups, and the drawing rooms of the spacious embassy were crowded through the afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson received with the hosts and the winsome debutante. Members of the embassy staff assisted in dispensing hospitality. Refreshments were served from a flower-decked buffet table.

The Minister of Hungary and Countess Szechenyi entertained at a reception at the legation to introduce their daughter, Countess Alice Szechenyi, and there, too, official, diplomatic and resident society was brilliantly represented. Countess Szechenyi wore a graceful gown of black velvet and Countess Alice a frock of pink chiffon, with a long bouffant skirt and a cape drapery over the arms. She carried pink roses.

The group of debutantes who assisted the young hostess included Miss Cynthia Davis, Miss Edith Eustis, Miss Dora White, Miss Laura Tuckerman, Miss Loranda Prochnik, Miss Elsie Ekengren, Miss Nancy Newbold, Miss Vittoria Catalani and Miss Elena de Struve.

A famous Hungarian orchestra, led by Bela Loblow, which had come from New York, played through the afternoon.

Miss Mildred Huston, youngest daughter of Mr. Claudius H. Huston, was another charming debutante presented yesterday, her father entertaining at a reception for her at their home in Twentieth street. Miss Katherine Huston received with Mr. Huston and her sister, and Miss Alice Huston was in the group of pretty girls assisting. The debutante wore an eggshell satin gown, made long, in the new mode, with close-fitting sleeves, and carried butterfly roses. Miss Katherine Huston had on a becoming blue satin gown, and Miss Alice Huston had chosen a frock of black fishnet.

Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, Mrs. William DeWitt Mitchell, Mrs. Arthur M. Hyde and Mrs. James J. Davis, of the Cabinet group, were among the ladies at the tea table. Others, who presided in turn, were Mrs. Ogden L. Mills, Mrs. Guy D. Goff, Mrs. Seymour Lowman, Mrs. William M. Jardine and Mrs. B. Carroll Reece.

Also assisting were Miss Katherine Lowman, Miss Lucia Tessada Guzman, Miss Marian Jardine, Miss Engracia Freyer, Miss Helen Walker, Miss Barber-Nell Thomas, Miss Mary Caroline Henry, Miss Clara Bolling, Miss Janet Murray, Miss Eunice Lee Evans and two girls who are visiting the Misses Huston, Miss Henrietta Kephart, daughter of Justice Kephart, of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, and Miss Sally Ann Boxley, of Roanoke, Va.

After the tea Mr. Huston entertained at an informal buffet supper for this group, the party going afterward to Miss Caroline Sanderson's coming out ball.

This was one of the evening's gala events, Col. and Mrs. Charles R. Sanderson entertaining at the Mayflower to present their daughter to society. The guests, numbering 500, were recruited for the most part from the younger set. A buffet supper was served at midnight. Miss Sanderson wore a becoming lace gown in eggshell tint, made with a tight bodice and tiny puff sleeves, with the skirt in bustle effect. Among the guests from from out of town were Mrs. H. F. Mitchell, of Minneapolis, and Maj. and Mrs. D. W. Morton, of Warrenton, Va.

Minister and Mrs. Wu Compliment New Envoy

The Minister of China and Mme. Wu, who entertained at dinner last evening at the legation in compliment to Mr. Nelson Johnson, newly appointed United States Minister to China, had as guests Representative and Mrs. Sol Bloom, Representative Florence P. Kahn, the Assistant Secretary of Labor and Mrs. W. W. Husband, Mr. Frank Lee, Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs of China, and Mrs. Lee, Miss Elizabeth Johnson, Dr. Stanley K. Hornbeck, Col. and Mrs. Walter Scott Drysdale, Mr. and Mrs Willys Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic William Wile and the Counselor of the Legation and Mrs. Yung Kwai.

Mme. Wu was the guest in whose honor Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur entertained at luncheon yesterday in her apartment at the Mayflower. There were fourteen in the company.

The Minister of Austria and Mme. Prochnick entertained fourteen guests for luncheon yesterday in compliment to the Mayor of Havana and Senora de Gomez, who are visiting the Ambassador of Cuba and Senora de Ferrera. The Minister and Mme. Prochnik met Senor and Senora de Gomez when they went to Havana last spring to attend the inauguration of President Machado.

The Attorney General and Mrs. William DeWitt Mitchell will entertain at dinner tonight for Mr. Mitchell's assistants in the Department of Justice. Their two sons, Mr. William Mitchell, now living in St. Paul, and Mr. Bancroft Mitchell, at present in New York, will spend Christmas with Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Arthur Drury have sent out invitations for a supper dance on New Year Eve.

MISS RUTH M'KILLIP, a student at Holton Arms, will leave town today to pass Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McKillip, in Chicago.

Curtis Guest At Dinner by Cuban Envoy

Mr. and Mrs. Gann Share Honors at Fete in Embassy.

Vice President Curtis was the guest for whom the Ambassador of Cuba and Senora de Ferrara entertained at dinner last night, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann sharing honors with him. Other guests were the Ambassador of Brazil, Senhor S. Gurgel do Amaral; the Ambassador of Chile and Senora de Davila; the Secretary of War and Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, Senator Arthur Capper, the Minister of Panama and Senora de Alfaro; the Minister of Finland, Mr. Axel Leonard Astrom; Representative Edith Nourse Rogers, the Mayor of Havana and Senora de Gomez; Mr. and Mrs. George Akerson, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph C. Miller, Dr. and Senora de Bedoya, of the Peruvian Embassy; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sima, Mr. Corcoran Thom, Mrs. Robert Mackenzie, Mrs. Alvin Dodd, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smoot, Mr. Kerr, Mrs. Philip Coffin, Senorita Emma Otero, Mr. Stanislas Massalski and Princess Massalska, Mrs. Frederick C. Hicks and Dr. and Senora de Baron, Dr. and Senora de Rodriguez Capote and Senora de Guell, of the embassy staff.

The Secretary of Labor and Mrs. James J. Davis will have their niece, Miss Esther Ford Jones, as guest for Christmas. Between Christmas and the New Year Secretary and Mrs. Davis will make brief visits in Pittsburgh and Sharon, Pa.

Gen. John J. Pershing has returned to Washington after a stay at the Sherry-Netherland in New York.

Mrs. William Howard Taft was the guest in whose honor Mrs. Lucy Wilder Morris entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Mayflower, Mrs. Pierce Butler acting as assistant hostess.

Others present were Mrs. Porter H. Dale, Mrs. George H. Moses, Mrs. Charles S. Deneen, Mrs. Tasker L. Oddie, Mrs. Henry Allen, Mrs. Wallace Dempsey, Mrs. Florence Kahn, Mrs. Frederick M. Davenport, Mrs. Louis T. McFadden, Mrs. James Parker, Mrs. James E. Freeman, Mrs. Henry Dimock, Mrs. Frank W. Mondell, Mrs. Henry Alvah Strong, Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, Mrs. George Akerson, Mme. Von Lewinski, Mrs. Edward A. Harriman, Mrs. Frank T. Hines, Miss Callie Doyle, Mrs. Charles G. Matthews, Mrs. Delos Blodgett, Mrs. Wilbur W. Hubbard, Mrs. John Dena, Mrs. Alex McKenzie, Mrs. B. B. Jones, Mrs. Joseph Washington, Mrs. Paul Fitzsimmons, Mrs. Walter Newton and Mrs. Peter A. Drury.

Individual favors with poems written by the hostess were presented to each of the 32 guests.

The Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Charles Francis Adams, was a guest at the ball given last night at the Willard by the Navy and Marine Corps officers stationed in Washington. Mrs. Adams was not present. Navy ceremonial gave a colorful note to the fete.

Many dinner parties were arranged to precede the ball. Commander and Mrs. Carroll S. Graves entertained at their home, and among those who gave dinners at the Willard were Commander W. F. Dietrich, Maj. B. C. Long, U. S. M. C.; Capt. and Mrs. M. E. Higgins, Capt. and Mrs. Paul Reed, Lieut. W. E. Maxwell, U. S. M. C., and Lieut. and Mrs. Harold Beisemeier. Lieut. R. A. Shotwell was in charge of arrangements for the ball.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Justice Evans have taken an apartment at 2500 Massachusetts avenue for the winter.

Jahnkes Will Spend Christmas in New Orleans

The Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Ernest Lee Jahncke, accompanied by their son, Midshipman Ernest Lee Jahncke, Jr., U. S. N., will leave shortly for the South. They will spend the Christmas holidays at their home in New Orleans.

At the Arts Club of Washington last night a distinguished group attended the "drama dinner" preceding the presentation of the play, which opened the dramatic committee's activities for the winter season under the direction of Mrs. Henry Hayes, chairman.

Members of the board of governors were included in the diners assembled in honor of the Arts Club Players, who presented "A Scrap of Paper" as the opening event in the new gallery adjoining the clubhouse at 2017 I street. A musical program by Miss Frances Gutelius and Mr. Walter Swank preceded the play, and Miss Gretchen Hood sang during the intermissions.

Among those attending the dinner, many of whom entertained guests for the evening, were Mr. and Mrs. Will C. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Bush-Brown, Dr. and Mrs. Louis W. Austin, Mrs. Ralph Barnard, Mrs. Eugene Byrnes, Miss Sibyl Baker, Miss Alice Clapp, Miss Eleanor Parke Custis, Miss Alice Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Heidel, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hepner, Mrs. Henry Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Holcombe, Miss Frances Benjamin Johnston, Miss Emily Reed Jones, Miss Blondell Malone, Miss Mary E. Maxwell, Miss Isabel McDougall, Miss Helen Nicolay, Mr. Harry Wright Newman, Miss Jean Stier, Miss Florence Spofford and Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Van Valkenburg.

Col. and Mrs. Frank Lawton, of New Orleans, and Col. and Mrs. William Holt Peak, of New York, will arrive today to spend the holidays with Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Thomas I. Ashburn, at their residence, 1827 Phelps place. Gen. and Mrs. Ashburn will be hosts at a buffet supper tomorrow evening in compliment to Miss Mary Martha Wren, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Clark Wren, who will be formally presented to society that afternoon.

Mr. Keith Merrill, of the foreign service, has returned to Washington from a prolonged trip to South America in the course of which he made an inspection of sites for embassy, legation and consular buildings. Much of the journey was made by air. Mrs. Merrill remained in town during her husband's absence and had his mother, Mrs. Eugene Merrill, as her guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Condon will entertain informally at tea this afternoon for Miss Gourley Edwards and Capt. Gouverneur Hoes, who are to be married tomorrow. The guests are long time friends of Miss Edwards and Capt. Hoes.

Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Randolph, of Bluemont, Va., are guests at the Willard for several days with their daughter, Miss Rebecca Dulany Randolph, who came to Washington for the Navy dance last evening.

Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr entertained at luncheon yesterday for Mrs. William S. Culbertson, wife of the United States Ambassador to Chile.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Walker have as guests Mrs. Thomas Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mayo and Mr. and Mrs. Newton Calloway, all of Knoxville, Tenn. They entertained at a supper dance last night for 150 guests at the Army, Navy and Marine Corps Country Club. On Monday they will be hosts at a dinner dance at the Columbia Country Club for a company of 50. Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Mayo are sisters of Mrs. Walker. Mr. and Mrs. Mayo and Mr. and Mrs. Calloway will leave Washington on Tuesday, but Mrs. Elliott will remain through the holidays.

Maj. and Mrs. David S. Barry, jr., and their daughters, Frances and Neville, have returned to their home in Haverford, Pa., after a short stay in Atlantic City.

Miss Mabel B. Turner, principal of the National Cathedral School, will not receive again until Friday, January 17.

Midshipman Philip Cabell Evans will arrive tomorrow from Annapolis to be with his parents, Representative and Mrs. John M. Evans, for the holidays.

Rev. Mr. MacBryde Will Give Reception January 4.

The Rev. Meade Bolton MacBryde has sent out invitations for a reception with dancing on Saturday, January 4, from 4:30 until 7, at the Mayflower.

Mr. Louis Hertle, of Gunston Hall, Lorton, Va., arrived at the Willard yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic D. McKenney will be joined today in their apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel by their son-in-law and daughter, Commander and Mrs. A. W. Dunn, who will arrive from New York to pass Christmas.

Capt. George Forster, aid to the chief of staff, will leave town today to spend Christmas in Charleston, S. C.

Miss Jane Martin, daughter of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. C. H. Martin, of Portland, Ore., is the guest of Col. and Mrs. Thomas M. Knox at 2540 Massachusetts avenue. Miss Martin attended Holton Arms School while Gen. Martin, now retired, was on duty in Washington.

Mrs. Fenton Bradford will have as her guests for the week-end at the Wardman Park Hotel, Miss Josephine Scott, daughter of Mr. Joseph Scott, and Miss Elizabeth Anton, daughter of Dr. Francis Anton, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Powell Clayton arrived in Washington yesterday after passing several weeks in New York.

Col. and Mrs. Charles Annesley Romeyn will arrive from Boston on Monday to pass the holidays with Miss Romeyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Cabot Stevens have with them until December 24 their nephew, Mr. George William Conkling, who is a student at Dartmouth, and Miss Margaret Elizabeth Conkling, a niece, attending "House in the Pines School." Mrs. Stevens' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Conkling, who have been her guests, have gone South and later will be at their estate at Santa Barbara, Calif.

Mrs. Hoggatt Clopton, of Los Angeles, Calif., has returned to her apartment at Wardman Park Hotel after an absence of two years in California.

Mrs. Clopton was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Leland Dotson Webb, who joined Lieut. Webb, now in the Bureau of Aeronautics, Navy Department. They will make their permanent home in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sheldon Ridsdale have with them over the holiday season their daughter, Miss Patricia Ridsdale, a junior at Ogontz School. Mr. Gordon Ridsdale will arrive in town on Tuesday.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, jr., wife of the Governor of Porto Rico, with her two children, sailed yesterday on the Coamo to join her husband after a brief stay in New York.

Fifth Ave. Fashions NEW YORK

The new formality of the pajama ensemble is causing widespread interest in fashionable circles for the hostess for bridge or tea.

The vivid blue and orange printed silk crepe of the adorable suit sketched, shows Spanish dash in encircled scarf waistline. The surplice waist with pink tucks at back neckline is of plain orange silk crepe which appears in the scarf girdle with silk fringed ends in the blue tone. The pants with flaring legs are fitted with tucks through the hips. The coat assumes tailored aspect through notched rever collar.

Style No. 8260 moves with same grace as a charming afternoon frock. It is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years. 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

Another very attractive suggestion is emerald green satin crepe used for pants and bodice with matching sheer green velvet coat.

It's an opportunity to make a stunning Xmas gift that will be truly welcomed, with a lasting memory, for it is a luxury that is practical as well. They can be worn for lounging hours, and are especially lovely for that week-end trip.

Apple green moire with bottle green coat and yellow with orange in crepe de chine are attractive for college miss for fudge parties.

Black and white printed linen with bodice in orange red plain linen is so effective for kitchen ensemble or for beach wear next summer.

For a Lucille Lorraine Pattern of this model send 15 cents to Style Bureau, Washington Post, 259 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Wedding Held In Ballroom Of Mayflower

Miss Alva Seger Is Wed to Mr. Dominick at Brilliant Rites.

In the ballroom of the Mayflower, artistically decorated with white chrysanthemums, ferns and tall cathedral candles, the marriage of Miss Alva Matilda Seger, daughter of Representative and Mrs. George Nicholas Seger, of Passaic, N. J., and Representative Frederick Haskell Dominick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob L. Dominick, of Newberry, S. C., was solemnized yesterday at 12:30 o'clock before a distinguished assemblage of guests.

A program of nuptial music was given before the service and during the ceremony an orchestra played. The Rev. J. Henry Harns, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Holy Communion, of Philadelphia, long a friend of the bridegroom, officiated.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore an ivory satin gown fashioned in two-tiered effect, the upper tier continuing to the floor in a long train. The veil, of cream net, was caught with orange blossoms. The bride carried calla lilies and wore a necklace and bracelet of pearls.

The maid of honor, Miss Margaret Ayres, daughter of Representative and Mrs. William A. Ayres, of Wichita, Kans., wore a dress of Capucine chiffon, with brown lace hat and an arm bouquet of Fontanelle roses.

Mr. Harry W. Dominick, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The ushers were Mr. George J. Seger and Mr. Reginald Seger, of Passaic, N. J., brothers of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Chinese room. Representative Dominick and his bride left later for a Southern sea trip.

The bride is a graduate of the Maryland College for Women. She is a member of the Yountakah Club, in New Jersey, and has been active with her father in campaigns. The bridegroom attended Newberry and South Carolina Colleges. He served in the South Carolina Legislature and has been a member of Congress from South Carolina for seven terms. He is a member of the House judiciary committee.

Mrs. Charles Eaton, wife of Representative Eaton, entertained at a luncheon on Tuesday at her home, Bellevue, in honor of Miss Seger.

Engagement Announced Of Frederic G. Hoppin.

The engagement of Miss May Willis Swords, daughter of Mrs. Oliver H. P. La Farge, of New York, to Mr. Frederic Gallatin Hoppin, of New York, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. La Farge. Mr. Hoppin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Warner Hoppin, of New York and Glen Head, Long Island, and was Assistant Attorney General in the administration of President Coolidge. Mr. Hoppin is a direct descendant of Albert Gallatin, who more than a century ago was Secretary of the Treasury and Minister to France and Great Britain. NAVAL EXPERTS.

On Thursday The Post editorially commented upon the absence of Secretary Adams in the American-Japanese naval conversations, and mildly suggested that Secretary Stimson and Mr. Morrow could hardly be expected to hold their own with such an expert as Admiral Takarabe in a discussion of naval questions. The editorial added that "the public would be vastly reassured if the Secretary of the Navy should take part in conferences which may shape the future of the Navy."

Apparently the Secretary of State has taken offense at the suggestion that he is not as good a naval expert as Admiral Takarabe or Secretary Adams or anybody else. In a somewhat intemperate public statement the Secretary of State asserts that it was the deliberate intention of the editorial to attempt to make trouble among the American delegates and members of the Cabinet, to discredit the United States, and to break down the London conference. The Secretary of State then suggests that The Post "has a full right to oppose limitation in arms," but he does not think the American people approve of attempts to "humiliate their Government before representatives of foreign governments."

The Post is sorry if its high praise of Secretary Adams has caused acute pain and humiliation to the Secretary of State. Nevertheless, it is quite impossible to withdraw the opinion expressed in the offensive editorial, to the effect that Secretary Adams "is possessed of more knowledge regarding the Navy than any other delegate." So far as is known, none of the other delegates takes exception to this statement. It is difficult to imagine that foreign governments would draw inferences humiliating to the Government or the Secretary of State from the suggestion that the Secretary of the Navy knows more about the Navy than the head of the State Department could be expected to know. They give full credit to their own ministers of the navy for knowing something of naval affairs. Admiral Takarabe, for example, is minister of the Japanese Navy, but the Japanese minister of foreign affairs, Mr. Shidehara, has not betrayed any feeling of humiliation over the world-wide recognition of Admiral Takarabe as a naval authority.

The insinuation that The Post is opposed to limitation of arms will be news to its readers. It is in favor not only of universal limitation of armaments, but of reduction of armaments, and so expressed itself long before the present Secretary of State was concerned with the subject. It is extremely anxious, however, to safeguard the national defense, and it would oppose any arms limitation agreement which, in the name of peace, would endanger the national defense or make the United States Navy subordinate to any other in the world.

The presence of Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones in yesterday's conference with the Japanese delegates could not but gratify and reassure American citizens. Admiral Jones is entitled to the gratitude of the American people for refusing to make concessions at Geneva that would have made the United States Navy inferior to the British navy. His position on naval questions suits The Post exactly. If the Secretary of State will be guided by the advice of Secretary Adams and Admiral Jones he will not go wrong, whether the London conference succeeds or fails.

THE CRAMTON BILL.

The Cramton bill, authorizing a $16,000,000 Federal loan to the District government for the purchase of park and playground areas in Washington has been favorably reported by the House committee on public buildings and grounds. It is vitally important that public opinion against this measure be marshaled and that an energetic campaign for its defeat be got under way.

The comprehensive plan for the development of Washington provides for the acquisition from time to time of certain parcels of land now designated for parks and playgrounds. Unquestionably it would be good economy to purchase all this land at the present time, but before this be done, it is necessary that basis for dividing the cost between the District and Federal governments be worked out. The Cramton loan bill would settle this question by compelling the local taxpayer to pay back the entire sum advanced in $1,000,000 annual installments. This is unwarranted, unjust, inequitable and most unfair.

Under ordinary procedure, the land required for parks and playgrounds would be purchased a bit at a time from the general revenues of the District, to which the Government makes contribution, or from special appropriations authorized by Congress. Under the Cramton measure, the District would pay all. This is back-handed generosity. It is "Indian-giving" with a vengeance. The scheme becomes the more reprehensible in that it is offered ostensibly as a high-minded effort on the part of Congress to help the District save money in park and playground purchases. If Congress has the slightest desire to deal fairly or honestly with the District, it should kill this bill in short order.

HONOR TO COMMANDER BYRD.

It is desirable that the Nation should reward Commander Richard E. Byrd for the services he has rendered. He has been a dominant figure in the development of the airplane. He has planted the flag on the two poles, claiming in the name of his country vast territories the potential wealth of which can only be imagined. He has incarnated the spirit of America, both by his achievements and by remaining, despite his honors and his success, an unassuming gentleman.

Recently there arose spontaneously in several sections of the country the suggestion that Commander Byrd be promoted in recognition of his achievements to be rear admiral on the retired list of the Navy. The proposal has been embodied in a bill, which was introduced this week by Senator Swanson, who promises to press for action to the end that the promotion can be tendered as a Christmas gift from Congress and the people.

The bestowal of an admiral's commission upon Commander Byrd would constitute fitting recognition of his work. The public would applaud the enactment of the Swanson measure.

MISS ANNABEL MATTHEWS.

Government clerks, who are numbered by thousands in Washington, will find unusual interest in the nomination of Miss Annabel Matthews to be a member of the United States Board of Tax Appeals at a salary of $10,000. Miss Matthews was once a clerk herself, and has risen to this responsible position through her own efforts. It is commendable to find Government workers preparing themselves for the higher positions, and to find the Government recognizing merit in individuals who begin in humble positions.

Miss Matthews became a clerk in the Treasury Department during the World War. At the same time she studied law with a view to increasing her usefulness to the Treasury. She took a degree in 1921, and for several years has served as an attorney in the office of the general counsel of the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Having studied taxation for years, she is now an authority on some phases of the subject and well qualified to occupy the position to which the President has appointed her. She will be the first woman ever to serve on the board.

The Government service is frequently thought of as a gigantic machine which keeps each employe in his or her groove without recognizing individual diligence or merit. In spite of the operation of the civil service system, political backing is often considered the only effective means of rising to high positions. This opinion is unfortunate for both the public and the employes themselves. The success of Miss Matthews indicates that the higher positions are not closed to enterprising young clerks who are willing to prepare themselves for greater responsibilities.

SKYSCRAPERS.

A census of American skyscrapers has just been issued by a corporation of builders in New York, but it was out of date as soon as it came off the press. It shows that 36 cities in the United States have a total of 377 skyscrapers, if only those buildings of more than 20 stories are counted. None of the ultra-modern skyscrapers now rising in the Manhattan district is included in the survey. At least two buildings which break all previous records for height are nearing completion, and two more cloud-sweeping structures are planned for the near future.

There were ten buildings of more than 500 feet in height at the time the survey was completed. The Woolworth tower, which rises to 792 feet, is listed as the highest. But the new Bank of Manhattan will be 925 feet, and the Chrysler Building, now the highest structure in the world, rises to 1,030 feet. The new Hippodrome Building, designs for which were announced this week, will be higher than all of these. But in the meantime it is presumed that first honors will be snatched away from all other structures by former Gov. Al Smith's projected Empire State Building, which will be topped by a tower for anchoring dirigibles at a height of 1,300 feet. This is not far short of twice as high as the structure to which all Americans have previously looked as the tallest in the country.

Other cities seem to have temporarily given up the race with New York for the honor of having the world's highest structure. Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia and a few other cities have a liberal allotment of skyscrapers, but none of them matches the new towering structures that are rising in Gotham. It is strange that those cities which are most cramped for room and most congested with traffic are building skyscrapers most rapidly. Concentration breeds greater concentration, until no one can foresee what the outcome will be.

CHILD LABOR REFORM.

For 25 years the national child labor committee has been trying to abolish employment among children. The meeting of that organization in New York this week calls attention to the progress that has been made toward protective legislation. Every State now has some sort of restriction against child labor, but the goal of the committee is far from being reached.

The annual report of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor shows a steady decrease in the number of children employed in industry. Permits allowing children 14 and 15 years old to work decreased 6 per cent last year. In spite of this the records of the bureau show that it is lawful in some of the Southern States to work boys and girls of that age 10 to 11 hours per day, or even longer. Dr. Owen Lovejoy, secretary of the Children's Aid Society, calls attention to the fact that approximately 2,000,000 children are gainfully employed in the United States, while an equal number of adults are unemployed. A considerable number of States are still imposing too heavy a burden upon youth for the sake of elusive economic gains. As a matter of fact these States lose more than they make by this exploitation of youth.

The right of protecting children from employment which impairs their health and interferes with their education belongs to the States. In failing to ratify the proposed child labor amendment to the Constitution the States accepted this responsibility. It is their duty to enact such legislation as will satisfy their local needs. The progress that has been made since the national child labor committee was organized gives hope that the problem can be finally solved in this way.

Requests that the committee again launch an active campaign for an amendment to the Federal Constitution are ill-advised. There is no reason to believe that a Federal law would be a panacea in States that are not interested enough in their children to provide protection. State legislatures have already partly solved the problem. It seems a wiser plan to concentrate effort that would be wasted on a Federal amendment on legislation in the States where regulations are still ineffective.

THE NATIONAL INCOME

Wall Street Journal.

One phase of the growth of this Nation in wealth and power is to be seen in the national income. In the last presidential election an army of young citizens voted for the first time. When they were a year old the national income was about $29,605,000,000 and when, in 1928 they went to the polls it was $89,419,000,000. Thus, in 20 years the realized income of the Nation increased 207 per cent.

The figures are given on the authority of the National Bureau of Economic Research in reporting the results of an investigation made for it by Willford I. King that required over four years to complete. This realized income does not include that arising from exchanges in the value of property, odd-job employment or services rendered by persons for their own families which, if included, would have greatly raised the total. The figures given are for strictly realized income.

Twenty years ago the per capita income was not large. Between 1909 and 1923 the average more than doubled. Since then it steadily increased until in 1928 the income for all persons in the United States averaged $749. It must be remembered that this would be a distribution to every man, woman and child. Assuming that the average family consists of five persons the family income would be $3,745. More than one person in a family is apt to work, and dividing the income among those who work for a money return the average was $1,898 in 1928.

This enormous spending power is reflected in business. A great consuming power as is indicated by this income, assures an enormous consuming market with consequent increase in the incomes of those businesses that furnish goods and services. Mercantile business, for instance, had an income in 1909 of $3,685,000,000. Excepting the deflation period that income increased year after year until in 1928 it was $13,137,000,000. Another great increase was in the manufacturing industry. In 1909 that business had an income of $5,481,000,000 and in 1925, which is the last year covered, it was $16,866,000,000.

This last matter is of the greatest importance. The growth of manufactures explains the rapid increase in wage-earned income, which in 1928 amounted to $32,235,000,000. Labor consumes a large percentage of what it produces and thus greatly widens the market for the output of manufacturing industry, which in turn is enabled to produce more consumable goods, making them both abundant and cheap.

It has been said that the history of the future is foreshadowed in that of the past. If this be true, the United States is far from having attained the limit of its growth in Railroad Economy.

Galesburg Register: American railroads have saved during the last nine years $450,516,000 by the more efficient and economical use of fuel. This is a very remarkable showing. It is not due to any cheapening of the prices of fuel, but to the reduction of the quantity used. A pound of coal was made to do more work, so that it required less pounds to accomplish the object. In 1928 this saving amounted to over $75,000,000. It is by directing its attention to such points that a company is enabled to effect a saving.

GOLDEN ROD.

From the artist's delight, the poet's love, and the hay fever victim's anathema, observes the Manitoba Free Press, Mr. Edison promises that the golden rod will presently enter the front ranks of commerce as the producer of rubber. The suggestion hasn't got much further than prophecy so far, but Mr. Edison's prophecies of today have a way of being the facts of tomorrow. If there could be anything more serenely lovely than a field of wheat under a harvest moon, it would be a field of golden rod, that is for those who take their golden rod or leave it. When that time comes, however, there is practically certain to also arise some sort of fly, sawish or grubbish blight, also some sort of rust which will cause widespread anxieties. There is nothing like commercial value to turn the sturdiest agricultural product into the most susceptible of things. Even the dandelion would require its breakfast in bed if it should find itself on the farm list, though at that while Mr. Edison has his mind in that direction he might see what could be done about the dandelion.

OLD-TIME CHRISTMAS.

Let's go back to Christmas
As it was in days of old,
When love and laughter filled the place
Of silver and of gold.
The Christmas Day at mother's
With the family gathered there,
A turkey on the table
And a kin in every chair.

A Christmas ruled by money
Is not the thing we need,
Give us a gentler merriment
Than comes from selfish greed.
Give us the old-time laughter,
The old-time Christmas prayer
With turkey on the table
And a kin in every chair.

Let's trim the home with holly,
Hang mistletoe above,
And pass around to one and all
Our simple gifts of love.
Let's be once more united
And shut the door on care,
With turkey on the table
And a kin in every chair.

We've tried the costly Christmas
With gaudy lights that burn,
This year to love and laughter
And home ties let's return.
Let's have the Christmas dinner
Which loving hands prepare,
With turkey on the table
And a kin in every chair.

Man Can't Prove Himself Wise by Making Artificial Flowers and Neglecting the Garden.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHY do so many wild creatures sicken or die or fail to reproduce themselves in captivity?

For the same reason that a fish dies when taken out of water. They are deprived of the elements from which they absorb vitality.

Man is the only creature that deliberately deprives himself of fresh air and sunlight. He survives his own folly because his race has punished itself for ages and thus has developed a unique power of resistance.

Apes kept in captivity die of tuberculosis; men survive countless attacks of tuberculosis germs because they have harbored the disease for ages and thus built up a racial immunity similar to that given by vaccination.

But while men survive in airtight and sunless houses, they suffer from many diseases unknown to wild creatures, and not one among them has the grace and vigor and placid joy in life that is common to children of the sunlight.

Men feel wise and superior because their scientists recently have discovered rays of light above and below the visible range. "We have found the source of vitality," they say. "The infra-red and ultra-violet rays of sunlight are absorbed by our bodies as a sponge absorbs water, and our glands respond to them as to a touch of magic. We gain new vigor; our minds function better; our bones and teeth harden; we overcome the germs of disease and prolong our lives."

Wonderful discovery! And the men of science demonstrate its worth by making artificial rays and using them to hasten and increase the growth of plants and rodents.

But what does it all mean? Men discovered oxygen in the air and isolated it to work wonders, but laymen who endeavor to use it as a substitute for the natural atmosphere may do themselves great injury.

All this learned talk concerning invisible rays simply means that science has at last discovered a truth known to birds and beasts and cattle since the world began—that the sunlight provided by nature is the source of life and health and vigor.

Artificial rays may benefit those deprived of sunlight, as oxygen saves those deprived of air, but there is no substitute for sunlight.

Only by exposing the naked body to the light of the sun, as other creatures do, can man gain the vigor and immunity to disease that is the common heritage of the birds and beasts.

We have little reason to gloat over the tardy discovery that the Creator arranged all things well. We still lack the courage and wisdom to absorb nature's bounty as savages do.

N. B.—In Arctic lands free of fog, the disease of rickets is unknown. The "sky shine" that continues for hours after the sun goes down radiates the violet rays almost as generously as the sun itself. You can absorb the rays through a quartz window or in the shade of a tree, though the sun itself never strikes you.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

JUST 'FORE CHRISTMAS.
(With apologies to Eugene Field.)

Some folks call me Patrick, others call me Joe,
8-A calls me Eddie an' 6-B calls me Moe!
Mighty glad I'm what I am, an elevator boy,
Especially this time of year when all is peace an' joy;
Love to run right past folks and never heed a bell,
Like to keep 'em waitin' and sputterin' likell!
'Most all the time the whole year round they don't get much from me—
But just 'fore Christmas I'm as good as I kin be!

Got a gate I like to slam, shuttin' people out,
Like to make a sudden stop, flingin' people out,
Got an elevator dial, never buzzes nor Does a thing to indicate third or fourteenth floor;
An' sometimes when a tenant is worrited an' cross
He shakes his finger in my nose an' sez he'll see the boss,
An' then I laff an' let him know he's just a joke to me—
But jest 'fore Christmas I'm as good as I kin be!

II.

Some folks call me "Major," others call me "Cap;"
Others call me "General," and one guy calls me "Nap;"
I'm the doorman of the house; uniform is swell;
Greet the people at the door (if I'm feelin' well);
Do as little as I can nine months in the year,
Cultivate a manner grand and a haughty sneer;
I "ritz" the whole kaboodle and make 'em like it, see—
But jest 'fore Christmas I'm as good as I kin be.

I like to lounge inside the door and seldom condescend
To help folks with their bundles, as it hurts me to unbend;
I sometimes give the door a shove to let a lady through,
But always with the manner that it's what I shouldn't do;
An' when folks want a taxicab an' it is rainin' hard
I do my best to show 'em all a proper disregard;
I love to show 'em one an' all they're nuthin' much to me—
But jest 'fore Christmas I'm as good as I kin be.

III.

Some folks call me Maggie and some folks call me Mae;
5-B calls me Isabelle and 6-D hollers "Say!"
I'm the maid that comes to do the housework when they call,
Although I give 'em little in the summer, spring and fall;
I love to leave chairs dusty an' to overlook the dirt—
What little work I ever do won't do me any hurt;
I'm sloppy an' I'm lazy, as each tenant will agree—
But jest 'fore Christmas, why, I'm Miss Efficiency.

Race Horse Heaven.

(Fair Play, sire of Man o' War, is dead.—News item.)

Up in the rich green pastures,
Where all great horses go,
He's running now and racing
As in the long ago.

Winning the Flash and Mantauk,
The Lawrence, the Jerome—
Just a vague streak of chestnut,
Showing the best way home.

Then, when he's feeling lazy,
Grazing serenely glad,
Hearing his buddies whisper,
"That's Man o' War's great dad!"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

"Progressives" Did Not Represent Farmers in Opposing Tax Reduction.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If there has been a more misnamed group of "lawmakers" than the present Senate group calling themselves "progressives," the history of American politics does not record it.

If progressivism is to be opposed to what the majority has determined to be a proper policy, then they are well named.

But who does not know that on almost all legislation of national importance, no matter whether the majority is composed of Democrats and Republicans alike, you saw the so-called progressives oppose it.

Who are they who say to the majority, no matter how large, "we alone are right, we alone know what the country should have?"

Can any one imagine a more unpopular position than the one disclosed by the Senate vote of last Saturday on the $160,000,000 tax cut? Fourteen senators, all "progressives," voted against the resolution, disclosing a protest against a nation-wide need, and one which would have come first if the whole of our people had been consulted.

The only reason fairly apparent for this action was that the Treasury surplus should not be used to benefit the country at large, but only for the Midwestern farmers.

If the American farmers, whether they be from the East or West, are a party to such attempt at selfish legislation, we are sorely disappointed in them. I for one do not believe it, nor do I believe the "progressives" represent them or any one but themselves.

Opposition alone, and not constructive legislation, has kept them in the limelight, wielding the influence that balance of power has given them. WILLIAM C. LOOKER.

Prisoners Should Be Given More Hard Work and Less Turkey.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It so happens that every time there is a prison riot the daily papers of the country come forth with a cry for better prison conditions.

As a law-abiding citizen and one who fears the prison bars, and as one who appreciates his good name, I am wondering what the real purpose is in the demand for better prison conditions.

Why were these men imprisoned? Why should they be served turkey for Thanksgiving and Christmas? Have they done something honorable that they should be given nice, soft feather beds to sleep upon and every comfort of the home?

As one citizen I feel that the trouble with most prisons is that they are not properly guarded against attack from these dangerous characters, and that the prisoners are not worked hard enough. If given real, hard labor and kept tired, they would not have all of this pep stored away which is used in these outbreaks.

The new prison reform should be some form of harder labor to keep these fellows worn down. JNO. BANTA.

Why the Nation Breathes Thanks at Christmas.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir:
When the Senate's not in session, all the country leaps for joy.
Dodd'ring centenarians caper with the lightness of a boy.
Foreign visitors behold us at our proudest and our best,
When the Heflins cease from heffling and the Nation is at rest.

When "the Hill" is wreathed in quiet, then the District all is glad—
Even pessimists discover that the world is not so bad.
We can stand the Starlings better than the prating, piffling pest—
When the Bleases cease from bleating, and the city is at rest.

When the Caraways don't carol and the Borahs do not bore.
When the Nyes aren't busy knifing Mister Grundy on the floor,
When the Brookhart stops its babbling over when he was a guest,
When the Fraziers stop their phrasing, then the country gets a rest.
STRICKLAND GILLILAN.

"Citizen" Doubts Wisdom of a Change in District Government.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your correspondent's (H. T. McConvey) letter in today's Post, in which he reminds us that "when voting was in vogue here it was unsatisfactory," is timely.

Until it is shown that the present form of government is a failure, I must remain in doubt as to the wisdom of a change. CITIZEN.

PUNISHMENT FOR LOW FLYING.

Prompt suspension of the flying license of a pilot guilty of flying dangerously low over the roofs of Lynbrook on Long Island is encouraging to all who have felt that the rights of residents are often flouted by aviators. The recent accidents in which fliers crashed into houses or streets have apparently begun to make it plain that low flying is a danger to the community, says the New York Times.

If more fliers were thus haled to judgment, there is reason to believe that the complaints of the public would soon cease. The promptness of the action of the representative of the Department of Commerce is commendable. It is an assurance to "those below" that their rights will be protected. If individuals who see planes flying dangerously low will note the license numbers and report them at once to the Department of Commerce, they will be doing their neighbors a service, and, incidentally, the aviators themselves. The latter earn only ill will by their disregard of the feelings as well as the rights of persons on the ground. The greater the resentment against their recklessness the greater the likelihood of the passage of laws which will unduly hamper aviators.

MRS. RHETT GOODE, ACTIVE IN D.A.R., DIES

Funeral of Former Resident of Mobile to Be Held in Continental Hall.

WAS HEAD OF C.A.R. ALSO

Mrs. Rhett Goode, national president of the Children of the American Revolution, and president of the National Officers Club of the Daughters of the American Revolution, died today at the club of the Colonial Dames, 1300 New Hampshire avenue, after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Goode's home was in Mobile, Ala., but she has spent the later years of her life in Washington, where she has been active in the national society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, holding numerous offices, and she is widely known here.

At her bedside were her daughter, Mrs. Randolph Coyle, wife of Maj. Coyle, U. S. M. C., who came here from Haiti, and her sister, Mrs. Robert Tomlinson, of Wilmington, Del. Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, long a devoted friend, also was at her bedside and had been her constant companion through her last illness.

Mrs. Goode, who was Mabel Wiley Hutton, prior to her marriage to Dr. Goode, a distinguished medical man in Mobile, had been an active member of the Daughters of the American Revolution for 25 years. She was a member of the Mobile chapter. She was State regent of Alabama, and twice a vice president general, an unusual honor, in 1913 and again 1917. Other honors which came to her were selection as chaplain general of the Daughters of the American Revolution and chairman of the program committee for the past three Continental Congresses of that society. She was president of the National Officers Club at the time of her death, and she had the distinction of serving on the two committees which made possible the beautiful Memorial Continental Hall and recently, Constitution Hall.

Recalling that Mrs. Goode had often said the greatest honor she believed could come to a member of the D. A. R. would be to be buried from Memorial Continental Hall, Mrs. Hobart told Mrs. Goode that her body would rest in the hall she so greatly admired. Mrs. Goode then requested that the men employes of the building, whom she had known so many years, be her active pallbearers.

The services will be conducted there at 3 o'clock this afternoon by the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, D. D.; the Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, D. D., and the Rev. Z. Barney Phillips, D. D.

The body may be viewed at Memorial Continental Hall from 1 to 3 o'clock today. It will be taken to Mobile, where interment will be beside Mrs. Goode's late husband.

RITES FOR JOHN FRISCHOLZ

Mass to Be at St. Gabriel's for Former Woodward & Lothrop Employe.

Funeral services for John Frischolz, 57 years old, an employe of Woodward & Lothrop, will be conducted tomorrow morning at his residence, 4608 New Hampshire avenue, followed by requiem mass at St. Gabriel's Catholic Church.

A native of Germany, Mr. Frischolz came to this country at the age of 17 and, after a brief sojourn in Philadelphia, established his residence in this city. For many years he was employed in the altering division of the men's department at the Woodward & Lothrop store.

He was an active member of Keane Council, No. 353, of the Knights of Columbus and also was a member of the Maccabees. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Louise Frischolz, and a son, Lawrence Frischolz.

RITES FOR MRS. ROULEAU.

Brother Will Officiate at Services to Be Held Today.

Services for Mrs. Mathilde V. Rouleau, 71, who died suddenly Tuesday night while attending a birthday party for her son, at the residence, 3823 Thirteenth street northeast, will be held today at the home.

Her brother, the Rev. L. T. Rodier, will officiate at the services. Burial will be in Worcester, Mass. Mrs. Rouleau had lived in this city for 37 years. She is survived by her husband, Wilfrid; a son, Louis, and four brothers.

MRS. L. M. CARROLL RITES

Burial Services for Resident of Capital To Be Held in Ohio.

Services for Mrs. Lillian M. Carroll, who died yesterday at her home, 6801 Sixth street northwest, after a long illness, will be held this afternoon at her late home. Burial will be in Clairsville, Ohio.

She is survived by her husband, Mr. Charles C. Carroll, who is connected with the Department of Agriculture; a son, Mr. Charles T.; two sisters and four brothers. She had lived in Washington for 28 years and was active in the affairs of the Takoma Park Presbyterian Church.

C. A. R. HEAD DIES

Pontiff Asks Laity To Make Retreats

Encyclical Urges Frequent Prayer and Activity in Church Affairs.

Vatican City, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Pope Pius in an encyclical made public today urged the laity of the Roman Catholic Church to make frequent retreats for silence, contemplation and prayer, and to participate more generally in church activities.

The Pope, who recently emerged from a week's retreat in connection with the jubilee of his priesthood, said the spiritual exercises of retreat constituted "a remarkable school in which the mind learns to reflect, the will strengthens itself and the passions are dominated.

"Activity receives a direction, rules and efficacious impulse," he said, "and the whole soul rises to its natural nobility and grandeur."

The pontiff condemned "that continual and feverish pursuit of externals, that immoderate appetite for riches and pleasures, which little by little weaken in the soul all the noblest ideals."

DR. LOUISA M. BLAKE FUNERAL

Physician Who Practiced Here Many Years to Be Buried.

Dr. Louisa M. Blake, who practiced medicine for many years in this city, will be buried Saturday in the Cedar Hill Cemetery. She died Tuesday in the Sibley Hospital after a prolonged illness. She and her husband, Dr. Levi C. Blake, jointly practiced medicine in the District since 1898.

Dr. Louisa M. Blake was a native of Cape May, N. J. After their marriage she and her husband came to this city, where he was employed in the Government service. She studied medicine in the old Columbian College, now George Washington University. Later her husband was graduated from Howard University.

She was a member of the Medical Society of the District of Columbia and the Women's Medical Society. They made their home at 40 Rhode Island avenue.

Services will be held in Hysong's funeral parlors at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Burial will follow.

EDGAR S. HAWK DIES.

Newspaperman Succumbs After Illness of Three Weeks' Duration.

Edgar S. Hawk, 51, who was identified with the newspaper business in Washington for more than 25 years, died yesterday at his home, 809 F street southwest. He had been ill three weeks. Services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Dominick's Church.

He is survived by his widow and seven children. He also is survived by two brothers, William J. Hawk, of the Washington Herald, and Arthur L. Hawk, of the Detroit Times, and a sister.

Widow of French Envoy Dies.

Paris, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Mme. Daeschner, widow of Emile Daeschner, former French Ambassador to the United States, died today. The late M. Daeschner was appointed French Ambassador to the United States in October, 1924, and was at Washington until December, 1925.

Retired 'Y' Official Dies at Hospital

Dr. D. E. Yarnell, Engaged in Work 39 Years, Succumbs.

Dr. D. E. Yarnell, 63, a retired secretary of the Y. M. C. A., died yesterday in the Garfield Hospital, after undergoing several operations in the past few weeks. Dr. Yarnell engaged actively in Y. M. C. A. promotion work for 39 years, retiring from service in 1926.

He began his association work in New York City in 1887 and for several years was secretary of the Institute Branch on the Bowery. When the West Side building was opened in 1897 he became executive secretary and held the post for ten years.

In the succeeding years he served in secretarial capacities in various associations and later went with the merchant marine as Y. M. C. A. secretary in Japan. He was in Japan during the earthquake and upon his retirement he came to this country.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at his late home, 1734 Seventeenth street northwest. Burial will be in White Plains, N. Y. He is survived by his widow, Myrtle K.

He was a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University.

GOSS FUNERAL RITES SET.

Services Will Be Held at 2 o'Clock for Veteran Postoffice Employe.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon for Arden J. Goss, 64, veteran employe of the city postoffice and former chief dispatcher of mails, who died Tuesday at his home after a long illness. He was employed in the postoffice for 33 years.

He joined the postoffice staff in 1891 and retired in 1924 because of ill health. He was a member of Lafayette Lodge, No. 19, F. A. A. M., and Mount Vernon Tent, No. 4, Maccabees.

Services will be held at the V. L. Speare funeral parlors. Burial will be in the Glenwood Cemetery. He is survived by his widow, who lives at 5515 Potomac avenue.

Fire Razes Barracks; Army Records Burned

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Fanned by high winds, fire of undetermined origin early today swept a barracks building and a laboratory at Fort McPherson, causing damage estimated at nearly $100,000 and driving 173 soldiers out into subfreezing weather in scant attire.

The flames had cut off the front entrance to the barracks building, a rambling frame structure, when discovered, and the soldiers, groping their way through smoke, were forced to batter down the rear door to escape.

The flames spread to the Fourth Corps Laboratory before they could be brought under control, destroying equipment and medical stores. Valuable records, accumulating over a period of more than ten years, were destroyed with the laboratory.

Third Bench Term Urged for Woman

Mary O'Toole Nominated Again for Municipal Court Post.

The nomination of Judge Mary O'Toole to serve another four-year term on the bench of the Municipal Court of the District of Columbia was sent to the Senate yesterday.

Judge O'Toole's second term expires tomorrow. She first was appointed in 1921 by President Harding, and reappointed four years later by President Coolidge.

As the date of expiration of her second term neared, a number of leaders in the local bar visited the White House or wrote to indorse her for reappointment. Early confirmation of her nomination is expected.

Eugenia Hoyt Wed To Nevada Youth

Daughter of Representative and University Student on Way to Hawaii.

Reno, Nev., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Wilfred Lawson Butt, University of Nevada student, registered from Santa Monica, Calif., and Mrs. Eugenia Bankhead Hoyt, daughter of Representative Bankhead, of Alabama, and former wife of Morton Hoyt, son of a former United States solicitor general, were married here late yesterday by the Rev. Brewster Adams.

They are on their way to Honolulu, apparently, Rev. Mr. Adams saying today he had been requested to send the marriage certificate to them there.

Reports were current that a number of women members of the divorce colony had made an effort to prevent the marriage on the grounds that Butt is "just a youngster," but that they were unsuccessful.

Helen Wills' Mate Hoover Relative

Tennis Star's Husband-to-Be Distant Relative of Chief Executive.

San Francisco, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—While the little St. Clement's Chapel in Claremont, Berkeley, was being prepared today for the simple wedding ceremony that will unite Miss Helen Wills and Frederick S. Moody, jr., in wedlock next Monday, an inquisitive world had traced a relationship by marriage between the bridegroom-to-be and President Herbert Hoover.

Mrs. Frederick Moody, sr., questioned about the relationship today, said it was so remote that there really was "no relationship at all."

Frederick Moody, sr., prospective father-in-law, of Miss Helen Wills, explained Mrs. Moody, is a brother of Mrs. Douglas S. Watson, of San Francisco. Mrs. Watson's daughter, the niece of Mr. Moody, sr., and the cousin of Miss Wills' future husband, is the wife of Herbert Hoover, jr.

Yale Professor Wins Edison Electric Medal

New York, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Award of the Edison Medal of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers to Prof. Charles F. Scott, of Yale University, for "his contributions to the science and art of polyphase transmission of electrical energy" was announced today.

The Edison Medal was founded by associates and friends of Thomas A. Edison and is awarded annually for "meritorious achievement in electrical science, electrical engineering or the electrical arts" by a committee of 24 members of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

BERLIN HALTS PLAN FOR AMERICAN LOAN

Reichstag Agrees to Borrow $100,000,000 Sum From Own "D" Banks.

AVERTS CABINET CRISIS

Berlin, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—The German government tonight ceased negotiations with Dillon Read & Co., of New York, for an emergency loan of $100,000,000.

Instead, through an agreement between coalition parties in the reichstag and the cabinet, the loan is to be raised through the German "D" banks, the Darmstaedter, the Dresdner and the Deutsche-Diskonto. Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, has agreed to sanction the domestic loan.

The reichstag agreement, which promised immediate introduction and passage by Saturday of a bill providing an amortization fund of 450,000,000 marks ($108,200,000), also served to avert a cabinet crisis. The post of Finance Minister Hilferding was at stake because of his failure to obtain the loan from the American bankers except on terms that would have meant his resignation. He is the only financial expert in the Social Democratic party and that organization was unwilling to see the finance ministry go to another group.

The amortization bill was introduced and given its first reading this evening. The third reading and final vote on it will come Saturday. It will have priority over all other measures before the reichstag.

This agreement, which saved the cabinet, was generally conceded as a decisive victory for Dr. Schacht. He now has a free hand in obtaining the emergency credit on favorable terms and the Reichsbank has full authority to place the loan through German banks.

The priority bill provides that the 450,000,000 marks shall be raised by tax increases and by special economy measures in various government departments which are to be effective until the end of 1930. It was understood that the "D" banks will advance the funds, which are needed to cover the year-end treasury deficit, and will then cover the loans through short term credits to be arranged with J. P. Morgan & Co.

It was also reported that Dr. Schacht's refusal to approve a loan from Dillon, Read & Co. was due primarily to objections from the French government and also to contrary advice from S. Parker Gilbert, agent general of reparations under the Dawes plan.

Bill for Hospitals Passed by Senate

$15,950,000 Is Authorized for Additions and New Buildnigs.

(Associated Press.)

Without a word of debate, the Senate yesterday passed the Rogers bill authorizing $15,950,000 for construction of new veterans hospital facilities throughout the country.

The measure was returned to the House for concurrence in Senate amendments adding $1,950,000 to the bill. The added amount would provide $700,000 for a new general hospital in West Virginia; $400,000 for a new institution at Salt Lake City, Utah; $400,000 for an addition at Memphis, Tenn., and $450,000 for supplementary construction at Camp Custer, Mich.

The remainder of the authorization would be used for building new hospitals in New York City and western New York, Alabama, Indiana, Albuquerque, N. Mex.; San Francisco and Texas, and for additional facilities at Bedford, Mass.; Northport, Long Island; Augusta, Ga.; Gulfport, Miss.; North Chicago, Knoxville, Iowa, and Tucson, Ariz.

PRISON LEAGUE HIT IN REPORT ON RIOTS

through the league officials immediately to laugh at the guards.

"League members have taken prisoners out of the line as they were marching and have ordered them into the league room, and here the league members themselves have, behind closed doors, beaten up prisoners so that they had to be taken to the hospital. In fact, a veritable reign of terror has obtained in this prison through the machinations of the criminals in control of the league.

"The league members have threatened guards and have been powerful enough to have them transferred from their posts."

Special Privileges Hit.

In the recommendation section of the report, Col. Chandler said guards should be selected by the department of correction, better food and warmer clothing should be provided and "there should be no such special privileges as are now extended, for outside food, special cooking, fine linens, silk shirts or other materials not generally within the financial reach of the poorer prisoners, for this makes for dissatisfaction."

Gov. Roosevelt has called a conference with Frederick Stuart Greene, State superintendent of public works; Maj. John A. Warner, superintendent of State police, and Senator Caleb Baumes, chairman of the State Crime Commission, at the executive offices tomorrow.

While no announcement of the purpose of the meeting was forthcoming from the governor, it was indicated in official circles that it was intended to go into the recommendations in Col. Chandler's report. Gov. Roosevelt tonight declined to discuss the report.

League Formed in 1913.

The Mutual Welfare League, Col. Chandler told the governor, has been functioning as a prison-membered organization since 1913.

The prisoners elect their officers and meet behind doors closed to all excepting the warden. The meetings may take place at the pleasure of the organization's heads.

These officers have police powers, administer punishments, order privileges taken away or granted, run an entertainment once or twice a year for which they collect money from the general public who attend, and run a baseball club where male outsiders may attend.

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

JUST what the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission is doing about solving the prohibition question remains shrouded in mystery, but it is having its troubles on some of the other phases of law enforcement.

For example, August Volmer, professor of criminal science at the University of Chicago and chief of police—on leave—of Berkeley, Calif., has shaken the dust of the commission's investigations from his feet and hied him back to the West. At least one other official, called in to advise the commission, has discovered the truth, to his own satisfaction, of Maj. Gen. Goethals' famous epigram that "all boards are long, narrow and wooden."

The departure of Volmer is one of the big surprises to those who have been watching the commission's work. Mr. Volmer is known as a radical in police matters. He had a lot of new ideas, some of them not so pleasing to the old line type of police chief. In Berkeley, for example, the inducted a number of young college students to go on the police force. He has had experience in a number of cities, and has come to be looked on as such an authority on the whole science of police and crime detecting that he was added to the faculty of the University of California.

* * * *

BUT almost from the day he landed in Washington dissensions began in the commission, and finally Chief Volmer discovered that he would be much happier somewhere else. He slipped quietly away, making no statement whatever, though his friends say that he and Dean Pound, of the commission, found their ideas incompatible.

All of which is the more interesting because it reveals how deeply into this question of the administration of justice the Wickersham commission is planning to go, and how small a part of its whole program is that related to prohibition.

In one quarter the view is held that it is unfortunate, looking with hindsight instead of foresight, that the work of the commission was not divided in two, with one body handling prohibition and the other handling all the remaining factors in the broad question of the administration of justice.

* * * *

EXCEPT for his normal impatience at talk which does not speedily lead to results, President Hoover, however, is not displeased with the situation, and does not regret that he consigned the whole problem to one commission. Mr. Hoover's idea was to take advantage of the enormous public interest in the prohibition question to work out a real reform in the whole question of law enforcement.

He still believes that, with patience, this reform may be worked out, whereas, had the work been separated, with prohibition in one commission's hands and law enforcement in another, the value of putting the limelight on the need for reform in court procedure and the administration of justice generally would have been lost, on the theory that all the public interest would have centered on the work of the Prohibition Commission, with the other commission ignored.

* * * *

THERE have been constant reports lately that the Wickersham commission intended to report very soon. From the dissensions which have arisen over the police angle this is not regarded now as likely. Members of the commission feel that they have made real progress, however, and attribute a considerable part of the credit for this to the fact that they have not been staging a passing show, such for example as the Senate lobby committee is producing on Capitol Hill.

With all the bitter feelings on both sides in the prohibition question, members of the commission believe that they would be under constant attack, and that much of the force of their report when made would be lost, if they had disclosed their proceedings and indicated the lines they are following as the lobby committee has. This is not meant to infer that the Wickersham commission members are criticising the lobby committee. On the contrary their feeling is that the chief function of that body is to hold up before the public their discoveries as they go along. With the commission the final report is the thing.

HOOVER PICKS FOUR FOR SOCIAL SURVEY

Thorough Research Effort Into Changing Life of Nation Planned.

BACKED BY ROCKEFELLER

(Associated Press.)

Significant social changes in American life over recent years will be studied by a committee appointed yesterday by President Hoover and headed by Wesley C. Mitchell, of Columbia University.

The work is expected to parallel an investigation of economic changes made some time ago by a commission appointed by Mr. Hoover when he was Secretary of Commerce.

Members of the committee are Charles E. Merriam, political science professor in the University of Chicago; William F. Ogburn, professor of sociology in the University of Chicago; Howard W. Odum, professor of sociology in the University of North Carolina, and Shelby M. Harrison, of the Russell Sage Foundation.

The funds for the research have been provided by the Rockefeller Foundation and a statement from the White House said that invaluable preliminary aid in defining the nature of the survey has been rendered by the Social Science Research Council.

"The survey," the White House statement said, "will be a strictly scientific research, carried out by trained technicians, and will require about two or three years to complete. It is believed that it will produce a body of systematic fact about social problems, hitherto inaccessible, that will be of fundamental and permanent value to all students and workers in the field of social science.

"Such subjects will be studied as the improvement of national health and vitality, its bearing upon increased number of persons of old age, and other results; the changes in maladjusted such as insane, feeble-minded, and so forth; the effect of urban life upon mental and physical health; the institutional development to meet these changes; the problems arising from increased leisure; changes in recreation and the provision for it; the changes in occupations; occupations likely to continue to diminish in importance; those likely to increase; the changes in family life; in housing; in education; the effect of inventions upon the life of the people; and many others which may indicate trends which are of importance."

Knighthood Clubs Praised By Child Welfare Chief

Dr. Kirkham Cites Utah Experience in Character Building Course.

DR. FRANCIS W. KIRKHAN.

Membership in the Knighthood of Youth Club, which The Washington Post is sponsoring in the District, was characterized as an excellent factor in the development of a character education program for schools by Dr. Francis W. Kirkham, educational director of the National Child Welfare Association, of New York, in an address yesterday afternoon before administrative officers and supervising principals of the Capital school system meeting in the Franklin Building. He was introduced by Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools.

Discussing the experience of Utah schools in this respect, Dr. Kirkham said: "For children of elementary grades membership in the Knighthood of Youth was undertaken as it is the only club organization the district was able to find which is adapted to school conditions for the children of these ages.

"In this program the child invites his parents to assist him in overcoming his bad habits, and in providing him with opportunities for right action. The child and his parents soon see the need of asking the help of the teacher. The teacher is happy to respond to such an invitation.

"It was found that membership in the Knighthood of Youth increased interest and membership in the Parent-Teacher Association for the reason that in it parents are actively engaged each day in an educational project for the child which requires their constant contact and cooperation with the school."

The entire nation is vitally interested now in the problem of character training, the educator declared, "for without character our wealth and progress may result in our destruction."

The factors in character forming for children are, first, the parents, Dr. Kirkham said, as they "exert the first and most persistent and consistent control." Next comes the hero, "who may be a relative, teacher, friend, public favorite or character from literature or history.

"The effects of music, art and health are of unquestioned importance. Other factors important in character development are the interest and companionship enjoyed by children. The many agencies that sponsor clubs, hikes, parties, and the like, and thus guide character development, are doing the most important work."

Declaring that there are two recognized methods of character training, viz, the direct and the indirect, the speaker quoted the following from the course of study for civics of the Philadelphia public schools:

"There are three conditions necessary to the development of right moral conduct. The child must know what is right. He must desire to do it. Most important of all, he must be trained through constant practice in the forming of good habits."

Taking up the question of procedure in forming a program for character education, Dr. Kirkham said: "First, account for all children up to 18 years of age; that is, bring them under the jurisdiction of the State and provide each with his share of the offerings of the State for training for citizenship.

"Second, for guidance purposes, obtain a minimum of facts concerning these children, facts about their ability, their environment, their use of leisure time, their likes and dislikes and, especially, their immediate interests.

"Third, place these children in activities which will bring them satisfaction and which will in turn result in greater satisfactions to them and will at the same time promote their personal and social welfare."

Dr. Kirkham explained in detail the plan formulated by the National Education Association committee on reorganization of secondary education, which has been indorsed by the States and Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Discussing further the successful experiments in Utah schools, the educator asserted: "One of the most important helps of the school to increase the desire of the pupils to do right and to offer them opportunities for right action was the plans developed for cooperation with the boys' and girls' clubs and community organizations."

In this group he mentioned the Boy Scouts, the 4H Clubs, community musical organizations and Sunday schools.

Members of the special committee of teachers named Wednesday by Dr. Ballou to make a study of character education were in attendance at the meeting.

RED ATTACKS GO ON, CHINESE COMPLAIN

Invasions Continue, Though Peace Talk Has Begun, Nationalists Say.

BAD FAITH IS CHARGED

Shanghai, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—China's Nationalist government charged tonight that Russia is continuing military attacks upon the Manchurian border and invasion of Chinese territory, notwithstanding the fact that preliminary Russo-Chinese negotiations have begun at Kharbarovsk for settlement of the Chinese Eastern Railway controversy.

The Chinese statement, made through the government's Kuomin News Agency, asserted that Russia is guilty of bad faith in seeking by military activities to effect a settlement in Russia's favor. The Chinese already have yielded to one of the demands of the Soviet government and have appointed Russians to the posts of manager and assistant manager of the railway which crosses Manchuria.

Russia is charged with inciting Mongolian Reds to occupy the western extremity of the railway, of which the Russians have retained possession since they invaded northwestern Manchuria November 20 and expelled Chinese troops.

Finally, China's high officials assert that Russian officials refused recently to permit the train of consular representatives to penetrate the territory occupied by Russians, blocking efforts to learn the condition of foreigners since the Soviet forces took armed possession. Russian troops in armored trains patrol the Chinese Eastern Railway in northwestern Manchuria, says China, and Russian cavalry has headquarters at Khallar.

LEGGE ANSWERS CRITICISM

supergovernment, and Mr. Legge is the farmers' champion in the clash between business and the farmer over the administration of the farm act. It is the winter drama of American politics.

"While the changes in the agricultural marketing program may necessitate some adjustments on the part of some of those now dealing in agricultural commodities," continued Mr. Legge to Mr. Butterworth, "any improvement in the return to the farmer can not prove other than helpful to the other industries of the Nation."

Mr. Butterworth's chamber has complained specifically about what may happen to the grain brokers or other middlemen in the administration of the farm act.

Julius Barnes, chairman of the chamber's board and Mr. Hoover's director of prosperity, and who has had a leading role in the drama heretofore, was reduced to a secondary role in yesterday's act, and quite probably to his delight.

Mr. Legge relieved himself of two statements to deal with a situation that has developed over the past two weeks. The one to Mr. Butterworth was in answer to the statement of the chamber's agricultural division which after a thorough study concluded that Mr. Legge's farm board was not doing right at all. The agricultural division saw no reason, for one thing, why the board should set up any new marketing machinery unless it was proven to be of more economical benefit than the present system.

Mr. Legge's second statement embodied a letter to Senator Caraway, chairman of the Senate lobby committee, and was designed to clear up the confusion resulting from Mr. Barnes' testimony before the committee several days ago.

In some quarters the impression had been obtained that at a conference which Mr. Barnes and several big grain operators had with Legge, December 4, at the instance of Mr. Barnes, Legge had agreed that for the board to lend money to the cooperatives at 3½ per cent or thereabouts was a discrimination against the private grain dealers and that a way had been worked for this money to reach the farmer at the prevailing commercial rate. Mr. Barnes did tell the committee that the discrimination was to be removed but he tried to make it plain, in spite of Senator Blaine, that the plan had been advanced by Mr. Legge sometime before the conference.

Mr. Legge's explanation of the board's policy yesterday made it quite plain that the farmer is not to get money at 3½ per cent but this is not because of Mr. Barnes' attitude and it has no regard, he said, to eliminating any discrimination against the private grain dealer.

It is simply, he said, that the board has long recognized that the cooperative, getting the money from the board at the small interest rate, must make a "small additional charge" to the farmer borrower in order to make money to pay the cooperatives' administrative expenses as well as to set aside a sinking fund.

"This addition," he said, "may vary somewhat as to particular commodities but any saving made becomes the property of the farmers through their cooperatives. In reaching this conclusion in conference with cooperatives, the board acted solely for the benefit of the farmer under the provisions of the act."

Interprets Farm Act.

Mr. Legge explained to newspapermen that he interprets the farm act to say that the interest rate to the cooperative must be that of the prevailing Government security rate and in no event more than 4 per cent. Under the set-up in the wheat trade, about which all the controversy has been raised, there are two "cooperatives" so to speak before the money gets to the farmer.

A central marketing agency has been set up in Chicago. The board plans to let this agency have the money at the prevailing Government rate, say 3½ per cent. It will add on a charge in passing the money on to the cooperative and the cooperative will add on another in passing it on to the farmer. This being the case, it may well be that the farmer, by the time he gets it will pay pretty close to the prevailing commercial rate.

What happened at that celebrated conference with the grain men, Mr. Legge explained, was that he merely put the matter to them in this light and showed that the disparity between the commercial rate of interest and that to the cooperative farmer was nothing like what they had come to believe.

They had based their complaint and the story that the farmer was to get money for around 3½ per cent was apparently caused by the fact that the board has made some advances direct to cooperatives while the central agency was being organized.

Farm Act Broader.

Referring to the Chamber of Commerce's comparison of the efficiency of the present marketing machinery with that which the Farm Board proposes to set up, Legge in his letter to Butterworth said the comparison was based on the cooperatives of 25 or 30 years ago, and agreed that their savings to the farmer were limited because of their limited scope. But the farm act contemplates something broader than these small cooperatives working by themselves, he pointed out.

"Unless we can work out a different system of marketing which goes far beyond the question of saving a fraction of a cent per bushel on grain, a few cents per bale on cotton, or a few cents per head on live stock, as compared to the present system," he said, "there would be little hope of progress in the line of putting agriculture on an equality with other industries, for the simple reason that if all of these operating costs were added to the price the farmer gets for his profit it would make but little difference in the return to the grower. On the other hand, if gradual marketing of what the farmer has to sell through a longer period instead of within a few weeks, as is now the prevailing practice, can be brought about, it may be possible to make a material improvement in the returns to the producer."

If in carrying out the board's program, he said, "certain reasonable adjustments on the part of existing agencies to adapt themselves to new conditions are found necessary, this should be regarded as incidental to a changing business condition rather than attacking anybody's business."

It is doubtful if Butterworth will reply, as Barnes told the Senate committee that although "business" was wary, it wanted to give the board a chance, with the knowledge that it has an ace in the hole in the form of an attack on the constitutionality of the farm act.

Garber Enters Fray.

Representative Garber (Republican), of Oklahoma, took the lead in the House yesterday in arraigning high officers of the United States Chamber of Commerce for their attitude toward the Farm Board. "Little men rattling around in big places" was Mr. Garber's description of William D. Butterworth, president, and Julius Barnes, chairman of the board of the United States Chamber.

Mr. Garber's attack occurred during argument on the appropriations bill for the Agriculture Department. He asserted that Mr. Barnes' recent testimony given to the lobby committee of the Senate indicated a desire to interfere with the law which established the Farm Board.

Attention also was called to a resolution by the chamber's directors which declared the chamber "favors cooperative marketing only so far as it did not discriminate against other business enterprises." Mr. Garber insisted this means the chamber favored such marketing as long as it did not "disturb gambling in farm products on the boards of trade."

absentees, therefore, figured as numbering 14 Laborites against 32 Conservatives and 15 Liberals.

After the bill had been voted its second reading, it was committed to committee of the whole. In this stage there will be full opportunity for discussion of every detail when the measure again comes up after the Christmas holidays.

Labor Leaders Disappointed.

Between now and January 21, when the house is to reassemble, the government will negotiate with various political and economic interests that have registered disapproval of the bill, in whole or in part. The cabinet hopes, by this means, to placate the enemies of the measure.

Labor party leaders made no attempt to disguise their disappointment at the smallness of the government's majority.

Some observers profess to believe, however, that the opposition never really intended to defeat the bill, but merely wished to hold the government to the smallest possible majority in order to "save face" in their constituencies.

$450,000 HEART BALM SUIT GOES AGAINST DETROIT MAN

1917 was in the rooming house business. One of her boarders was John H. Castle, a young man six years her junior who had come to Detroit from Evansville, Ind., with a letter to Henry Ford, who had employed him in his automobile factory at $5 a day.

Within six weeks, Miss Cleavenger testified at the trial, she and Castle became engaged. He asked her, however, to wait until he had helped his brothers through school, she said.

In the meantime Castle took a correspondence course in salesmanship, and practiced what he learned "on the side" with automobiles and real estate. He made a down payment on a house in Highland Park and Miss Cleavenger moved her furniture there.

Both parties admitted that Miss Cleavenger loaned Mr. Castle $1,000, which he repaid. She said that this and an additional $800 helped Mr. Castle toward fortune. Within a few years he was a partner in the real estate business with John Ford, brother of the automobile manufacturer. Evidence at the trial showed that at times his bank balance was as much as $2,400,000.

During the prosperous days from 1922 to 1925 Miss Cleavenger lived at an expensive hotel and made trips to Florida and California for which Mr. Castle paid. He also gave her between $40,000 and $50,000, he said. She testified that it was only $11,000.

One day in May, 1925, Mr. Castle failed to keep an engagement, and Miss Cleavenger learned that he had been married to Miss Phyllis Linderman, daughter of a Detroit dentist, and had started for Europe on a honeymoon.

Miss Cleavenger filed a suit but withdrew it, and it was brought out at the trial, received from $500 to $1,800 a month from then until March, 1927, in addition to a $3,000 automobile.

Mr. Castle explained his gifts during both periods as payments to keep the woman from harassing him. She declared that he gave them as evidences of affection.

The second suit which ended today was filed in 1927.

On motion of Ralph B. Clark, attorney for Mr. Castle, Judge Ferguson ordered that judgment in the case not be entered for 20 days. Mr. Clark said he will make a motion for a new trial.

Yule Tidings By Damrosch Given Today

Elaborate Christmas Party for Children on Program This Afternoon—Youth of Schools Take Part.

Youth will rule the air waves for an hour this afternoon when a program by children and for children will be broadcast to junior America over a National Broadcasting Co. network, with WRC.

With no other aim than a "Children's Christmas Party," an elaborate musical and dramatic program has been arranged by pupils of the Horace Mann Elementary School and Lincoln High.

Dr. Walter Damrosch will deliver his Christmas greeting to the children of the Nation in the same broadcast, which is scheduled at 2 o'clock. A full concert orchestra will assist the children, under the direction of Ernest La Prade.

The orchestra will open the program with Coleridge-Taylor's "Christmas Overture," and then provide incidental music for the children's play. This is a special dramatization of Kate Douglas Wiggin's "The Bird's Christmas Carol." It will be played entirely by the Horace Mann and Lincoln High pupils, with only one adult member in the cast. This will be Florence Pierce, staff member of NBC, herself a graduate of the Horace Mann School. Christmas carols during the hour will be sung by the boys' choir of St. Thomas Church Choir School.

"Music Inspired by Greek Myths" and "The Theme and Variations" will be studied by the classes in the NBC music appreciation courses, under the direction of Walter Damrosch, when the fifth concert of Series C and Series D is broadcast at 11 o'clock this morning. The program details follow:

First half-hour (Music Inspired by the Myths)—"Dance of the Furies," from "Orpheus" (Gluck); "Iphigenia's Farewell," from incidental music to "Iphigenia in Aulis" (Walter Damrosch), and the symphonic poem, "Phaeton" (Saint-Saens).

Second half-hour (the Theme and Variations)—Theme and Variations from "Suite No. 3" (Tschaikowsky).

A concert by the United States Marine Band, under the baton of Capt. Taylor Branson, will be broadcast for an hour at 3 o'clock.

Ludwig Laurier's Black and Gold Room Orchestra will treat listeners to "A Half Hour in Venice" in the musical program at 6 o'clock: "Dance of the Hours" (Ponchielli); "Venetian Serenade" (Luzatti); "A Day in Venice Suite" (Nevin); "Serenade" (Tarenghi); "Fantasia Neapolitana" (Boccalari), and the Barcarolle from "Tales of Hoffman" (Offenbach).

Up-to-the-minute ballads from the theater will be heard when the Raymestos Twins, Al Bernard and Billy Beard, with Lannie Ross, tenor, and an orchestra, broadcast from WRC at 6:30 o'clock.

The Cities Service Orchestra and Cavaliers will be presented at 8 o'clock.

Christmas for Gus and Louie, the garage partners, promises to be about as cheerful as it was for Scrooge in Dickens' "Christmas Carol" before he had the dream that changed his impression of the holiday. The boys will air their troubles at 9:30 o'clock from WRC.

The Hallelujah Singers, a Negro quartet, will be heard during the program at 10 o'clock, singing "De Old Ark's a Moverin'," "Exhortation," and "Camptown Races."

Josephine Jirak, contralto, will be heard in an unusual program from the Curtis Institute of Music at 10:30 o'clock tonight. Miss Jirak is a pupil of Mme. Marcella Sembrich. She is a member of the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company, and has appeared frequently in concerts. Miss Jirak will sing two songs by Brahms, "Cradle Song of the Virgin" and "Longing at Rest."

Georges Miolet, pianist, who will also appear on this program is a native of Cuba and not yet 16 years old. He has selected "Maila" Valse, Pelibes-Dohnanyi, and Two Etudes by Chopin.

"Breakfast Brevities" from The Washington Post will be transmitted from WOL at 8:15 o'clock.

A program of Christmas music by Mable Owens, soprano, will be presented at 6:15 o'clock, accompanied by Paul D. Gable.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE.

DECEMBER 20.

"Sagitarius."

IF TODAY is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 2 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 9:50 p. m. The danger periods from 11 a. m. to noon, from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m.

Energizing influences make this a good date for all sports and strenuous activities. Health conditions are excellent and there will be a marked physical improvement shown in cases of long illness. There will be considerable "comings and goings" and much correspondence is indicated.

Children born on this December 20 will be energetic and hard-working, ambitious, and fixed in purpose. There will be a tendency to delicacy in their early years, which will be entirely outgrown. They will never be tempted to abandon the real to follow the shadow.

Your emotions are deep, while your amorous nature is strong; the love that you feel for a person is, in every sense of the word, the "real thing" while it lasts; it is, however, disposed to fade, or by its intensity, to burn itself out. You should not marry until you attain a mature age.

You have a keen interest in and sympathy for the sufferings of others, and any act of injustice causes you to boil with anger. You, when possible, render not only verbal, but practical aid, and in a generous impulse are liable to cripple yourself for the sake of others. This side of your character, while creating some enmities in the family circle, has earned for you the thanks of many, and you can boast of many sincere friendships.

You are, although intelligent, rather slow in your mental processes; many golden opportunities are missed by you because of excessive deliberation. Your tastes are cosmopolitan, and you are as much at home in the country as in the city. Most men born on this date have a mechanical tendency. Women are flirtatious, and not consistent. They are, however, exceedingly attractive.

Successful People Born December 20.

John D. Goodman, physician and naturalist.
Calvert Vaux, landscape architect.
Cyrus Townsend Brady, author.
Prince George, youngest son of King of England.
Thomas H. Hubbard, general and lawyer.
Jessie Hubbell Bancroft, director of physical training.

Ann Interprets the Mode

Paris, Dec. 19.

FIGURE it out for yourself . . . just analyze the people who don't like long skirts, who don't like long hair, &c., &c., and weigh all their wails about these things.

Then look at the type of people who do like them. Oh, yes, it is not all men who are against them, you know.

Isn't there much ado about nothing? There actually isn't any controversy, there isn't any question in the matter, and there should be no fuss and no trouble and no worriment. We women have finally just decided that we are going to do just what we please, that's all . . . and no one, not even our own womankind . . . is going to tell us whether we should or should not, can or can not, shall or shall not wear short or long skirts, corsets or no corsets, or bob our hair or not.

We simply are going to do as we please—and refuse to be limited. We are going to wear our skirts short when it is practical to do so, and long when we are in the mood. We have found that it is practical to wear them short for business, for the street and for sports, and that we are most liable to be in the mood for them to be long of an afternoon or evening.

And coiffures! is anything compelling us to let our hair grow? No, nothing is . . . yet we are doing it, by the thousands. Why? because it is the mode? Not at all, and likewise not in the least . . . we are letting our hair grow because we want to, and for no other reason. And those of us who do not want to are just simply not letting it grow.

Not that coiffeurs will ever again assume Louis XIV extravagance. It just wouldn't suit the sense of humor of the modern woman! But modern women are not going to be robbed of the aid to loveliness found in shining tresses because the mode decrees short hair.

And now aren't you as tired of this subject as we are? The answer to the whole thing is, do as you please about long hair and long skirts, and whatever you do will be stylish.

Exactly how to make the most adorable Funnymen and Goofy Anni-mules out of colored wooden or glass beads and wooden button molds! Have you any idea how a child would love these? And how altogether simple it is to make them, once one tells you how and furnishes the designs? We do that in this week's illustrated leaflet, for which you need only send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post.

Coin de Coleur.

In the house of Joseph Paquin the shades of brown are very much used this year for daytime wear. For evening he favors black and white, green and purple—no, not all together!

And these evening gowns are mostly in chiffon, lace, taffeta and moire—rather short at the front, and dipping suddenly at the sides or back.

Simple in line and of beige wool, yet lavishly furred—that's the Jenny coat we illustrated for you today!

Oh-o-o. Oh-h-h-h, and delightful jewelry for the children's school clothes, of these same beads and button molds—Chanel would turn green with envy if she could see what she didn't think of. Better send for that leaflet.

That kid's toys leaflet again—you may think you know how to make a child's beret, but do you know how to make one out of two circles in just fifteen minutes? Wee Mamzelle has one for every dress—why? Because they cost us only a quarter to make—sometimes less. The directions are in this week's leaflet.

You will enjoy the weekly fashion letter, we feel sure. It's in The Sunday Washington Post each week.

Au revoir!

WORK ON BRIDGE

CONTRACT BRIDGE

For the Player Familiar With Auction But Not With Contract.

THE most important point to bear in mind is that game in Contract can not be counted unless bid for. The Auction player has been accustomed to bidding only one even with hands good for more, knowing that he would count all his tricks if he made his contract, whether he bid one or seven. In Auction the higher the bid the greater the risk of defeat with no return on the score sheet for taking the risk; consequently Auction players bid only high enough to overcall the opponents. But in Contract the bidding frequently reaches a game contract, or even a slam contract when neither opponent does anything but pass. This is because neither game nor slam can be counted unless bid.

A Contract player who bid three Spades and made six-odd would count 90 below the line (30 being the value of each major trick) and 150 above the line (50 for each trick in excess of contract); under those circumstances the Auction Declarer would score neither. But if the Contract player had bid six Spades, he would count 180 below the line and above the line a bonus of at least 500 for making a small slam—750 if he were vulnerable.

So in Contract the original bidder should show the strength of his hand; if he underbid, his partner may not be justified in jumping, although strong enough to jump a higher bid. The original bidder's partner is justified in jumping a bid of two to three with less strength than is needed to jump a bid of one to two, notwithstanding the fact that the three is bidding for one more trick than the two.

The aim of a Contract partnership is to bid for game whenever the combined hands could make game, and to stop short of a game-old whenever the combined hands would fail to make game. For example, a side that is able to make eight tricks at No Trump but not to make nine, should not bid three. This is so not only because bidding three would result in a set which undoubled would cost 50 or 100 points (depending upon vulnerability but mainly because it would forfeit 70 points) the value of two No Trump tricks which would have been scored below the line if only two No Trumps had been bid. These 70 points would be more valuable than the 100 that might be lost as a penalty because in Contract a partial score becomes an enormous asset by simplifying the bidding of the next hand.

Next Friday No Trump bidding in Contract will be considered.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

He Is Unpopular.

GIRLS, here's a boy with a heartache. Can you help him? When you grow tired of a boy, just what is the cause? Must he make love in order to hold your interest? Must he own a Ford? What makes a boy popular? Must he be a cave man, or does the boy of polished manners win the favor of the fair?

Tell just what things make a boy popular with you and what in your opinion is the reason he has been so unkindly treated. You know it's just as dreadful for a boy to be a wallflower as for a girl. So, try to help this boy, who really wants to be liked by girls. Just what is wrong?

"I am 22," he writes, "gentlemanly, fond of girls, dance, talk a little, but not personally, admired a girl who deserves it but do not say so in words but by showing her attentions. I have gone with seven girls in the past year, when really I would like to go with just one. But they drop me. I want to know why and where I fail. As I watch other fellows I have concluded that it must be because I do not make love to the girls I take out. Must I do this? It seems to me most impertinent to make love to the girls I take out. But if it must be done I could do it. I can not marry for at least ten years. Am I to go through the motions of love-making all those years—or sit home alone? I adore girls but I respect them. What do they want a man to do? I buy tickets for shows, take them to dinner and dances, but I never kiss them or make advances. Am I a fool?"

Now, girls, speak up! If a boy is willing to do all the things this boy does, must he also play the role of a Barrymore? Personally, we adore to listen to the nice things men can say so convincingly, but perhaps we are just left over from an age when ladies sat around sighing behind pink feather fans. At any rate, we love to be told that our eyes exactly match our hair, and we can't feel that anybody is seriously committed to anything in particular because he has brought the matter to our eager attention. And sometimes a deadly dull evening is transformed into a charming interlude by some such inspired outburst.

Honestly, we do not even care whether the man considers it a happy or unhappy circumstance that hair and eyes sometimes match. What warms our silly heart is the fact that somebody is personally concerning himself with our particular eyes and our particular hair. And we just purr. Tomorrow night let him charm some other woman, in like manner, we are satisfied, for he has done his duty in laying at our foolish feet his bit of tribute to us as womankind.

After all, what would this world be without the exquisite niceties, heads bared as we pass by, chairs placed for us, doors held for us, moonlight interpreted for us? These are life's harmonies, and they color existence for womankind. They have little to do with love or love-making, but they are close kin to high romance—and is that not the thing that woman craves? The caveman may be thrilling but he is surely inconvenient, while the man who confides or who, having nothing to confide, has at least the wit to look as if he would like to be confiding, finds sure place in any woman's heart.

We probably should go and buy a pink feather fan and get behind it—but we feel this boy who asks advice is too impersonal. What do the moderns say?

A Visit to the Moon.

TODAY let us pretend that we have made a journey to the moon. Forgetting the troubles any one would have if he went there—lack of air, lack of water, and coldness—we suppose that we can walk around very much as if we were on the earth.

We notice the steep mountains, some of them more than 4 miles high. Since there is no rain on the moon, and since there are no windstorms, the mountains are not being leveled down by the weather. Their outlines are sharp.

The earth seen from the moon.

As we travel around, we climb into the craters of volcanoes. We do not need to worry about the volcanoes "erupting." They are dead, and have been dead for hundreds of years, perhaps for thousands of years.

There are a great many dead volcanoes, however, and it is easy to see that the moon was once the scene of mighty explosions and great flows of lava.

Leaving the volcanoes we wander around, looking for rivers, lakes or oceans—but we can find none.

We wonder whether there ever have been people living on the moon, and search to find whether there are any graves or any sign of former life. So far we have not found proof of such life, but still we wonder.

Having brought our watches along, we notice that twelve hours after the first sunrise the sun is still low in the sky. We are tired and go to sleep. When we awake, the sun is just a little higher in the sky.

By watching our watches we find that more than 300 hours pass before the first sunset. Then there is darkness for more than 300 hours.

The darkness is hard to bear, but there is a huge "moon" in the sky. It is the earth, and its light comes from reflected sunlight. The shining earth makes almost four times as large a "moon" as the moon the people of the earth see. When the earth is "full" the light can be used for reading, though it is not so good as sunlight.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

INFLUENZA AND ITS RETURN.

INFLUENZA returns at intervals of 33 weeks, or some multiple thereof, according to Brownlee. If this theory is correct, we should lay our plans for another invasion which should begin somewhere about Christmastime and last until well into the spring. The 1928 great wave began in the late autumn on the Pacific slope. After hanging around that region for a while it began a slow sweep eastward, losing itself along the Eastern seaboard somewhere about February.

It is never easy to put a finger on the exact beginning or the exact ending of influenza. It reached Chicago about December 1, was at its peak just before Christmas and was nearly through by the 1st of January. The first 33 weeks brought us to summer weather, and when an influenza date falls in summer weather the epidemic can be expected to abort. The second 33-week cycle will terminate shortly, so far as the Pacific slope is concerned. The date of the Chicago expectancy will be early to middle March. Other places may expect the onset of trouble about one year and fourteen weeks after the date of last winter's onset, if this schedule proves the correct one.

There is every reason for thinking that the disease of last winter was the same as that of 1918, though the total deaths caused by it were only one-fifth the number charged against its predecessor. It differed also in that it crossed the continent, and, for that matter, the Atlantic Ocean, from west to east. There is no evidence that it crossed the Pacific in the same direction. So far as history shows, all previous primary waves have traveled from east to west. In all other qualities the epidemic of 1928-29 followed type.

The evidence indicates that influenza is highly contagious, so much so that ordinary methods for preventing the spread of contagion are wholly worthless. Closing theaters, schools and churches does no good. In fact, nothing that health departments have done by way of prevention has had any effect on this highly contagious disorder. No progress in that direction will be made until some vaccine is found and widely used by health departments.

There are some things the people can do for themselves individually. Since epidemics of influenza have a low batting average in warm weather I should say that the man who spends the season of expectancy when it is warm in the open sunlight will increase his chance of escaping the disease. The man who can not get away will help himself by staying out of doors in such sunlight as his climate affords. The man who avoids all crowds and assemblages will likewise add a little to his safety.

B SEEMS TO BE RIGHT.

A constant reader writes: A says nobody can contract a cold from another person. B says it is possible Who is right?

REPLY.

I think B is right, though there are other important factors in spreading colds.

CRAMPS IN THE FEET.

B. A. F. writes: Can you give me a remedy for cramps in feet and legs of old people at night?

REPLY.

A simple method of prevention, nearly always successful, is to cover the feet and legs warmly at night. Put another blanket on the bed so that it will cover the feet and legs to the knee. Wearing woolen stockings or footwear in bed is sometimes necessary.

MAY BE DUE TO FOOD.

Mrs R. T. S. writes:

1. My 9-month-old baby has had eczema on his face since he was a month old. He weighs 25 pounds now. Can the eczema be cured and how must it be treated?

2. What is its cause?

3. I am feeding him on a four-hour schedule, giving him 8 ounces of Bulgarian buttermilk, cereal, orange juice and soup. I have changed his milk diet several times but it does not seem to help. Do you think any of these foods could cause eczema?

4. I have tried different ointments but they do not help. I am using a lotion. Which do you think it best to use?

5. Do you think it is his blood or his stomach?

REPLY.

1. Eruptions of this class are due to food sensitization. In many cases no treatment is given. Cure is spontaneous as the baby grows older and the diet is changed. Many cases are cured by the use of crude coal tar ointment properly made. In some cases the condition becomes so troublesome that change of diet is necessary even though this may interfere somewhat with the nutrition and growth of the child.

2. It is caused by something to which the child is sensitized. Sometimes it is milk fat, sometimes milk sugar and sometimes whole milk. Some cases are cured by feeding buttermilk, skim milk, milk powder or albumin milk and some by using milks to which no sugar or starch has been added. Some are cured by feeding no milk except that used in puddings. Some must be given no milk of any kind.

3. Yes. See answer to 2. A baby of that age should be gnawing on hard crackers and bread and eating finely mashed vegetables. Since he gets no cream he may be in need of some other fats.

4. See answer to 2.

5. Neither.

LAWYER DISAVOWS HOOVER LOBBY TALK

Shattuck Says He Never Spoke to President Regarding Sugar Levies.

sugar, he had conferred several times concerning the matter with Walter Newton, a secretary to Mr. Hoover.

A plan to send senators to Cuba also was disclosed yesterday by the committee. It came to light in a letter Gladys Moon Jones, of the United States Sugar Association, wrote to George B. Francis, law partner of Mr. Shattuck. The letter said:

"I suggest that you hold your plans for sending senators to Cuba until I submit today's developments on that situation."

Questioned about the letter, Mr. Shattuck explained that Mr. Jones had suggested that if some of the senators "could be induced to go to Cuba and see the situation there, it would be advisable to do so."

He added that it "was a very embryonic plan" and he did not think it "got very far." He said he did not know what senators were to go to Cuba.

Mr. Shattuck denied that he had attempted to solicit any contributions in Cuba. Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, then produced a letter from Junior Owens, secretary of the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages, to Charles V. Rainwater, of Atlanta, which said:

"Mr. Francis, who is associated with a law firm with Mr. Shattuck, was in to see me last Thursday morning. He informed me confidentially that Mr. Shattuck has been in Cuba and has been successfully raising money to carry on the campaign."

"I never solicited one cent in Cuba or any other place, sir!" Mr. Shattuck exclaimed.

"How did Mr. Francis come to make that statement?" Walsh inquired.

"I don't know," Mr. Shattuck replied.

The witness also was questioned at length concerning his employment by Mr. Lakin and he insisted it was mostly legal work and not "lobbying."

Today the committee plans to question W. L. Petriken, of Denver, president of the Great Western Sugar Co., and Mr. Jones and Mr. Owens. It will then adjourn over the Christmas holidays.

Most of the testimony yesterday dealt with Mr. Shattuck's relations with President Hoover and he maintained throughout the hearing that he "made no claim other than I hope I have his friendship."

Questioned about a number of statements already placed in the record that he had been in conference with President Hoover on the sliding scale sugar tariff proposal, Mr. Shattuck replied:

"It is incorrect, sir. It is incorrect. But I don't want to have it misunderstood. I have discussed with Mr. Newton questions pertaining to the sliding scale and he has discussed them, I adways understood, with the interested sugar people, not onl. the Cubans, but the beets and others, and I have been asked by Mr. Newton to discuss it with him, but not with Mr Hoover."

Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, asked:

"You didn't understand, did you, that Mr. Newton at any time, acting for the President, was giving you directions on what to do in connection with this lobbying activity?"

"I did not, sir," Mr. Shattuck replied.

Two brief letters from Newton to Shattuck were placed in the record.

They thanked Mr. Shattuck for sending him memoranda pertaining to the sugar tariff.

"What was this data that you sent to Mr. Newton?" Walsh inquired.

Mr. Shattuck said it consisted of reports prepared by a statistician pertaining to production, prices and profits of Hawaiian sugar.

nally, of Texas, today asked the office of Gov. Harry G. Leslie to aid a party of 25 people who, he said, were marooned by snow drifts on United States highway 30, near Deep River and the Porter-Lake County line.

The senator told Lewis C. Casey, secretary to the governor, in a telephone call, that the party had been marooned for 36 hours in a farm house about half way between Valparaiso and Crownpoint, and that their supply of food was running low.

A. H. Hinkle, superintendent of maintenance of the State Highway Commission, told Chasey that every effort would be made to get relief to the party.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agri., Weather Bureau: Washington, Thursday, Dec. 19—8 p. m.

Forecast—For the District of Columbia—Partly cloudy and much colder Friday; Saturday fair; fresh westerly winds.

For Maryland and Virginia—Partly cloudy, probably snow flurries in the mountains and much colder in east portions, Friday; Saturday fair; fresh westerly winds.

The storm that was central over southwestern Pennsylvania Wednesday evening has moved to southern Ontario. Southampton, 29.64 inches, with a secondary disturbance over the Middle Atlantic States, Baltimore, Md., 29.52 inches, while a new disturbance is developing over the far Southwest, Yuma, Ariz., 29.72 inches. The northwestern high-pressure area has diminished considerably in intensity, and it now has two centers, one over the northern Plains States, Havre, Mont., 30.58 inches, and the other over the West Gulf States, Fort Worth, Tex., 30.36 inches. Pressure is high and rising over the Mackenzie Valley, Aklavik, 30.60 inches, and over the mouth of the St. Lawrence River, Anticosti, 30.46 inches, while it remains high southeast of Bermuda, Hamilton, 30.36 inches. The eastern storm has caused widespread precipitation over nearly all sections east of the Mississippi River, while the western disturbance has been accompanied by light rains or snows, mostly in the Plateau and Rocky Mountain regions. Elsewhere the weather has been generally fair within the last 24 hours. The temperature has fallen considerably over the southern portion of the Ohio Valley and the middle and southern Appalachian region, and over considerable portions of the East Gulf and South Atlantic States. Elsewhere temperature changes have been unimportant.

The indications are for fair weather over the southern portion of the Washington forecast district and considerable cloudiness over the northern portion, with light snow in the upper Ohio Valley, the Lake region, the northern Appalachian region, and portions of New England, Friday. On Saturday the weather will be mostly fair except that snow will probably continue in portions of northern New England, and rain or snow may set in again over western Kentucky and Tennessee. It will be considerably colder in portions of the Middle Atlantic States and south and central Florida Friday, while there will be a reaction to warmer weather on Saturday over the Southern States.

Storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic coast from the Virginia Capes to Eastport, Me.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

WITH the theaters dark, for the nonce, and all this publicity coming in for shows on the way, it looked as if a pamphlet addressed to this office yesterday heralded the coming of a new extravaganza. It was labeled "The George Washington Scandals."

Lo and behold, it turns out that this is no musical comedy at all, at all. On the contrary, 'tis a tract published by the Washington Society of Alexandria, the oldest of the patriotic societies in America with the exception of the Society of the Cincinnati—a republished article by John C. Fitzgerald, A. M., L. H. D., and sent by courtesy of John B. Gordon, of Braddock Heights, Va., which is on the rim of the hill skirting Alexandria on the west.

It seems that "The George Washington Scandals" were mentioned the other day on the first page of The Washington Post, the first thing in the morning, and that everybody and his brother now knows that these are, ipso facto, refutations of malicious whisperings against the fair fame of our beloved first President.

• • • •

Otis Skinner, whose arrival in town is anxiously being awaited by Mr. Stephen Cochran, manager of the National Theater, has changed the title of his play from "100 Years Old" to "Papa Juan." Mr. Skinner is now out on the road somewhere with this dramatic attraction and doing well. Always a favorite in Washington, it is expected that he will be greeted, as usual, by packed houses. The play, as a play, is said to be a light bit of comedy with Otis Skinner presenting as fine a character sketch as ever came from his make-up box. After 50 years or so on the American stage he still holds the high hand of drama aloft, a torch bearer of the old school.

• • • •

While the youngsters of the theater are rushing toward Hollywood to take part in the song and dance of talkiedom, the old stagers are engaged in keeping the theater from going to the eternal and what some call the demnition bow-wows. William Gillette plays to packed houses in New York, the New Amsterdam Theater, bigger than Poli's, packed to the rafters every night and twice on Saturday to see "Sherlock Holmes." It makes the blood tingle in the veins of George C. Tyler, the producer, who watches out of another corner of his eye the merry antics of Mrs. Fiske in "Ladies of the Jury." Both of these attractions are Erlanger-Tyler affairs, and both will be seen in Washington shortly after the New Year.

• • • •

When the new year rolls around and gets fairly started, the dramatic fare for Washington will be better, according to all the authorities. Mr. T. D. Bonneville, manager of Poli's, has a promising half season ahead if certain plans of the Shuberts go through. Seems that these two young fellows have been rather successful in staging old comic operas, of the Robin Hood school. There is talk now of sending all-star troupes out, with Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia as stamping grounds after two weeks in New York. Poli's would thus go back to the days of its Albaugh glory, when 'twas the Grand Opera House, the grand being supplanted by the comic.

SENATE SNAG TRIPS HOOVER APPOINTEE

state that Miss Matthews is a woman of exceptional ability and deserves the appointment no matter what the previous resolution may have approved or disapproved.

Senator Couzens declared that the finance committee had given no consideration to the 1926 resolution before reporting the nomination and he felt the committee should consider it before giving its approval to the Senate.

Miss Matthews, if her appointment finally wins senatorial approval, will land one of the best positions in the Capital because she has made herself an authority on taxes. The job pays $10,000 per year.

Born in Georgia, Miss Matthews has since maintained a residence there, although she has been in Washington since the World War. She became a clerk in the Treasury Department and studied law. Miss Matthews never planned to practice law, but expected her studies to aid her in other Government work.

For some years she has been an attorney in the office of the general counsel of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, following some time spent in the filing and auditing division of the income tax unit. Thomas F. Adams, leading tax authority of the Treasury Department, was so impressed with her work that he urged she be sent to several international tax conferences as an observer.

When the vacancy arose on the Board of Tax Appeals, Miss Matthews had the unanimous indorsement of Treasury Department officials and President Hoover therefore made the appointment.

Confesses Slaying Ally, But Hides His Name

Elizabeth, N. J., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Harry George confessed today that he and Bernard Toner slew a third member of their band early this morning after the latter had won from them more than $2,000, the proceeds of a night of robberies in towns throughout north Jersey. George refused to reveal the name of the dead youth whose body was found near a blood-stained automobile in Linden before dawn.

The two youths were arrested while in the act of holding up a gasoline filling station, a short time after the body of the other had been found.

Six Killed by Locomotive in Fog.

Essen, Germany, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Six railway track workers were killed and eight severely injured when a locomotive ran into a gang working on the mani line near Mulheim in a fog today.

JURY ACQUITS FOUR IN TORTURE MURDER

Ruminer, on the same night the slaying was said to have taken place.

The girl told county officers she and Franklin had been on their way to a justice of the peace to be married, and were stopped by the men on a lonely mountain road. Franklin she said, had been mutilated and she had been attacked.

Two weeks ago, while defense and prosecution attorneys were planning for the murder trial, a sensation developed when it was announced that Franklin had been found alive in a neighboring community and would return to Mountain View.

Brought back here, the man was identified by various former acquaintances, although many who had known him, notably his former sweetheart, failed to recognize him as Connie Franklin.

Taking the stand as the star witness in the trial, the man testified he had fallen from a mule and had merely been stunned on the night Tillar said he was killed. He said he quietly walked out of the community the following day.

The case was given to the jury last night. Throughout the deliberations today it appeared a verdict would be impossible, but at the request of Judge S. M. Bone the jurors made a final effort. Shortly after 5 o'clock they filed into the little courtroom.

There was scattered applause when the verdict was read. The murder case against Alex Fulks, indicted with the four other men, but not on trial with them, was dismissed.

SENATE PASSES BILL FOR COURT BUILDING

Measure Providing New Home for Supreme Tribunal Sent President.

WORK MAY START SOON

The long fight of the United States Supreme Court for a new home was won yesterday when the Senate passed the Keyes-Elliott bill and sent it to the White House for the President's signature.

The bill, which passed the House on Monday, authorizes an appropriation of $9,740,000 for the construction of a handsome new building on a site east of the Capitol and north of the Library of Congress.

This site, which is bounded on the west by First street, on the east by Second street northeast, on the north by Maryland avenue, and on the south by East Capitol street, now takes in many historic buildings, including the old Capitol.

Architect of the Capitol David Lynn, who will supervise the construction of the new court building, said yesterday that if Congress provides the money at an early date, the razing of the existing structures will begin in the spring. He expects the court building to be completed in three years.

Today the Supreme Court is tucked away in the old Senate chamber in the Capitol, a small, dingy room that is far too small. The library and the offices also are inadequate.

The plans for the new Supreme Court Building, as drawn by Cass Gilbert, call for a beautiful structure to harmonize with the Capitol and its office buildings.

It will face the Capitol. The central portion will be four stories high above the terrace on the east front, and three stories on the west front. The east stories are to be made lower so that the roof line will be continuous.

The plan for the building divides into four requirements: the courtroom, the justices' rooms, the offices and the library. In addition there will be conference rooms, rooms for lawyers, and rooms for general use.

Singing at Community Fete Urged by Ballou

District school principals were instructed yesterday by Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent, to urge their pupils to participate in the public singing of Christmas carols at the community tree Christmas Eve in Sherman Square, south of the Treasury Building.

A general group of carol singing throughout the entire District is being formulated, Dr. Ballou said. The Board of Education has approved of cooperation on the part of the schools.

Silver Years

By Gertrude S. Trowbridge

"After the Golden Years of Youth, Come Those of Fine Silver"

The handsomest portrait among those of Presidents of Phillips Academy, Andover, is that of John Adams; born 1772. He was a man of superb strength, magnetic personality, and an able teacher.

But all those qualities are not what distinguishes him from other handsome, efficient, magnetic teachers whom we know. His unusual quality lay in his persistent refusal ever to believe that his best work was in the past.

For 22 years he was a successful principal of the academy.

Then, the younger men among the trustees began to think him too conservative, too antiquated in his ideas of teaching. This subdued and growing criticism was soon known to Adams who wrote to his son: "If the trustees feel that the best interest of the academy will be promoted by the introduction of a younger man, how can I make up my mind to remain?"

Before long, he resigned and, although he had tremendously developed the school, his withdrawal was accepted.

Then, he started off on his own and fooled the young trustees.

First, he started another successful school in the East. But that was too tame a job for his adventurous spirit. So, like other sturdy pioneers, he went West, oblivious of hardships, and finally settled in Illinois. There, in 1837, he kept still awhile, to develop another highly prosperous school.

In 1842 he was again on the move, stopping only infrequently, during twelve happy years, working for the American Sunday School Union. In that time he covered the entire State, driving a buggy, and organized 362 Sunday schools. (Most of us would think that we had done very well to have established one.)

In 1854 Yale gave him the degree of Doctor of Laws.

He died in his ninety-second year. 30 years after he had been forced to resign from Andover on account of old age.

"To have built up one of the historic schools of New England; to have set the impress of a sterling character upon some thousands of American girls and boys; to have become, in extreme old age, a pioneer of civilization in a great Western State—this surely is to deserve the grateful memory of those who come after."

Wakefield Measure Is Passed by Senate

The Senate yesterday passed and sent to the House the Swanson-Moore bill for the improvement of Wakefield, Va., the birthplace of George Washington.

The bill authorizes an appropriation of $65,000, of which $15,000 would be used to move a monument from its present site to another nearby and $50,000 for the restoration of the Washington house and the grounds.

ABATEMENT PLEAS FILED IN SMITH CASE

Several Individuals of Firm Under Fire Set Forth Quash Reasons.

ZIHLMAN NOT INCLUDED

In an effort to quash indictments charging use of the mails to defraud, attorneys for the F. H. Smith Co., G. Bryan Pitts, chairman of the board; C. Elbert Anadale, president; Daniel R. Crissinger, former Comptroller of the Currency, and a director of the company, and John H. Edwards, jr., a vice president, yesterday filed separate pleas in abatement.

So far no plea has been filed in behalf of Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, chairman of the House District committee, a former director of the company, who also is under indictment.

The filing of the pleas follows action of the firm of Lambert & Yeatman on Wednesday when they contested argument on a petition for appointment of a receiver for the Smith Co., Zihlman, Crissinger, Pitts and Henry. The argument was held before Justice Alfred A. Wheat, who now has the matter under advisement.

Arguments on several points in the pleas in the Smith case are expected to be argued today when Assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw argues on similar points in the case of B. R. Buck et al. Buck, who is charged with conspiracy to violate the bucket shop laws and several of his codefendants have filed pleas which are said to be, to some extent, the same in effect as those set out in the Smith pleas.

The pleas in abatement in the Smith case contain 32 reasons why it is believed the indictments should be quashed. Among these is the charge that the grand jury was illegally constituted. Another charge is that the court neglected to question prospective jurors if they were connected with the police and fire departments.

LAWYER DISAVOWS HOOVER LOBBY TALK

Shattuck Says He Never Spoke to President Regarding Sugar Levies.

ASKED NO FUNDS, CLAIM

sugar, he had conferred several times concerning the matter with Walter Newton, a secretary to Mr. Hoover.

A plan to send senators to Cuba also was disclosed yesterday by the committee. It came to light in a letter Gladys Moon Jones, of the United States Sugar Association, wrote to George B. Francis, law partner of Mr. Shattuck. The letter said:

"I suggest that you hold your plans for sending senators to Cuba until I submit today's developments on that situation."

Questioned about the letter, Mr. Shattuck explained that Mr. Jones had suggested that if some of the senators "could be induced to go to Cuba and see the situation there, it would be advisable to do so."

He added that it "was a very embryonic plan" and he did not think it "got very far." He said he did not know what senators were to go to Cuba.

Mr. Shattuck denied that he had attempted to solicit any contributions in Cuba. Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, then produced a letter from Junior Owens, secretary of the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages, to Charles V. Rainwater, of Atlanta, which said:

"Mr. Francis, who is associated with a law firm with Mr. Shattuck, was in to see me last Thursday morning. He informed me confidentially that Mr. Shattuck has been in Cuba and has been successfully raising money to carry on the campaign."

"I never solicited one cent in Cuba or any other place, sir!" Mr. Shattuck exclaimed.

"How did Mr. Francis come to make that statement?" Walsh inquired.

"I don't know," Mr. Shattuck replied.

The witness also was questioned at length concerning his employment by Mr. Lakin and he insisted it was mostly legal work and not "lobbying."

Today the committee plans to question W. L. Petriken, of Denver, president of the Great Western Sugar Co., and Mr. Jones and Mr. Owens. It will then adjourn over the Christmas holidays.

Most of the testimony yesterday dealt with Mr. Shattuck's relations with President Hoover and he maintained throughout the hearing that he "made no claim other than I hope I have his friendship."

Questioned about a number of statements already placed in the record that he had been in conference with President Hoover on the sliding scale sugar tariff proposal, Mr. Shattuck replied:

"It is incorrect, sir. It is incorrect. But I don't want to have it misunderstood. I have discussed with Mr. Newton questions pertaining to the sliding scale and he has discussed them, I advays understood, with the interested sugar people, not onl, the Cubans, but the beets and others, and I have been asked by Mr. Newton to discuss it with him, but not with Mr Hoover."

Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, asked:

"You didn't understand, did you, that Mr. Newton at any time, acting for the President, was giving you directions on what to do in connection with this lobbying activity?"

"I did not, sir," Mr. Shattuck replied.

Two brief letters from Newton to Shattuck were placed in the record.

They thanked Mr. Shattuck for sending him memoranda pertaining to the sugar tariff.

"What was this data that you sent to Mr. Newton?" Walsh inquired.

Mr. Shattuck said it consisted of reports prepared by a statistician pertaining to production, prices and profits of Hawaiian sugar.

SCORE DIE AS STORM SWEEPS MID-WEST

nally, of Texas, today asked the office of Gov. Harry G. Leslie to aid a party of 25 people who, he said, were marooned by snow drifts on United States highway 30, near Deep River and the Porter-Lake County line.

The senator told Lewis C. Casey, secretary to the governor, in a telephone call, that the party had been marooned for 36 hours in a farm house about half way between Valparaiso and Crownpoint, and that their supply of food was running low.

A. H. Hinkle, superintendent of maintenance of the State Highway Commission, told Chasey that every effort would be made to get relief to the party.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agri., Weather Bureau: Washington, Thursday, Dec. 19—8 p. m.

Forecast—For the District of Columbia—Partly cloudy and much colder Friday; Saturday fair; fresh westerly winds.

For Maryland and Virginia—Partly cloudy, probably snow flurries in the mountains and much colder in east portions, Friday; Saturday fair; fresh westerly winds.

The storm that was central over southwestern Pennsylvania Wednesday evening has moved to southern Ontario. Southampton, 29.64 inches, with a secondary disturbance over the Middle Atlantic States, Baltimore, Md., 29.52 inches, while a new disturbance is developing over the far Southwest, Yuma, Ariz., 29.72 inches. The northwestern high-pressure area has diminished considerably in intensity, and it now has two centers, one over the northern Plains States, Havre, Mont., 30.58 inches, and the other over the West Gulf States, Fort Worth, Tex., 30.36 inches. Pressure is high and rising over the Mackenzie Valley, Aklavik, 30.60 inches, and over the mouth of the St. Lawrence River, Anticosti, 30.46 inches, while it remains high southeast of Bermuda, Hamilton, 30.36 inches. The eastern storm has caused widespread precipitation over nearly all sections east of the Mississippi River, while the western disturbance has been accompanied by light rains or snows, mostly in the Plateau and Rocky Mountain regions. Elsewhere the weather has been generally fair within the last 24 hours. The temperature has fallen considerably over the southern portion of the Ohio Valley and the middle and southern Appalachian region, and over considerable portions of the East Gulf and South Atlantic States. Elsewhere temperature changes have been unimportant.

The indications are for fair weather over the southern portion of the Washington forecast district and considerable cloudiness over the northern portion, with light snow in the upper Ohio Valley, the Lake region, the northern Appalachian region, and portions of New England, Friday. On Saturday the weather will be mostly fair except that snow will probably continue in portions of northern New England, and rain or snow may set in again over western Kentucky and Tennessee. It will be considerably colder in portions of the Middle Atlantic States and south and central Florida Friday, while there will be a reaction to warmer weather on Saturday over the Southern States.

Storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic coast from the Virginia Capes to Eastport, Me.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

WITH the theaters dark, for the nonce, and all this publicity coming in for shows on the way, it looked as if a pamphlet addressed to this office yesterday heralded the coming of a new extravaganza. It was labeled "The George Washington Scandals."

Lo and behold, it turns out that this is no musical comedy at all, at all. On the contrary, 'tis a tract published by the Washington Society of Alexandria, the oldest of the patriotic societies in America with the exception of the Society of the Cincinnati—a republished article by John C. Fitzgerald, A. M., L. H. D., and sent by courtesy of John B. Gordon, of Braddock Heights, Va., which is on the rim of the hill skirting Alexandria on the west.

It seems that "The George Washington Scandals" were mentioned the other day on the first page of The Washington Post, the first thing in the morning, and that everybody and his brother now knows that these are, ipso facto, refutations of malicious whisperings against the fair fame of our beloved first President.

• • • •

Otis Skinner, whose arrival in town is anxiously being awaited by Mr. Stephen Cochran, manager of the National Theater, has changed the title of his play from "100 Years Old" to "Papa Juan." Mr. Skinner is now out on the road somewhere with this dramatic attraction and doing well. Always a favorite in Washington, it is expected that he will be greeted, as usual, by packed houses. The play, as a play, is said to be a light bit of comedy with Otis Skinner presenting as fine a character sketch as ever came from his make-up box. After 50 years or so on the American stage he still holds the high hand of drama aloft, a torch bearer of the old school.

• • • •

While the youngsters of the theater are rushing toward Hollywood to take part in the song and dance of talkiedom, the old stagers are engaged in keeping the theater from going to the eternal and what some call the demnition bow-wows. William Gillette plays to packed houses in New York, the New Amsterdam Theater, bigger than Poli's, packed to the rafters every night and twice on Saturday to see "Sherlock Holmes." It makes the blood tingle in the veins of George C. Tyler, the producer, who watches out of another corner of his eye the merry antics of Mrs. Fiske in "Ladies of the Jury." Both of these attractions are Erlanger-Tyler affairs, and both will be seen in Washington shortly after the New Year.

• • • •

When the new year rolls around and gets fairly started, the dramatic fare for Washington will be better, according to all the authorities. Mr. T. D. Bonneville, manager of Poli's, has a promising half season ahead if certain plans of the Shuberts go through. Seems that these two young fellows have been rather successful in staging old comic operas, of the Robin Hood school. There is talk now of sending all-star troupes out, with Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia as stamping grounds after two weeks in New York. Poli's would thus go back to the days of its Albaugh glory, when 'twas the Grand Opera House, the grand being supplanted by the comic.

state that Miss Matthews is a woman of exceptional ability and deserves the appointment no matter what the previous resolution may have approved or disapproved.

Senator Couzens declared that the finance committee had given no consideration to the 1926 resolution before reporting the nomination and he felt the committee should consider it before giving its approval to the Senate.

Miss Matthews, if her appointment finally wins senatorial approval, will land one of the best positions in the Capital because she has made herself an authority on taxes. The job pays $10,000 per year.

Born in Georgia, Miss Matthews has since maintained a residence there, although she has been in Washington since the World War. She became a clerk in the Treasury Department and studied law. Miss Matthews never planned to practice law, but expected her studies to aid her in other Government work.

For some years she has been an attorney in the office of the general counsel of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, following some time spent in the filing and auditing division of the income tax unit. Thomas F. Adams, leading tax authority of the Treasury Department, was so impressed with her work that he urged she be sent to several international tax conferences as an observer.

When the vacancy arose on the Board of Tax Appeals, Miss Matthews had the unanimous indorsement of Treasury Department officials and President Hoover therefore made the appointment.

Confesses Slaying Ally, But Hides His Name

Elizabeth, N. J., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Harry George confessed today that he and Bernard Toner slew a third member of their band early this morning after the latter had won from them more than $2,000, the proceeds of a night of robberies in towns throughout north Jersey. George refused to reveal the name of the dead youth whose body was found near a blood-stained automobile in Linden before dawn.

The two youths were arrested while in the act of holding up a gasoline filling station, a short time after the body of the other had been found.

Ruminer, on the same night the slaying was said to have taken place.

The girl told county officers she and Franklin had been on their way to a justice of the peace to be married, and were stopped by the men on a lonely mountain road. Franklin she said, had been mutilated and she had been attacked.

Two weeks ago, while defense and prosecution attorneys were planning for the murder trial, a sensation developed when it was announced that Franklin had been found alive in a neighboring community and would return to Mountain View.

Brought back here, the man was identified by various former acquaintances, although many who had known him, notably his former sweetheart, failed to recognize him as Connie Franklin.

Taking the stand as the star witness in the trial, the man testified he had fallen from a mule and had merely been stunned on the night Tillar said he was killed. He said he quietly walked out of the community the following day.

The case was given to the jury last night. Throughout the deliberations today it appeared a verdict would be impossible, but at the request of Judge S. M. Bone the jurors made a final effort. Shortly after 5 o'clock they filed into the little courtroom.

There was scattered applause when the verdict was read. The murder case against Alex Fulks, indicted with the four other men, but not on trial with them, was dismissed.

SENATE PASSES BILL FOR COURT BUILDING

WORK MAY START SOON

The long fight of the United States Supreme Court for a new home was won yesterday when the Senate passed the Keyes-Elliott bill and sent it to the White House for the President's signature.

The bill, which passed the House on Monday, authorizes an appropriation of $9,740,000 for the construction of a handsome new building on a site east of the Capitol and north of the Library of Congress.

This site, which is bounded on the west by First street, on the east by Second street northeast, on the north by Maryland avenue, and on the south by East Capitol street, now takes in many historic buildings, including the old Capitol.

Architect of the Capitol David Lynn, who will supervise the construction of the new court building, said yesterday that if Congress provides the money at an early date, the razing of the existing structures will begin in the spring. He expects the court building to be completed in three years.

Today the Supreme Court is tucked away in the old Senate chamber in the Capitol, a small, dingy room that is far too small. The library and the offices also are inadequate.

The plans for the new Supreme Court Building, as drawn by Cass Gilbert, call for a beautiful structure to harmonize with the Capitol and its office buildings.

It will face the Capitol. The central portion will be four stories high above the terrace on the east front, and three stories on the west front. The east stories are to be made lower so that the roof line will be continuous.

The plan for the building divides into four requirements: the courtroom, the justices' rooms, the offices and the library. In addition there will be conference rooms, rooms for lawyers, and rooms for general use.

Singing at Community Fete Urged by Ballou

District school principals were instructed yesterday by Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent, to urge their pupils to participate in the public singing of Christmas carols at the community tree Christmas Eve in Sherman Square, south of the Treasury Building.

A general group of carol singing throughout the entire District is being formulated, Dr. Ballou said. The Board of Education has approved of cooperation on the part of the schools.

Silver Years

By Gertrude S. Trowbridge

"After the Golden Years of Youth, Come Those of Fine Silver"

The handsomest portrait among those of Presidents of Phillips Academy, Andover, is that of John Adams; born 1772. He was a man of supero strength, magnetic personality, and an able teacher.

But all those qualities are not what distinguishes him from other handsome, efficient, magnetic teachers whom we know. His unusual quality lay in his persistent refusal ever to believe that his best work was in the past.

For 22 years he was a successful principal of the academy.

Then, the younger men among the trustees began to think him too conservative, too antiquated in his ideas of teaching. This subdued and growing criticism was soon known to Adams who wrote to his son: "If the trustees feel that the best interest of the academy will be promoted by the introduction of a younger man, how can I make up my mind to remain?"

Before long, he resigned and, although he had tremendously developed the school, his withdrawal was accepted.

Then, he started off on his own and fooled the young trustees.

First, he started another successful school in the East. But that was too tame a job for his adventurous spirit. So, like other sturdy pioneers, he went West, oblivious of hardships, and finally settled in Illinois. There, in 1837, he kept still awhile, to develop another highly prosperous school.

In 1842 he was again on the move, stopping only infrequently, during twelve happy years, working for the American Sunday School Union. In that time he covered the entire State, driving a buggy, and organized 362 Sunday schools. (Most of us would think that we had done very well to have established one.)

In 1854 Yale gave him the degree of Doctor of Laws.

He died in his ninety-second year, 30 years after he had been forced to resign from Andover on account of old age.

"To have built up one of the historic schools of New England; to have set the impress of a sterling character upon some thousands of American girls and boys; to have become, in extreme old age, a pioneer of civilization in a great Western State—this surely is to deserve the grateful memory of those who come after."

Wakefield Measure Is Passed by Senate

The Senate yesterday passed and sent to the House the Swanson-Moore bill for the improvement of Wakefield, Va., the birthplace of George Washington.

The bill authorizes an appropriation of $65,000, of which $15,000 would be used to move a monument from its present site to another nearby and $50,000 for the restoration of the Washington house and the grounds.

ABATEMENT PLEAS FILED IN SMITH CASE

Several Individuals of Firm Under Fire Set Forth Quash Reasons.

ZIHLMAN NOT INCLUDED

In an effort to quash indictments charging use of the mails to defraud, attorneys for the F. H. Smith Co., G. Bryan Pitts, chairman of the board; C. Elbert Anadale, president; Daniel R. Crissinger, former Comptroller of the Currency, and a director of the company, and John H. Edwards, jr., a vice president, yesterday filed separate pleas in abatement.

So far no plea has been filed in behalf of Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, chairman of the House District committee, a former director of the company, who also is under indictment.

The filing of the pleas follows action of the firm of Lambert & Yeatman on Wednesday when they contested argument on a petition for appointment of a receiver for the Smith Co., Zihlman, Crissinger, Pitts and Henry. The argument was held before Justice Alfred A. Wheat, who now has the matter under advisement.

Arguments on several points in the pleas in the Smith case are expected to be argued today when Assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw argues on similar points in the case of B. R. Buck et al. Buck, who is charged with conspiracy to violate the bucket shop laws and several of his codefendants have filed pleas which are said to be, to some extent, the same in effect as those set out in the Smith pleas.

The pleas in abatement in the Smith case contain 32 reasons why it is believed the indictments should be quashed. Among these is the charge that the grand jury was illegally constituted. Another charge is that the court neglected to question prospective jurors if they were connected with the police and fire departments.

16 Killed in Four-Day Fiji Island Hurricane

Suva, Fiji Islands, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Sixteen persons were killed in a hurricane that swept the Fiji Islands from December 9 to December 13. Heavy material damage was done.

The government has taken prompt relief measures and the work of rebuilding houses and replanting crops has gone ahead rapidly. Seed rice is being provided to natives.

STOCKS DROP LOW IN UNEASY MARKET

International Combustion's Receivership Is Chief Factor in Decline.

EUROPEAN ISSUES FIRM

New York, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—After playing a waiting game for the past three days, bears grew bold in today's stock market and launched a drive which depressed stocks generally to their levels of Thanksgiving.

The market continued to drift in purposeless manner until the last hour, when a wave of liquidation depressed most shares from 1 to 11 points. Covering during the final dealings caused rallies of a couple of points or so. The late activity boosted total sales up to 3,412,020 shares, compared to 2,284,850 yesterday.

Announcement of a receivership for International Combustion, while foreshadowed by various events during the past two months, was an adverse psychological factor, and aided the bear cause. The company's difficulties are directly attributable to the collapse of the stock market. Despite its valuable assets, it has been unable to launch financing to meet working capital requirements.

Receivership for American Piano.

Its predicament was similar to that of Fox Film, for which a trusteeship was recently formed. Psychological effects of the Combustion receivership were intensified by the fact that it appeared only a day after receivership for another major corporation, American Piano. The latter company, however, had been laboring for years with individual problems arising from changes in public buying habits.

Rumors of unsatisfactory holiday sales of radios and other luxury products had an unsettling effect upon radio and merchandising shares, although reports from New York department stores indicated that the volume of holiday trade still holds around the levels of last year at this time and in some lines higher. Dividend actions included substitution of stock for the usual cash payment by Murray Corporation. Packard Motor placed its new stock on $1 annual basis, equal to $5 on the old stock, which paid $3 and extras.

Call Money at 4½ Per Cent.

Call money held at 4½ per cent. The Federal Reserve weekly brokerage loan compilation showed a drop of $39,000,000, which more than cancels last week's gain of $33,000,000 and carries the total to a new low for the movement. Bankers' acceptance rates were a little easier, with the 60-day rate shaded one-eighth of 1 per cent. Total outstanding acceptances at the turn of the month were reported at a new high, $117,161,801 above the total of October 31, reflecting primarily the demand for short-term investments during the sharp curtailment of brokers' loans.

Exports of gold for the week were disclosed at $33,499,000, a little less than most estimates. An additional $5,000,000 shipment to France is reported to have been negotiated, however, and additional shipments will probably be sent on the Olympic, sailing the end of the week.

Net declines of a point or two were quite common in the investment trust, holding and trading corporation group. Oils also recorded moderate declines, with Gulf, Lion, Vacuum and Standard Oils of Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio losing a point or more. Aluminum Co. of America dropped 10 points, and Deere & Co. called 5 on a few sales. Fox Theaters changed hands in large volume, but again failed to follow the action of Fox Film in touching new low ground.

Many Issues Quite Low.

Among the many issues which sold at the lowest prices of the year were Air Investors convertible preferred, Atlas Stores, Sidney Blumenthal, Ceco Manufacturing, Clark Lighter A, Foltis Fischer, Land Co. of Florida, Mercantile Stores, Meadows Manufacturing and Sullivan Machinery.

General Electric dropped 10 points, and closed off 7, net. Columbian Carbon dropped 11, then reduced its loss to 4. United States Steel sagged 3 points, and closed 3½ lower, net. Such shares as Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, American Power & Light, American Water Works, Chesapeake & Ohio, Continental Shares, Eastman Kodak, Johns-Manville, Hershey Chocolate, Macy, Montgomery Ward, Sears-Roebuck, Simmons and Western Union lost 4 to 8 points. Several shares broke to new lows for the year or longer, including American Piano, Kolster Radio, National Bellas Hess preferred, and the United Stores issues. Fox Film dropped 12 points to a new low at 20, and closed at 25¼. International Combustion common and preferred touched new lows at 5½ and 18½, respectively.

Commodity markets were largely reactionary. Wheat and corn futures dropped about 3 cents and 1 cent, respectively, influenced by bearish crop reports. Cotton futures held barely steady, although aided by favorable dry goods consumption reports.

European exchange rates were largely firm, but the Latin American currencies sagged further. Sterling cables held at $4.88⅛. French francs were a shade higher, with cables at 3.94 cents.

LOANS TO BROKERS DECLINE $39,000,000

Holdings in U. S. Securities Gain $146,300,000, Report Shows.

AMERICAN ICE EXPANDS

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

After last week's ascension loans on securities to brokers and dealers again receded, according to the statement of the Federal Reserve Board made public yesterday, showing a total of $3,386,000,000 as of December 18, a recession of $39,000,000 from the preceding week. The total for the week is $1,725,000,000 below that for the week ended December 19, 1928.

Loans for own account aggregated $832,000,000 and were $26,000,000 in advance of the previous week, while those for account of out-of-town banks amounted to $750,000,000, a gain of $40,000,000 over the week prior. There was a decrease in loans for account of others, they being $3,386,000,000 or $105,000,000 behind the week ended December 11.

The board's consolidated statement of condition of Federal Reserve Banks on December 18 showed declines for the week of $31,900,000 in holdings of discounted bills and $12,400,000 in bills bought in open market, although there was an advance of $146,300,000 in United States securities.

Reserve Deposits Gain $11,200,000.

Member bank reserve deposits increased $11,200,000 and Federal Reserve note circulation, $7,700,000, while cash reserves fell off $83,700,000. Total bills and securities were $98,200,000 above the amount reported a week ago. The system's holdings of bills bought in open market also declined $12,400,000, while holdings of United States bonds increased $17,300,000; Treasury notes, $5,400,000, and certificates and bills, $123,100,000, the latter amount including $69,000,000 of temporary certificates issued by the Treasury to the Federal Reserve Banks pending collection of the quarterly installment of taxes.

Washington Stock Exchange business slipped back into a holiday quiescence yesterday, the stock turnover of 63 shares marking a 35 recession from the low level of the previous session. The bond sales total, $3,100, was exactly the same as Wednesday's. Ten shares of Security Storage, selling at 116, registered a 6-point gain.

President Charles C. Small of the American Ice Co. announced yesterday it will expend over $1,500,000 during the winter and spring in new plant construction. The most important of the projects will be three new manufacturing plants. One of these will be located in East Boston for the use of the Boston Ice Co., a subsidiary of American Ice; a second, in the Branchtown section of Philadelphia, and a third is already under construction in New York City on East Sixtieth street, near the East River. This is being built for the Knickerbocker Ice Co., the company's New York subsidiary.

All three plants will be electrically driven throughout and construction work will be completed in time for next summer's business.

American Ice now operates a chain of over 80 plants in the larger cities along the Atlantic seaboard.

Mount Vernon Bank Bonus.

The board of directors of the Mount Vernon Savings Bank yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent as of December 31, 1929, to stockholders of record December 26, 1929. They also voted a bonus of 5 per cent of the yearly salaries payable to all officers and employes.

The board of directors of the National Metropolitan Bank also declared the usual extra dividend of 2 per cent, payable January 1, 1930. It was announced that the books will be closed from December 22 to December 31, inclusive. Directors will also give the usual Christmas bonus to the institution's employes.

With 13 companies out of the 31 in Incorporated Investors portfolio increasing dividends, the company is in a strong position from a cash income standpoint, according to the statement of George Putnam, president. Incorporated Investors buys common stock for the long pull, never attempting to buy and sell on price movements. The management states that it added substantially to its holdings during the recent break and that the company has no debt, showing a small cash balance.

Since September 30, the number of Incorporated Investors shareholders has increased from 9,824 to 12,745, it was announced. This is the largest percentage increase in any similar period.

Bank Women Hold Party.

The Christmas party of the Bank Women's Club of Washington held last night at the Huguenot was one of the largest attended and most successful in the history of the organization. There was a Christmas tree and a 6 o'clock dinner was served. An exhibition of infant and childhood portraits of members was an entertainment feature.

In the absence through illness of Miss Mary J. Winfree, of the Continental Trust Co., president of the organization, Miss Mabel V. Royce, Washington Loan & Trust Co., the vice president, presided. Miss Louise Mitchell was chairman of the committee and was assisted by Miss Alice Whitten, First National Bank of Alexandria; Miss Hattie Potter, Second National Bank; Mrs. Evelyn Hawkins, American Security & Trust Co.; Mrs. Judith Fishburn and Miss Eleanor Dankmeyer, Security Savings & Commercial Bank.

Bankers' Association Meets.

The regular monthly meeting of the District of Columbia Bankers' Association will be held on Tuesday next week instead of Wednesday and there will be no meeting the following week. Meetings will be resumed Wednesday, January 8. The association's council of administration will meet December 27 and it is at this meeting that the convention place for 1930 probably will be selected. Asheville, N. C., a new meeting place, seems to be the favored location.

W. W. Spaid, of W. B. Hibbs & Co., was in New York yesterday, attending a meeting of out-of-town members of the New York Stock Exchange.

President John Poole, of Federal-American National Bank, is in Richmond attending a meeting of the board of the Fifth Federal Reserve District, of which he is an advisory member.

ARGENTINIAN BONDS RALLY FIVE POINTS

Issues Gain After Country's Adoption of Silver Standard Basis.

MARKET IS QUITE DULL

New York, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Argentine government loans again took the leading position in the bond market today, moving up two to nearly five points in sharp contrast to their weakness on Wednesday. Much of the loss made by this group in the past two days on the news that Argentina had virtually suspended gold payments was thereby recovered.

Other Latin-American listings were irregularly lower at the close, although earlier in the session many had displayed sympathetic strength. Sao Paulo 8s were particularly weak in the late trading, finishing with net losses of between two and three points.

Aside from the lively performance in these sections of the foreign list, the market moved with extreme apathy. First grade rails and utilities, where support has been strongest in the recent period of easing prices, advanced in the forenoon but shaded off in the late dealings, with the result that small net gains and losses were evenly divided. Governments changed hands in inconsequential volume on a downward price trend.

New Offerings Feature.

The apathy in listed securities is in contrast to the good reception being given to new offerings. Dealers report heavy subscriptions from all parts of the country for these issues, most of which are in the municipal classification, large customers are placing funds in short maturities.

Although the trend has been downward since early in December, the Associated Press combined average for 40 representative bonds has shown only a small decline and is now 2 points above the year's low, at 93.16, this composite figure is about midway between the 1929 maximum and minimum. The peak was reached early in the year, while bonds struck bottom late in September, except for the brief reaction accompanying the stock-market break.

Atlantic Coast Line in Demand.

Low coupon rails turned over in average amounts during the day's quite trading. There was a fair demand for Atlantic Coast Line collateral 4s, Chesapeake & Ohio general 4½s, Rock Island refunding 4s, Nickel Plate issues, Pennsylvania 7s (maturing next year), and general 4½s, and St. Louis & San Francisco 4½s, all of which varied only slightly from the previous close.

Telephone bonds were popular and held firm, but there was a trace of easiness in light and power company obligations. Industrials again idled.

Extreme dullness marked the convertibles. American Telephone 4½s showed a volume of less than $500,000, an unusually small total, and were off 2 points at the close. International Telephone 4½s showed a similar loss, while Missouri Pacific 5½s dropped 1¼.

Money rates were unchanged, but there was a small reduction in rate on bankers' acceptances of the 60-day maturity.

DAGROSSA QUITS COACHING STAFF AT GEORGETOWN

NOTRE DAME PERILED BY FRIENDS

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Out of the Notre Dame-Army football series another type of unrest has developed within the membership of the Notre Dame Club, the New York alumni body. This unrest, and the sense of social and political affront now pervading the military academy may or may not be considered sufficient cause for the removal of the Notre Dame-Army game from New York to some other place, preferably, but not necessarily on the Eastern seaboard. A middle ground between South Bend, Ind., and West Point, with a seating capacity of approximately 80,000 and a population sufficiently enthusiastic and liberal to take up the tickets at $4 each, might be considered, I suppose.

The Army's reluctant conclusion that not only the city officials, but the populace of New York were out of sympathy with the cadet corps and the evidences cited for this conclusion at the academy have been discussed recently in these dispatches. The disharmony among the Notre Dame alumni is another matter bearing, however, on the same idea that a change of scene, if it could be effected at no great sacrifice of gate receipts, would be good for all concerned.

Unhappy Situation Very Delicate.

This unhappiness among the Notre Dame old grads is a matter of the utmost delicacy, but I suppose that if I am to tell the story at all I must simply blurt the situation because choosey phrases could give no impression of the rousing degree of the disquiet.

Meaning no affront to the dignity of the distinguished alumni who now find themselves at outs within the brotherly bond of the club, I should say that the two factions have laid in supplies of throwing bricks which they are tossing at one another with fine old Corkonian cries of "Who is?" and "I am! Am I?"

The trouble began when the university decided many months ago the old custom of distributing from 16,000 to 20,000 Notre Dame-Army tickets through the agency of the Notre Dame Club of New York. Under this old practice, there was an average minimum allotment of more than 100 tickets per member, and the alumni undoubtedly were enabled to promote their social, professional and commercial relations by their distribution of these tickets among their connections.

The Notre Dame Club added a tax of 50 cents on each ticket so handled, devoting this revenue to the maintenance of the club, which has required very little other income. Why the university decided to decimate the allotment to the club this year I have been unable to learn, but whatever the reason the Notre Dame Club received only 1,500 tickets for the recent game, and great was the perturbation of one and all.

Custody of Tickets Objective of All.

The 1,500 tickets were consigned to one distinguished alumnus in his official capacity as an officer of the club, and, as all clubs are more or less distinctly divided into factions, one group of members immediately began to organize and maneuver to beguile the tickets out of the custody of the man who had them. This gentleman says that faction tried to raid the supply, but he is a very bright gentleman, with a legal mind, and in fifteen minutes' time he had pointed out at least fifteen constitutional reasons why the request of the opposing faction or committee, as it called itself, should be disallowed. So the tickets were apportioned according to his faction's conception of priority and justice.

Of course, as he himself puts it, any attempt to allot 1,500 tickets among 150 Irishmen who had been accustomed to ten times that many was bound to occasion some discontent.

Undesirable Element At Game Alleged.

Now to this point the trouble would appear to be nothing more than a routine family row among gentlemen of temperish heritage and tradition. But the rest of those Notre Dame tickets were distributed by direct sale from the university to customers in the East, and an element of the Notre Dame Club who frankly regard themselves as being among the more creditable alumni of the school, believe that promiscuous sale attracts an undesirable element to the game.

Frankly, the type known as shanty are referred to, and it is this clientele which it is desired to exclude by a pick-and-choose method of sale or to elude by the transfer of the game to

Title Retaken By Greenleaf In Tourney

Wins From Rudolph, 125 to 69, in Decisive Game.

Comes From Behind to Win After Playing on Defense.

DETROIT, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Ralph Greenleaf, of New York, regained the world's pocket billiard championship tonight by defeating Erwin Rudolph, of Chicago, 125 to 69, in eighteen innings in a posttournament match game here.

Neither scored and both scratched in the first inning.

In the second inning, Greenleaf played a safety and Rudolph scratched. In the third, Greenleaf scratched, and Rudolph missed a difficult shot but left a safety. In the fourth, Greenleaf played a safety, but Rudolph managed a difficult combination and ran 14 balls. He missed the break shot. The score at this point stood, Rudolph, 12; Greenleaf, —2.

Greenleaf missed a difficult shot in the fifth inning, and Rudolph ran 12. In the sixth, Greenleaf ran 3 and Rudolph scratched. Greenleaf played a deliberate scratch in the seventh and Rudolph played a safety. Score, Rudolph, 23; Greenleaf, 0.

Greenleaf made his first run in the tenth inning, scoring 44. After his forty-fourth shot he miscued.

In the eighth inning both had played safeties, and in the ninth Greenleaf had played a safety and Rudolph had run three and scratched.

Rudolph kept the lead, however, by making a run of 23 in his half of the tenth inning. The score was 48 to 44 at that period.

Rudolph made a protest after missing his twenty-fourth shot, saying that Greenleaf, who had left the room and returned, was walking while he shot, in violation of the rules of the tournament. The referee held that Greenleaf's action in stopping just before Rudolph shot was in accordance with the rules and that the protest was unfounded.

Play was slow during the next four innings. Greenleaf ran eight, scratched twice, played a safety and missed. This left the score at the end of the fifteenth inning, Greenleaf, 91; Rudolph, 53.

Greenleaf ran12 in the sixteenth inning and miscued, leaving his total 102.

Rudolph ran 14 and missed an easy shot, bringing his score to 67.

BASS 7-TO-5 CHOICE OVER MORGAN

Junior Lightweight King to Risk His Title Tonight.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—For the sixteenth time in four years, Tod Morgan, efficient ruler of the junior lightweight realm, will defend his title tomorrow night at 130 pounds, this time in Madison Square Garden against Benny Bass, Philadelphia belter. The match is over the title route, 15 rounds.

Despite the "trick" aspect of the class, invented by the late Tex Rickard for Johnny Dundee, seven years ago, Morgan has made the division popular and himself wealthy by whipping contenders as fast as they appeared. The blond youngster from Seattle has risked the crown he won from Mike Ballerino, at least a half-dozen times here.

Bass Roughest of Contenders.

In Bass, a rugged puncher, Morgan is tackling the roughest of his contenders. Benny fought Tony Canzoneri for the featherweight championship in his last major appearance here and waged a spectacular struggle despite a broken bone in his shoulder. The bout will be the first title test in the Garden within a year and finds Bass a 7-to-5 favorite.

Morgan, like Dundee for whom the class was originated, is a bit too heavy for the featherweights, but just shy enough in poundage to be unable to meet lightweights on an equal footing. His tireless campaigning has brought him purses of $150,000 in the past four years.

In the first ten-round semifinal, Al Ridgeway, Jersey City featherweight who is being groomed for a "shot" at Kid Chocolate, will meet Nel Tarleton, of England. Another busy fighter from the British Isles, Dom Volante, will battle Frankie Marchese, of Jersey City, in an eight-round go.

Temple Duckpin Team Wins Over Boulevard

Piling up a 190-pin lead in the first four games of the scheduled second 5-game block of a home-and-home match, the Temple District League Duckpin Team last night so far outdistanced the Chevy Chase Boulevard Pinmen that hostilities were halted without rolling the fifth game. By abbreviating the match Maxie Rosenberg was denied the opportunity to shoot for a big set. He had collected 520 pins in the four games.

The Temple Team recorded a powerful 652 game in its last effort, gaining a 105-pin advantage for that game. Paul Harrison had a 141 game and 481 set.

Dunmore, at Odds-On, Wins at Keeney by Head

Keeney Park Race Track, Fla., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—The Everglades Stable's Dunmore won the Twelve Fifteen Club Purse, today's featured attraction. G. D. Widener's Nearby was second and M. Dondas' Mickey D. was third. The winner was an odds-on favorite, being quoted at 1 to 2. He earned $650 for his owner. The time for the mile and 70 yards was 1:47 1-5. Only five started.

Golden Auburn jumped to the front at the start, but got into a bad jam going into the stretch. Dunmore, close to the leader, raced to the front, and won by a head from Nearby. The latter, near the leaders in the early running, was not good enough to overtake the winner. Mickey D., slow the first seven furlongs, made up ground coming to the stretch and took third money by a length and a half. Wave Top continued the record breaking in the second covering the 5½ furlongs in 1:08 4-5.

PLAY TOMORROW NIGHT.

The Phoenix Club five will meet Pop Wood's Woodlawn courtmen at the Eastern High Gym tomorrow night at 9 o'clock.

BOWIE TRACK LITIGATION HALTS

Settlement Made in Alleged Mismanagement of Funds.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, MD., Dec. 19.—The suit of Mrs. Matilda A. Bryan, of New Jersey, against the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, operators of the Bowie Race Track, has been postponed indefinitely, it was announced today by Vernon Cook, attorney for the plaintiff. The case was scheduled to be heard today before Judge Morris A. Soper in the United States District Court.

A settlement has been agreed upon by both sides and the suit eventually will be dismissed, according to Mr. Cook. This will take place, he added, as soon as the board of directors of the association confirms the settlement.

On what terms the settlement was made Mr. Cook said he could not disclose at this time.

The suit was filed against 4 directors and 21 defendant stockholders, alleging mismanagement of the affairs of the race track.

Excessive Salaries Charged.

The complainant alleged that M. Hampton Magruder, president of the association; William G. Brooke, secretary; John Farrell, jr., treasurer, and James F. O'Hara, general manager, who are the directors of the association, "have for some time past assumed the entire management and control in the corporation and are operating and running same in their own individual interests and in entire disregard of the right of the plaintiff and minority stockholders."

The bill of complaint also alleged that excessive salaries were paid during the years 1927 and 1928. It further states that under an item in 1928, called "dividends paid," amounting to $121,060, was a false statement.

The cost of the rebuilding of the premises, due to a fire in 1927, was also considered excessive.

Pinehurst Derby Won By Oklahoma Pointer

Pinehurst, N. C., Dec. 19.—Brake Rider, a pointer dog owned by M. S. Hughes, Bristow, Okla., won a brilliant triumph today by capturing the annual derby event of the Pointer Derby of America from one of the largest and smartest fields of hunting dogs ever to run in the field trial classic.

Brake Rider, a liver and white colored pup, gave an almost perfect exhibition, the judges, R. W. Norman, of Salisbury, N. C., and George W. Parsons, of Rutherford, Ala., asserted in awarding him first place.

Rumson Farms Miss, owned by Raymond Hoagland, jr., of Rumson, N. J., finished a close second.

Third place went to Dan's Jack, owned by L. M. Bobbitt, of Winston Salem, N. C.

The Member Stake, the last event of the field trials, started today after the derby had been completed. It will end tomorrow. About a dozen dogs are entered in this contest.

WISCONSIN ACE ELIGIBLE.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Harold E. (Bud) Foster, Wisconsin's all-Western Conference basket ball forward, was declared eligible for competition today, Dr. W. E. Meanwell, coach, announced. He said the school which protested Foster has withdrawn its complaint.

Snow Delays Army Team's Workout

Squad's Arrival at Galesburg Late, Due to Storm.

Team Hopes to Hold Practice Today on Kansas Field.

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Caught in the blizzard that is paralyzing traffic throughout the Middle West, Army's Football Team, en route to California for an intersectional game with Stanford, was forced to forego practice plans today and remain cooped up in its special train.

The cadets were three hours late arriving in Chicago and by the time their cars were switched from the New York Central tracks to the Santa Fe for the journey westward, it was dark. Hence, plans for their first outdoor practice of their trip at Galesburg, Ill., were abandoned. However, the cadets should arrive in Syracuse, Kans., in time for a drill tomorrow.

Weather and not football was the sole conversational topic among the Army players and their retinue of coaches, trainers, totaling 110. Some of the gridders were permitted to get what exercise they needed in the athletic car, a miniature fieldhouse, containing muscle vibrators, ultra violet ray machines, steam cabinets and hot and cold shower baths.

All were pronounced in good physical condition, but slightly weary from the slow, snow-bound journey.

Notre Dame Turns Out To Cheer Travelers.

The cadets were given a cheering reception at South Bend, Ind., this noon by Notre Dame faculty leaders, coaches, students and townsmen. The Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, president of Notre Dame University, led the delegation and wished the cadets bon voyage and good luck. Coaches Tom Lieb and Jack Chevigny also exchanged greetings with their traditional football rivals.

Coach Knute Rockne, unable to appear because of his illness, sent a personal representative to coach "Biff" Jones of the Army, with wishes for an Army victory over Stanford.

Coach Jones and Gen. William R. Smith, commanding officer at West Point, told the Notre Dame throng they were expecting a hard battle, but that they thought Army would win.

Stanford Prepares to Entertain Cadets.

Stanford University, Calif., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Plans for entertainment of the Army football players when they arrive here to begin practice for the game with Stanford December 28, were announced today by Maj. Morgan L. Brett, of Palo Alto. The Cadets, who arrive next Sunday, will be received by Maj. Gen. John L. Hines, commanding the Ninth Corps Area, and Alfred R. Masters, graduate manager of Stanford. Bands from the Thirtieth Infantry and the Coast Artillery will be on hand.

One of the dormitory halls will be turned over to the West Pointers, and all their football practice will be held in Stanford Stadium. Next Thursday the Stanford Club of San Francisco will give a luncheon in San Francisco for the visitors.

G. U. Prep Wins First, Trimming Landon Five

In the firm regular game for both teams, Georgetown Prep's five walked away from a Landon Prep Team to register a 42-to-9 verdict. Cahill and Hekin, forward and guard, respectively, of the winners, led their team in scoring. Cahill rang up six field goals and Heekin one less.

Baker, Landon guard, accounted for all but two of his team's total, scoring three field goals and one foul shot. It was the only game the winners will play before meeting Central High on January 14.

Moffett at Annapolis To Assist Coach Webb

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Dec. 19.—Ensign George Moffett, former crack Naval Academy boxer and holder of the intercollegiate featherweight championship in 1928, arrived today to assist "Spike" Webb in coaching the Navy varsity mitt group.

Moffett, a son of Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, has been stationed on the U. S. S. Mississippi, his father's flagship. While at the academy young Moffett was a favorite in the regiment and was a "four-striper." Next spring Moffett plans to go to Pensacola to take a course in aviation.

Tennessee Leads Nation In Last 5 Years on Grid; Georgetown Is Eighth

Pittsburgh Is Second Among 52 Outstanding Colleges.

Hilltop Boasts Best Offensive and Defensive Record.

By TED VOSBURGH.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—For sustained football excellence over the last five years, Tennessee leads the entire country with a record of 39 games won, only three lost and four tied, for a winning average of .929.

In a list of 52 outstanding institutions whose records for the five-year span ending with the 1929 season were compiled by the Associated Press, Pittsburgh is second; Southern California, third; Utah, fourth, and Stanford, fifth.

Sixth place goes to Notre Dame, followed closely by Texas Christian, Georgetown, St. Mary's of Oakland, California and Southern Methodist.

The Far West thus has three teams among the first ten, the East and Southwest each two and the South, Middle West and Rocky Mountain section one apiece.

Tennessee Unbeaten Since 1926.

Tennessee and Pittsburgh reached the top of the heap by following up four banner years with a pair of great 1929 campaigns in which neither team met defeat. In fact the Tennessee Volunteers, coached for the last four seasons by Maj. R. R. Neyland, have not been defeated since November 13, 1926. The Knoxville institution's record of only three reverses in five seasons is not approached by any other college in the land.

Unbeaten football in 1929 also enabled Utah, Notre Dame, Texas Christian, Southern Methodist and St. Mary's to rank among the Nation's five-year leaders.

Illinois, eleventh in the list, has the best record of the Western Conference teams. The other Big Ten elevens in the order in which they are scattered through the national list are Minnesota, Purdue, winner of the 1929 championship; Michigan, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Ohio State, Iowa, the disbarred member; Indiana and Chicago.

Vanderbilt and Army Tied for Twelfth.

Vanderbilt, which has been Tennessee's principal rival in the South, is up among the leaders in a tie with the Army for twelfth and another Southern institution, Alabama, captures a place in the first 20 along with such powerful Eastern combina-

Temple Offers Line Coach Position

Little's Aid Likely to Accept Post, He Announces.

Is Unable to Agree With Authorities at Hilltop.

By JACK ESPEY.

JOHN DA GROSSA, line coach at Georgetown University for the past four years, has withdrawn as a candidate for the head coaching post vacated by Lou Little and probably will accept an offer to be line coach at Temple University, he told The Post last night.

DaGrossa, whose name has been prominently mentioned in connection with Little's former position, stated that he and Georgetown could not come to an agreement. He would not disclose the reason.

A conference was held yesterday afternoon at the Hilltop between DaGrossa and Father O'Brien, faculty athletic advisor, following which Father O'Brien said that Da Grossa was being considered "as a coach but not as head coach."

The appointment of the head coach is unsettled, and unless determined within the next two or three days will probably not be made until after January 1, said Father O'Brien.

Walsh and Collins in Line for Post.

Adam Walsh, Yale line coach, and Charles "Chuck" Collins, head coach of North Carolina University, are still being considered, among others, for the appointment, the faculty advisor revealed. Asked if Mike Palm and Herb Kopf, who, like DaGrossa, have been assistants to Little for the past four years, were in the running, Father O'Brien replied: "I can't say anything about either Palm or Kopf right now as I have not talked to them recently."

Palm, it was learned, left Washington yesterday morning and is supposed to have gone to North Carolina. Kopf was seen at the Hilltop Wednesday afternoon.

In deciding to turn to the Temple offer, DaGrossa said, he also was eliminating himself from consideration for a line coaching job at Columbia University, where Little has signed as head coach. The Temple position is a "good one," said DaGrossa, but beyond that simple explanation he had nothing to say concerning its terms. He would not comment on the details of the Columbia offer.

Bell, of Penn, Also Joins Temple Staff.

If DaGrossa accepts Temple's offer, he will be associated with a highly capable coaching staff headed by Heinie Miller, former Pennsylvania University star. Bert Bell, also a Red and Blue alumnus who coached the back field at his alma mater for several years, signed in the same capacity with Temple about three weeks ago. Bell resigned from the staff at Penn at the conclusion of the 1928 season and did not coach during the past season.

DaGrossa expects to graduate from the Georgetown Law School in June and intends to commence practicing as soon thereafter as possible. He said that the Temple position will not interfere with his plans. His home is in Atlantic City.

2,000 at Jefferson See Bob Kernan Win

Jefferson Park Race Track, New Orleans, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—The real winter weather which prevailed here today made fur coats a popular garment. The attendance was kept down to the regulars which numbered less than 2,000. The cold weather was accompanied by a high wind which drove the players under cover. The program was made up of six claiming events and a purse race. The fourth, a 1 1-16-mile gallop, was won by the Black Dot Stable's Bob Kernan, who paid $20.70 for $2. Warbler was second and Copper third.

Copper tried to make it a runaway by taking a five lengths' lead. He began to shorten his stride around the turn, but he led into the stretch by two lengths. In the final furlong Bob Kernan came around the field and, wearing Copper down, won going away over Warbler, who came fast and took the place by 1½ lengths.

Biff Jones, Army Grid Coach, Goes Back to Soldiering Soon

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Shortly after the new year Big Biff Jones will deliver the Army Football Team at West Point after a holiday invasion of California and retire from the football picture for the time being.

The big football man will become "former head coach of the Army Football Team" and as Capt. Lawrence McC. Jones, Field Artillery, will go during the summer to an artillery school, where polo will get the call over football when time is taken out from studies for play.

Capt. Jones, however, will play no polo. He has neither the time, inclination nor physique. The former head coach, as he will be then, played guard for the Army Football Team when there was no use for little men to apply. He has grown no smaller with the passing of the years and probably there are not enough ponies in Oklahoma and Kansas combined to carry him through eight chukkers of polo.

Great Guard and Great Coach.

Biff Jones was a great guard and has been a great coach. Soon after the World War he became assistant to Capt. John J. McEwen, now head football coach at the University of Oregon, and when Capt. McEwen had served his time as head coach for the Army Big Biff took over the assignment.

As an assignment on the football plains of West Point can not be stretched beyond the legal four-year term, Capt. Jones must now make way for another mentor.

As he has often said, the Army football coach is first a soldier and second a coach, so he cheerfully returns to his military duties, the school term being preliminary to duty with troops. Commanding a battery should be child's play for a man who has been coaching football for ten years, the last four in supreme command.

Jones Can Give Lessons.

If the lieutenants in his class in the West wish to take some first-hand lessons in football, how not to play it and what it is all about, they will not have far to go for expert instruction. Few closer students of the game have been intimately connected with football than Biff Jones.

Those who know Capt. Jones, believe he can not get very far away from the game. If the Army instructors at the artillery school can tell him the latest wrinkles in firing tactics, he can counter with more information on the art of forward passing than they knew existed.

If they start a football argument with the big fellow out in the West on one of these long summer nights, they are defeated before they start.

At West Point they will be singing "So long, Biff, how we hate to see you go. So long, Biff. Don't forget to come back home."

Eberhardt, Tallahassee publisher, announced late today that he had postponed until next Saturday the filing in circuit court at St. Augustine of an application for an injunction to restrain operation of the Keeney race track near here on the grounds that gambling exists there in violation of the State law and that it constitutes a "nuisance."

DEL RAY WINS BY RALLY.

Coming from behind in the second half, the Del Ray A. C. eked out a victory over the Woodlawn Five last night, 38-36, at the Fort Myer Gym. The score at the half favored Woodlawn, 23-15, but 14 points by Roberson and 11 by Clark helped Del Ray to the victory.

Harvard Shows $217,171 Profit From $1,070,617 Sports Year

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Sports at Harvard, that million-dollar business conducted by the university's athletic association, closed the year ended June 30, 1929, with a surplus of $217,171, the report of Henry L. Shattuck, treasurer of Harvard College, today revealed.

The athletic association during the twelve months ended last June 30 took in $1,070,617, of which $618,822 was contributed by varsity football. Receipts increased approximately $56,000 over those for the preceding year and expenses were reduced approximately $52,000.

Except for football all the sports conducted at Harvard showed a deficit, the largest being contributed by rowing, which cost $39,705 and brought in only $2,387. Track was a close second, costing $47,336 and netting only $12,398. Baseball and hockey each cost approximately $5,000 more than they returned to the Harvard Athletic Association coffers.

SCARCITY OF CATCHERS FELT BY MAJOR LEAGUES

Good Rookie Receivers Sought

Bolton Only Hope of Bolstering Staff of Nationals.

Schang's Acquisition Seen as Ten-Strike by Mackmen.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

WHILE major league managers would be glad to take a chance on any likely-looking piece of baseball ivory, the greatest dearth appears to be in the back-stopping department. "Where can I get a good catcher?" was the leading question asked at the recent baseball meetings in New York and, if any minor league club has a promising backstopper who shows some indications of being a hitter, now is the time to trot him out and sell him for a fancy price.

The fact of the matter is that there have been few good catchers developed in recent years, Mickey Cochrane, of the world's champion Mackmen, being the last. Probably the best newcomer to don the breast-protector and mask in the big time was Bill Dickey, of the Yankees, most of the other entries in both big leagues being compelled to worry along with old-timers doing most of the good work.

Despite the fact that he is slipping, Muddy Ruel still is rated No. 1 on the Nats' list, although last season both Bennie Tate and Roy Spencer crowded into the picture more than usually has been the case when Ruel was ready.

Bolton Lacks Experience Behind Plate.

Cliff Bolton, the rookie from High Point, led the Eastern League sluggers while with New Haven last year until he broke an arm in June, but came back to finish out the season with a mark of .354. Unfortunately he lacks catching experience, being shifted to the outfield by the Eastern Leaguers in order to get the benefit from his hitting and, at the same time, give a better receiver a chance to toil behind the plate. He is the Nats' only hope of improvement.

Although he had Cochrane, picked unanimously by 187 writers in an all-star department, and Cy Perkins, even Connie Mack was worried over his backstopping department until he managed to get Wally Schang from the Browns in a trade for Infielder Sammy Hale. Now, the champions have the best catching staff in the league.

Schang is an oldster, but he is still mighty active knows what it is all about, and is a hard and timely hitter. He works in the turn-around style at the tee, batting right-handed against southpaws and left-handed against orthodox pitchers. In addition to adding a second ace in the hole to his hand, Mack also likely will get good use out of Schang in pinch-hitting roles.

Yanks Drag Out Veteran To Help Out.

The Yankees were forced to also drag out an old-timer to give Dickey some help and they will have "Bubbles" Hargrave, former St. Paul manager, on hand next season. Benny Bengough is still with the team, but he suffered from an arm ailment last year and his future is doubtful until he shows up and does some work at the spring training camp.

In the National League, McGraw and Robinson, of the Giants and Dodgers, respectively, are on the market for receivers, while the Pirates and Phils each have added one which they hope will round out their staffs. The Bucs paid a fancy price for Al "Ox" Bool, who was tried out by the Nats last spring and later sold to the Baltimore Internationals. While in the Monumental City, Bool proved such a star, especially as a thrower to bases and hitter, that Pittsburgh was glad to buy him at a price said to be near $50,000. Already, Manager Ens is figuring on Bool as his 1930 regular, but this decision may prove to be a trifle hasty, as there is many a slip between the minors and majors.

Shotton believes that the acquisition of Harry McCurdy, obtained in the Alexander-McGraw trade with the Cardinals will solve his troubles behind the plate. McCurdy showed great promise while with the Chicago White Sox a while back and has all of the earmarks of a comer.

Griffith Would Permit Intra-League Games.

President Clark Griffith, now that the baseball meetings are over, has suddenly rememebered that he planned to bring up some business before the house but forgot it during the excitement. The Nat owner had in mind asking the American League to cancel its rule prohibiting junior circuit clubs from meeting each other in spring exhibition games.

The National League has not seen fit to make such a rule and Griffith does not see any good reason for the American having this ban. The idea, of course, is that it is possible that exhibition games between two clubs would detract from the fans' interest when the two meet in the regular season. The fact of the matter is that the rule was passed after two American League outfits met in a long preseason series, with one team winning most of the games. When the two faced each other in the regular season, the attendance was small and the magnates blamed this condition on the lop-sided preseason series.

While the Washington Club official concedes that long, one-sided intraleague series might tend to lessen, or almost completely kill, interest when the schedule starts, he had in mind asking that the rule be amended limiting teams to say only two or three games and providing that these be played at the spring training camps and not in the home cities of either outfit.

If Griffith does not forget it again, he plans to bring up the question at the next meeting of the league.

ON THE SIDELINES by BRIAN BELL

MALCOLM MOSS, who has been sold by the Louisville Colonels, of the American Association, to the Chicago Cubs for a sum believed to have been almost $40,000, is a left-handed pitcher who started life as a right-hander.

The father of the new leaguer was a baseball expert, who could see the possibilities in a player from a great distance. He it was who early believed that Earl Combs would be a major leaguer, and his boost for the dashing Kentuckian went on record long before the Gray Eagle of the Yankees became famous.

THE Moss family lived in Winchester, Ky., and when little Malcolm began to throw in childish play his baseball father saw to his horror that he was using his right hand.

That would never do, for the boy could not become a major league southpaw throwing with his right hand. So the lad was taught that while it was quite all right to use his right hand for other purposes, when it came to throwing a ball the left was the right.

The lessons were effective, and when he was only a slim youngster of 14 he could hold his own on the ground with the best semipro pitchers of his section of Kentucky, a State rich in good baseball material.

ON TO Vanderbilt was the order of progress, and at the Nashville institution named for the commodore of railroad fame the boy was just as good a student in the classroom as well as on the mound.

When he completed his course at Vanderbilt the boy wanted to continue in postgraduate work. William (Cap) Neal, vice president of the Louisville Club, persuaded him that he had a future in baseball and could play as he worked, pitching and studying.

He convinced the young man, and he joined Louisville. In the summer he pitched for the Colonels and in the off-season for baseball studied law at the University of Chicago.

Soon he will be a full-fledged lawyer. He will find that baseball has had its lawyers before, the late Hughie Jennings and Miller Huggins, Jack Hendricks, Muddy Ruel, Branch Rickey and others.

MOSS has grown, and now at 24 he is 6 feet tall and heavy in proportion. Cap Neal watched him with the same expert eyes that discovered some great ballplayers when he was scout for the Phillies, and just the other day he decided that after three years in Louisville he was ready for the major leagues.

Neal's old friend and former manager, Joe McCarthy, was standing by with William Wrigley's check book in the hands of William L. Veeck, and the deal was closed in short order.

JAKE ATZ, veteran minor league baseball manager, is a brave man. For so many years that the mind of the baseball fan recalls with difficulty when he started, Atz managed Fort Worth in the Texas League.

Among his accomplishments in the big cow town was the feat of winning six pennants in a row. And now he has moved over to manage Dallas.

Dallas and Fort Worth are only 30 miles apart, connected by a fast traveling trolley system and sports rivals of an intensity seldom reached in any game. The football rivalries of Yale and Harvard, Stanford and California, North Carolina and Virginia and other famous feuds fade into insignificance by the mighty depths of the baseball war between Fort Worth and Dallas.

"YES," said Jake, "I guess Pershing has nothing on me in going from Fort Worth to manage Dallas, but we'll have a lot of fun this summer."

Jake remained the diplomat as he changed bases and said both Dallas and Fort Worth are good towns. He added that Southern Methodist University and Texas Christian University had good football teams and included in his football roll of honor Tulane University, the pride of New Orleans, Jake's home town.

BASEBALL has few more jovial spirits than Atz. Joe Martina, a New Orleans neighbor, who once pitched for Washington and has long been a star in the minors, was the property of Dallas and wanted his release.

When Jake was made manager, Joe asked him for his release. "I will sell it to you," said Jake. Joe had not planned to buy it, and demurred.

"You are in the oyster business, aren't you?" asked Atz. Martina answered in the affirmative, for he is known in baseball as "Oyster Joe."

"Well, then," said Atz, "I'll sell you your release for two barrels of oysters." Joe delivered the oysters and was made a free agent.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—THE COACH, $14.50, $6.00, $5.10; PORTSUR, $2.90, $2.60; THELMA L., $3.00.

THE COACH, coming in greatly improved form, broke well, was taken around field all the way and finished with a rush and was up to win in last stride. PORTSUR raced WESTERN LIGHT into defeat, took lead in stretch and held on gamely. THELMA L. followed early pace closely and ran a good race. WESTERN LIGHT had excellent speed, but weakened in last furlong. CHIEF PETTIJOHN was well up for half a mile. PADDOCK broke slow, but showed a very fast quarter mile.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000. For maiden 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:27. Off at 2:28½. Winner, T. S. Stimson's b. f. (3), by Donnacona—Lady Scrogins. Trained by H. L. Hockenbury. Value to winner, $700; second, $175; third, $100; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24 4-5, 0:49 4-5, 1:15.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HAYES CHOICE, $22.50, $7.80, $5.00; FENLIGHT, $5.90, $4.10; THE HUGUENOT, $3.20.

HAYES CHOICE broke slow, worked his way up, came to inside in stretch and finished with a rush and won going away. FENLIGHT was raced along to stretch, made THE HUGUENOT stop, but tired in last sixteenth. THE HUGUENOT finished fast and ran a good race; should win shortly. COPPERSHINE was going strong at end. YARGEE ran poorly, being outrun all the way.

FOURTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:23. Off at 3:25½. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BOB KERNAN, $20.70, $15.20, $6.20; WARBLER, $15.20, $6.70; COPPER, $4.10.

BOB KERNAN, away slowly, made up ground fast, came around COPPER in stretch, took lead and won going away. WARBLER was running strong at end under a hard drive. COPPER opened a wide lead early, but tired badly in final quarter mile. LYNNHAVEN showed good speed and held on well. FIRE OPAL, outrun first half mile, finished gamely on extreme outside. COUNSELLOR CONNELLY was running fast at finish. FADDY ran a very poor race.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,200. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:53. Off at 3:54. Winner, Three D's Stock Farm's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—THAT'S IT, $4.40, $3.30, $2.50; EARL OF WARWICK, $4.90, $3.20; PLAY B., $2.80.

THAT'S IT opened a wide lead in first three furlongs, was under restraint to stretch, where the colt lasted to win. EARL OF WARWICK found his speed suddenly and closed with a rush. PLAY B. was badly outrun to the far turn, where he moved up fast and was going strongest of all at the end. STARS AND BARS, outpaced for a mile, closed fast; is worth remembering. RAUCONA had speed for seven furlongs, then tired. MOLE HILL ran well up for half a mile.

SIXTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:21. Off at 4:23. Winner, Mascia Brothers' br. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUN ROMAN, $25.80, $7.70, $4.30; BABY DELHI, $13.60, $6.70; SPORT DRESS, $2.60.

SUN ROMAN had good speed and held on gamely though swerving out in stretch. BABY DELHI finished with a rush. SPORT DRESS finished fast.

RALLY WINS, 33-21, FOR CENTRAL

Emerson Leads, 11-5, at Half; Lampson in Star Role.

IT was chiefly due to Russ Lampson, clever guard, that Central High School's Basket Ball Team was led out of the wilderness yesterday.

In the throes of a disastrous losing streak which had reached the alarming number of three straight games, something unusual for a Blue and White Five, that young man provided the main source of stimuli, which enabled his team to come from behind on its own floor to trounce the Emerson Prep Five, 33-21, for its first win in four starts and a startling upset over a combination generally conceded to be its superior.

Although Lampson was outstanding, the entire Central Team resembled a completely improved aggregation, and as unlike the Blue and White Teams in past games this season as day is from night. The players passed smoothly and guarded closely and after getting their eyes on the baskets their shooting was fairly accurate.

Lampson Makes All Points.

However, had it not been for Lampson, the Central Team would have left the floor at the end of the first half completely whitewashed, as his two field goals and one foul toss represented Central's entire total during the first twenty minutes of play. Throughout the first two quarters, Emerson played rings around the home team, shots by Cabell and Albert giving it a 4-0 lead within the first three minutes of play. Here Lampson stepped into the limelight with a long shot from the middle of the court, and after counting from the foul line, put his team ahead for the first time with a snowbird immediately following a tap-off.

But at this point Central's rally ended, and try as it would, it was unable to pierce the Emerson basket before the whistle sounded as intermission. Jack Forney, elongated center for the Prepmen, materially aided his team in amassing the 11-5 lead which it held at half-time, scoring twice from the floor and the same number of times from the 15-foot line. Forney was not to be denied during his scoring spree, at one time dribbling the entire length of the floor to put the ball through the cords.

Central Five Shows Improvement.

Coarch Bert Coggins must have told his men plenty during the brief rest period, however, for coming out at the start of the second half, the home team immediately started on a scoring rampage which continued unbroken until it was leading the Prepmen by one point. Here, Forney again broke into the game with a long toss to give his team the lead once more, but Capt. Cross, who incidentally flashed a nice brand of ball throughout the game, immediately followed with a "snowbird" making the count 14-13 in Central's favor, an advantage which it held for the rest of the game.

From then on, the game assumed the appearance of a rout, with Central doing the routing. Double-deckers by Cross, Lampson, Rice, and Parkins gave Central a 21-13 lead and only scattered shots few and far between were registered by Emerson until the final whistle, while Central was running the score up to its total of 33 points.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT E. COLLYER

WITCHMOUNT. This 5-year-old plater from the G. F. Jenkins menage looks like the winning prescription for the afternoon down at Jeff Park. May not be a price, in fact, I don't expect more than even money, but here is a cinch if there ever was one on a race track, and, just to show your Uncle Bertram knows whereof he speaks, I have slipped you ten winners in the three days at this track, and there are more on the tab. WITCHMOUNT goes in the second and then in the third CHATTAHOOCHEE looks almost as good. To be sure, there is CAPTAIN J. S., but it looks as if that was all he has to beat, and dat's dat.

BLACK PATRICIA has been picked to step up and beat the consistent BRAGGADOCIO the way they are rigged. In the fourth RIFLE, while old boy Walter warbles the sweet words in my ear relative to LUCKY HIT in the fifth. Any price will be a good one, the Louieville lad lisps, and I think it may be as much as 5 to 2. Now you have the info for what it is worth.

Down at Keeney Park, where they seem to be running not unlike trained pigs for followers of this column, I have the pleasure, if slipping you the good VOYAGE as the day's best proposition. This trick won last out and looks plenty good enough to repeat.

WACKET, a solid horse, has been tabbed as the ole wopsey tiger in the fourth down at Keeney. APT may be tough to beat, but WACKET is entitled to a 5-point call at least.

Probably the juiciest one of all is sent me from Cuba. It is none other than HASTY GIRL, which spent the summer out at Riverside Park in Kansas City. This thing goes for all the tea in China in the second down at Oriental Park this aft and there's no telling how much the price will be. SHORTY O. is the one to beat, with CRASH figuring not worse than third.

Castell, Fine and Jeweler to Start for Colonials.

Gallaudet vs. Arnold in Second Game on D. C. Courts.

CAPITAL court fans may divide their patronage between two college games here tonight. George Washington and Baltimore University will collide on the H street floor, and Gallaudet will entertain Arnold College at Kendall Green. Both games will start at 8 o'clock.

Coach Joe Mitchell's untried Colonials face as difficult an assignment in the Baltimore game as any they will encounter this season. The Monumental City Team is one of the strongest in the South Atlantic circle, combining natural basket ball ability with exceptional speed and smart thinking. Last Saturday it extended Georgetown, another powerful aggregation, to the limit before the Hoya Five pulled out to victory in the last three minutes.

New Trio Inserted Into G. W. Line-up.

In order to get a better line on his material, Mitchell will use a new line-up tonight, having designated three players hitherto considered substitutes for starting positions. This trio—Dick Castell, Max Jeweler and Irving Fine—will be seen at right guard, left forward and right forward in the order named. Rounding out the combination will be Capt. Bob Gray, who has been shifted from guard to center, and George Harris, whom Mitchell has changed from forward to guard.

Buff and Blue adherents can hardly expect a victory tonight in view of the performance of the team against Shenandoah last Tuesday. The Colonials defeated Shenandoah but made many mistakes, particularly on defense. They "lost" their opponents much too often for their own good, the visitors scoring several goals easily as a consequence.

Elusive Baltimore Five Dangerous.

In Baltimore, George Washington will find a team that passes with great speed and accuracy and makes its "cuts" for the basket with suddenness all too quick for the opposition. If the Colonials don't stick like courtplaster to the Orioles they will find themselves hard pressed to match the visitors in scoring.

Since the Shenandoah contest Mitchell has drilled his charges intensively on defense, and he hopes for a marked improvement in this department of play tonight. In fact, he figures on winning if the Colonials play better defensive ball.

Among Baltimore's best performers is Kramer, who starred at center for the Jewish Community Center Quintet last winter. This lad has lots of polish and is dependable always, whether it be in getting the tap, passing or shooting. Another highly rated performer of the Marylanders is Capt. Rob Elliott, guard. He not only plays the best guarding game for his team, but contributes much to its attack as well.

Gallaudet will be out to register its second victory of the season. The Blues made an auspicious start last Saturday and have absorbed stiff training fare from Coach Walter Krug during this week.

Johnny Ringle, Gallaudet's all-around luminary, probably will take the center post tonight. He entered the opening game as a substitute but demonstrated superiority over his predecessor.

School Eleven Clears $12,195 on Season

College football teams who are having a hard time making both ends meet should read the report recently made by the faculty manager of the Allentown High School—and then weep. The scholastics had a net profit of $12,195.94 for nine games, in one of which the net gain was only a quarter.

Their biggest "take" was on Thanksgiving Day, when the gate was $13,-309.40, which was divided evenly by the competing teams. This is certainly a case of doing a little business on a large scale, and there are many fairly large colleges which can not boast of such a financial showing for their efforts in the fall sport.

Rutgers Suspends All Sports Until January 11

New Brunswick, N. J., Dec. 20.—When the basket ball team meets C. C. N. Y. in New York and the wrestlers engage Temple here tonight, all sports activities will be discontinued until January because of the Christmas recess which begins next Wednesday.

All squads will report when classes are resumed January 2. They will swing into action January 11 when the varsity five opposes N. Y. U. at New York, the freshman quintet meets the N. Y. U. yearlings, the swimming and water polo teams encounter Columbia at New York and the wrestling team faces Lafayette at New Brunswick.

The swimmers will continue systematic training during the vacation and will keep in shape by swimming in pools in the metropolitan district.

Great Neck Residents Planning Yacht Club

Great Neck, Long Island, Dec. 20.—A new yacht club formed among residents of Great Neck, is building a clubhouse on Manhasset Bay. The club, which will have a membership of 200, is headed by David Kemp with Meyers E. Baker, secretary; Flynn Andrews, treasurer, and Harold R. Young, chairman of the membership committee.

The new organization is called the Great Neck Yacht Club, and will be the eighth yacht club to locate on Manhasset Bay, where an acre and a half of land, extending 350 feet into the bay, is being made by bulkheading and filling. Here will be the clubhouse, swimming pool, tennis courts and dock. It is to be opened next spring.

STADIUM TO BE POOL.

If negotiations which are now pending are brought to a successful close, the coming summer will find the Coney Island Stadium, which formerly was host to boxing bouts exclusively, transformed into a home for a gigantic swimming pool. Charles H. Henderson, who is a well-known sporting promoter, will have charge of the place. Plans for the new pool have already been approved by the fire department.

SPORTS LULL AT PENN STATE

Court, Ring and Mat Squads Inactive Until Jan. 2.

Special to The Washington Post.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 19.—The annual Christmas recess, which begins at noon Saturday, called a temporary halt in the activities of Penn State's three winter sports squads. Candidates for the basket ball, wrestling and boxing teams will hold their last workouts before the recess tomorrow afternoon.

The basket ball team, the first of the three to get under way on its schedule, will return December 31 for several days' practice before the opening game on Saturday, January 4. Bethany College will provide the opposition for this contest. Last year the quintet spent the Christmas recess here in preparation for a Western trip during the holidays.

Mat, Ring Season Opens On January 25.

With about 100 reporting for each squad, candidates for the wrestling and boxing teams brought the first month of training to a close with yesterday's practice. The opening date for both of these teams is January 25.

Freshman basket ball candidates have been reporting for about a week to Coach Larry Conover. From an original squad of more than 150, Conover has cut the yearling prospects to about 40, and will continue the weeding-out process after the men report back January 2.

DECEMBER 20, 1904.

One of the outstanding events of Washington's social calendar occurred with the marriage of Elizabeth Glover and Johkheer Van Swinderen, Minister from Netherlands.

Public Library Association of the District declared that Washingtonians are the best read people in the country according to comparative library reports.

Two rural free delivery carriers were dismissed by Postmaster General Wynne for electioneering while on duty.

Methodist ministers began a crusade to compel traction owners of the District to provide shelter for motormen of cars during the winter.

Maj. Sylvester, superintendent of police, asked more men and increased salaries for the Police Department.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By EARL MINDERMAN

December 20.

Marion Talley, the little Kansas City girl whose debut in the Metropolitan Opera Company in 1926 was a national sensation, was born this day, 1906.

Marion Talley was the heroine of a fairy tale that came true. She had sung her first solo in church at the age of 4. As she progressed in her singing along with her school work, her parents decided that she had an exceptional voice and took her to New York for an audition. She studied in New York and then went to Europe for a year, where she learned Italian and French. On her return she was coached by members of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Then came the big night of her debut as Gilda in the opera "Rigoletto," on February 17, 1926. Seats sold for as high as $100. Five thousand persons were unable to get in. Several hundred people from her own town were present. Her first aria brought the glittering audience to its feet. At the close of the performance she was compelled to answer twenty curtain calls. She was the youngest prima donna since Patti. Her appearance with the company on its tours drew unprecedented audiences. Her immense popularity in the opera company and on the concert stage brought her a fortune in a short time. In the spring of 1929 she surprised the world by announcing her retirement

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM

ceived in the September quarter showed a falling off, but earnings for the full year, 1929, are expected to run well ahead of common dividend requirement. In addition, the electrifying of various railroads should mean new business for the company, and President Hoover's plan to keep business going may also be regarded as a constructive factor.

Concerning Four Stocks.

F. G.—I will appreciate any information you can give me concerning American Superpower, Commercial Credit, American International and Standard Brands.

Answer—Though regarded as speculative, American Superpower, on the basis of present earnings, is looked upon as attractive, especially at present levels. For the year ended September 30 the company earned $4.90 a share on the common. American International common stock pays $2 in cash annually, plus 4 per cent in stock. The issue is fairly well regarded from a speculative-investment viewpoint. Commercial Credit is one of the pioneer commercial banking firms in the financing of instalment purchases. The company recently expanded in new fields, and the stock now pays $2 yearly. Standard Brands is a speculative investment. The company has been organized only a short time, but all of the constituent companies have been liberal dividend payers.

Roosevelt Hotel.

H. W. S.—I own some of the preferred stock of the Roosevelt Hotel. Am I to consider the money invested in this stock as lost?

Answer—The Roosevelt Hotel property was sold at a foreclosure sale last February, and the company is expected to make a payment of 10 cents on the dollar. The bonds on this property were sold through the Adair Realty Co., and there is a move under way for some kind of a reorganization of the company's affairs.

Southern, Mobile & Ohio.

J. C. B.—I am told that the Southern Railway-Mobile & Ohio certificates would be worth double their present price if the Mobile & Ohio line is ever separated from the Southern Railway. What is your opinion?

Answer—The Mobile & Ohio is a subsidiary of the Southern Railway. Net operating income of the M. & O. for the first nine months of the year amounted to $1,948,281 as compared with $1,691,151 for the same period of last year. The certificates are now selling in the open market for about 90. As to whether the certificates would double in price if the road were separated from the Southern's is any one's guess.

Curb Review

New York, Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Stock prices drifted steadily lower in today's curb market under a moderate volume of offerings.

More than a score issues sagged to new low levels for the year but many of them were what Wall street terms "cats and dogs" which were sold presumably to establish income tax losses. Some tax selling also was apparent in the higher price issues, particularly in the public utility and investment

DECEMBER 20, 1904.

One of the outstanding events of Washington's social calendar occurred with the marriage of Elizabeth Glover and Johkheer Van Swinderen, Minister from Netherlands.

Public Library Association of the District declared that Washingtonians are the best read people in the country according to comparative library reports.

Two rural free delivery carriers were dismissed by Postmaster General Wynne for electioneering while on duty.

Methodist ministers began a crusade to compel traction owners of the District to provide shelter for motormen of cars during the winter.

Maj. Sylvester, superintendent of police, asked more men and increased salaries for the Police Department.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By EARL MINDERMAN

December 20.

Marion Talley, the little Kansas City girl whose debut in the Metropolitan Opera Company in 1926 was a national sensation, was born this day, 1906.

Marion Talley was the heroine of a fairy tale that came true. She had sung her first solo in church at the age of 4. As she progressed in her singing along with her school work, her parents decided that she had an exceptional voice and took her to New York for an audition. She studied in New York and then went to Europe for a year, where she learned Italian and French. On her return she was coached by members of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Then came the big night of her debut as Gilda in the opera "Rigoletto," on February 17, 1926. Seats sold for as high as $100. Five thousand persons were unable to get in. Several hundred people from her own town were present. Her first aria brought the glittering audience to its feet. At the close of the performance she was compelled to answer twenty curtain calls. She was the youngest prima donna since Patti. Her appearance with the company on its tours drew unprecedented audiences. Her immense popularity in the opera company and on the concert stage brought her a fortune in a short time. In the spring of 1929 she surprised the world by announcing her retirement

PEOPLES Price, $8.98

Here is, indeed, a toy that will gladden the heart of any youngster. A replica of the real thing—substantially made—and perfect in detail, even to rubber tires, brass rails, bell, etc. It has a real pressure pump which is operated by turning the front crank—shoots water from the hose nozzle. See this unique toy at any of our stores.

BUCK ROGERS, 2429 A. D. — Hides Girl as Living Statue — By Phil Nowlan and Dick Calkins

WHILE WE SEARCHED THE CITY FOR HER, HUM-TOY BORE WILMA THROUGH SECRET UNDERGROUND PASSAGES
ONE MORE TURN TO THE LEFT--THEN TWO TO THE RIGHT--AND I'LL HAVE HER IN THE SECRET LABORATORY
THIS IS THE PLASTIC-PARALYSIS RAY. MY COVERING PROTECTS ME WHILE I ARRANGE YOUR LIMBS LIKE A STATUE THEN I SHALL PARALYZE YOUR VOICE AND--
THE NEXT NIGHT IN THE MOGULS AUDIENCE ROOM, A GUARD DISCOVERED--
WHY--THE--STATUE--IT'S GONE! I MUST REPORT THIS!
(COPYRIGHT JOHN DILLE CO.)
THAT COATING OF POWDER MAKES YOU LOOK LIKE THE STATUE AND YOU CAN'T MOVE A MUSCLE, OR TALK! HA! HA! NOW, IF I CAN GET THE STATUE AWAY WITHOUT BEING CAUGHT

ELLA CINDERS— Money No Object — By Bill Conselman and Charlie Plumb

I HAVE A LUNCHEON DATE AT THE BROWN DERBY WITH CYRIL SWEET! HE'S JUST THE MAN I NEED FOR THE PICTURE I'M GOING TO DIRECT!
THE BROWN DERBY
HE'S PRETENDING TO BE SUCCESSFUL, BUT I KNOW THAT TALKING PICTURES HAVE RUINED HIS CAREER! BUT HE WAS KIND TO ME ONCE AND NOW THAT HE'S BROKE I'LL PUT HIM BACK ON HIS FEET!
SO YOU WANT ME TO PLAY THE LEAD IN YOUR PICTURE, ELLA? WELL, MY PRICE IS THREE THOUSAND A WEEK, YOU KNOW!
YOU'RE WORTH IT, BUT THE MOST I CAN OFFER IS FIVE HUNDRED AND MY GOOD WILL THROWN IN!
12-20
I SWORE NEVER TO CUT MY PRICE, BUT I'D WORK FOR YOU FOR NOTHING! IT'S A GO!
SPOKEN LIKE A PAL! YOU WON'T BE SORRY!

GASOLINE ALLEY — My, How Time Drags!

YOU'D BETTER BE GOOD AN' DO WHAT I SAY, CORKY, OR SANTA CLAUS WON'T BRING YOU ANY PRESENTS.
YOU'D BETTER BE GOOD YOURSELF, SKEEZIX. SANTA MIGHT SORT OF OVERLOOK YOU.
GOLLY, THAT'S RIGHT, I GOTTA BE GOOD TILL CHRISTMAS!
I'VE STILL GOT FIVE DAYS TO GO.

DAYS OF YORE
EPISODE 28
WITH THE AID OF THE FORESTER, WITHOLD, GILES BATTERED IN THE DOOR AND CONFRONTED THE TREMBLING DE BRISSAC
AT LAST THOU NORMAN WOLF, THY TIME HAS COME!!
DE BRISSAC, IN DESPERATION, MADE A QUICK DIVE OUT OF THE WINDOW, THINKING TO BE RESCUED SOMEHOW FROM THE MOAT
BUT THE KEEN EYE OF ROBIN HOOD SAW THE NORMAN AS HE LEFT THE WINDOW, AND AGAIN HE DREW HIS BOW
THE SHAFT AGAIN WENT STRAIGHT TO ITS MARK, STRIKING DE BRISSAC AS HE FELL
MEANWHILE GILES LOOSED HIS SWEETHEART'S BONDS AND CLASPED HER TO HIM JUST AS CEDRIC HER FATHER RUSHED IN BEATRICE, MY CHILD, MY CHILD, ART THOU SAFE AND UNHURT?!
INSIDE THE CASTLE, DE BRISSAC'S KNIGHTS MADE A LAST DESPERATE BUT UNSUCCESSFUL STAND AGAINST THE SAXONS

ceived in the September quarter showed a falling off, but earnings for the full year, 1929, are expected to run well ahead of common dividend requirement. In addition, the electrifying of various railroads should mean new business for the company, and President Hoover's plan to keep business going may also be regarded as a constructive factor.

Concerning Four Stocks.

F. G.—I will appreciate any information you can give me concerning American Superpower, Commercial Credit, American International and Standard Brands.

Answer—Though regarded as speculative, American Superpower, on the basis of present earnings, is looked upon as attractive, especially at present levels. For the year ended September 30 the company earned $4.90 a share on the common. American International common stock pays $2 in cash annually, plus 4 per cent in stock. The issue is fairly well regarded from a speculative-investment viewpoint. Commercial Credit is one of the pioneer commercial banking firms in the financing of instalment purchases. The company recently expanded in new fields, and the stock now pays $2 yearly. Standard Brands is a speculative investment. The company has been organized only a short time, but all of the constituent companies have been liberal dividend payers.

Roosevelt Hotel.

H. W. S.—I own some of the preferred stock of the Roosevelt Hotel. Am I to consider the money invested in this stock as lost?

Answer—The Roosevelt Hotel property was sold at a foreclosure sale last February, and the company is expected to make a payment of 10 cents on the dollar. The bonds on this property were sold through the Adair Realty Co., and there is a move under way for some kind of a reorganization of the company's affairs.

Southern, Mobile & Ohio.

J. C. B.—I am told that the Southern Railway-Mobile & Ohio certificates would be worth double their present price if the Mobile & Ohio line is ever separated from the Southern Railway. What is your opinion?

Answer—The Mobile & Ohio is a subsidiary of the Southern Railway. Net operating income of the M. & O. for the first nine months of the year amounted to $1,948,281 as compared with $1,691,151 for the same period of last year. The certificates are now selling in the open market for about 90. As to whether the certificates would double in price if the road were separated from the Southern's is any one's guess.

TAX DEBT ADMITTED IN REPLY BY HEDRICK

"What of It?" Is Gist of Reply of County Supervisor to Gloth Letter.

OTHER FIRMS ARE CITED

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Characterizing a s"absurd and childish" the charges of Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth that the Arlington Investment Co. was $10,480.06 delinquent in water and sewer installation charges on its Waycroft subdivision here, Supervisor B. M. Hedrick yesterday refuted what he termed the political outburst of the official.

"I note with amusement the feeble feeble popping of what Mr. Gloth evidently intended to be the thunderous roar of his opening gun in the next campaign for Commonwealth's attorney," Supervisor Hedrick declared. "The charges are childish and absurd."

"In the language of his letter, 'the amount still due by this corporation is $10,480.06.' And what of it? Don't other subdivisions still have unpaid balances on their water and sewer accounts? What about Country Club Hills, Waverly Hills and others too numerous to mention? The facts are a matter of public record. Ask the treasurer how many people pay cash for water and sewer installation. The contract of the corporation called for payment on the installment plan, just like over 90 per cent of the other owners of subdivisions. The Arlington Investment Corporation is doing exactly as do all the others, so why should it be singled out for attack? Could it possibly be because I happen to be one of the eleven directors of this particular corporation and am not ont he board of the others?

"'The amount still due is $10,480.06'. And again, what of it? Do they refuse to pay? Not at all, they are perfectly willing and anxious to pay whatever is just and equitable and the attorney for the county seems to be trying to prevent settlement. The corporation paid $1,650 on the water account and $1,350 out of $4,050 on a sewer account before a bill was rendered. Does that look as if they were refusing payment?

"I, as a public official, must expect to be subjected to all sorts of muckraking attacks from such of the old-school politicians as still believe that their personal advancement can be achieved by vilifying their opponents. Rumors similar to these charges have been prevalent ever since I voted to reduce Mr. Gloth's compensation from the county from $4,000 to the maximum authorized by law, $2,500."

The board of directors of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, meeting last night, accepted the resignation of P. P. Woodbridge as executive secretary, effective January 15, 1930.

Mr. Woodbridge, in submitting his resignation, stated he is not in sympathy with the administration policies.

"While I have no definite plans for the future as yet, but have absolute faith in the future of Arlington County if her people will plan on sound economic lines. I hope it may be possible for me to remain in the county and if so, I will at all times be ready and willing to do anything that will further the work of the chamber of commerce," Mr. Woodbridge wrote.

The special committee, composed of Clarence R. Ahalt, chairman; A. C. Jones, C. W. Fitch, C. A. Keefer and Henry C. Morris, appointed to make a study of the advisability of consolidating some of the activities and the revenue of the Chamber of Commerce and the Northern Virginia Bureau, made the following report, which was adopted:

"The Northern Virginia Bureau has, at this time signed contracts extending into next year, from Arlington County people, which will return to it about $2,500; last year the amount received by the chamber of commerce, exclusive of zoning, was approximately $8,000. It is doubtful whether $5,000 can be raised next year unless some change in the set-up is effected.

"It is believed that some eight or ten firms and individuals could be procured who would be willing to pay $300 anually nand that an additional $2,000 could be raised from supplemental memberships. It would seem advisable to have all regular memberships dues at the rate of $20 annually, paid in advance, and notice should be sent the membership during January advocating that method and pointing out the losses, heretofore, sustained in pledges, and the cost of collection, and the uncertainty of the amount of available funds, as the reason for such requirements of payments in advance.

"Under the above plan, it would seem that approximately $6,500 could be raised with a ratio of 40 per cent to the Northern Virginia bureau and 60 per cent to the chamber of Commerce.

It was further recommended in the report that the services of a full-time secretary be dispensed with, as the funds would not permit the payment of the salary, and instead there be employed an experienced secretary-stenographer at a salary of $1,200 to $1,500 a year.

The annual meeting and election of officers will take place at the meeting to be held January 10 in the auditorium of the Washington Lee High School.

Hugh Reid was elected master of Arlington Lodge, No. 42, A. F. and A. M., at its annual meeting held last night in the Masonic Temple at Cherrydale. Other officers are Fred H. Doe, senior warden; A. B. Honts, junior warden; Willis E. Hurd, secretary; Ralph Horner, senior deacon; Samuel F. Cooper, junior deason; H. S. Potter, treasurer; B. F. Lusby, chaplain; Jesse Rohrback, marshal; C. S. Speer, senior steward; Hugh S. Ladd, junior steward; and William N. Prender, tyler.

The newly elected officers were installed by Joseph L. May, district deputy grand master of district No. 54.

The special commission appointed by the State Senate and House of Delegates to make a study of the distribution of gasoline funds by the State have made the following report which will be received at the opening of the General Assembly January 8, according to an announcement made last night by State Senator Frank L. Ball.

Of the 1½-cent tax that now goes to the county, the commission recommends that the county still get the one-half cent and the other cent be distributed one-third on population, one-third on local taxes collected, and the remaining one-third on area basis.

Senator Ball said, "With the increased population and the large taxes collected to offset the area basis, the loss to the county will not be very great."

Mr. Ball declared that he is opposed to having the area basis considered as a factor in the distribution.

If there are to be three methods of distribution of the one cent, the proper ones are population, local road mileage and local taxes, Mr. Ball stated.

These three factors, he stated, take into consideration the people to be served, the means of service and part, at least some premium, on their own efforts in paying local taxes.

"I am opposed to any system that does not require the local communities to pay at least some local road tax," he said.

Francis Smith was elected councilor of Ballston Council, No. 221, Junior Order United American Mechanics, at its annual meeting held last night at the Ballston Firemen's Hall. Other officers are Edward E. Estes, vice councilor; Millard P. Divine, recording secretary; Gilbert C. Harrell, assistant financial secretary; Howard A. Smoot, treasurer; Clayton H. Owen, conductor; Claude Chauncey, warden; Ralph W. Myers, inside sentinel; Ashton P. Owen, outside sentinel, and Boyd A. Baker, Elmer E. Collins and Edmund L. Bouton, trustees.

The newly elected officers will be installed at a meeting to be held Wednesday night, January 8.

The progressive woman's class of the Ballston Chrstian Church at their annual meeting held yesterday elected the following officers for the new year: Mrs. Ruth McClellan Payne, president; Mrs. H. C. Orndorff, vice president; Mrs. Alice Luckett, secretary; Mrs. Cora Hutchinson, treasurer, and S. F. Shrout, teacher.

Funeral services for John Forrest Burrows, who died at his home, Colonial Heights, Arlington County, Wednesday, will be conducted from the home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. Roth, pastor of the Christ Episcopal Church, Georgetown. Burial will be in Prospect Cemetery, Washington.

He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Minnie Leishear, Mrs. Mary C. Bartley, and Mrs. William C. Barr, and three brothers, Charles, Harry and Andy Burrows.

Columbia Lodge, No. 285, A. F. and A. M., of which he was a member, will attend the obsequies and conduct the services at the grave.

Members of Columbia Lodge will meet at the Masonic Temple, at Clarendon, tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Charles H. Picken, 71 years old, widow of Charles H. Picken, died at Sibley Hospital, Washington, last night.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. A. M. Dawson, of Lyon Village, Arlington County; Mrs. Ralph M. Thomas, Washington, and two sons, Wilbur R Picken, Fort Myer Heights, Arlington County, and Roswell Picken, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Funeral arrangements will be made later.

Election of officers will be the principal business to come before the meeting of Arlington Encampment to be held tonight in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon.

The Arlington County Business and Professional Woman's Club of Arlington County held its monthly dinner meeting at the Washington Golf and Country Club last night with a full attendance.

Following the dinner an interesting program was presented which opened with exchange of Christmas gifts among the members.

Mrs. Emma Weekley, chairman of the emblem committee, gave a talk on the emblem and its meaning. Pointing out the five symbols, Mrs. Weekley gave the meaning of each as follows: The torch—truth, trust and light; wand—harmony; ship—progress; scroll—knowledge, and Winged Victory of Samothrace—success.

The slogan, "Be known by your emblem," as offered by Mrs. Weekley, was adopted by the club.

Miss Elizabeth Brewer, 18 years old, of Arlington, Arlington County, died yesterday at Charlottesville, Va.

She is survived by her parents, one sister, Bernice, and two brothers, J. Hammond, jr., and Nixon Brewer.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

5 Per Cent Rate Held At Richmond Reserve

Richmond, Va., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—The 5 per cent rediscount rate of the Fifth Federal Reserve bank in Richmond will be maintained, the board of directors decided in a meeting here today. Directors voted a semiannual dividend of 3 per cent to member banks, amounting to $180,000, payable January 1, among the 580 member banks in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, West Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Despite the fact that Federal Reserve banks at New York, Boston, Chicago, Atlanta and San Francisco have lowered rediscount rates from 5 to 4½ per cent, Fifth District directors said business conditions here justified maintenance of the customary rate.

GRAY FUNERAL HELD.

Woman, 83, Is Buried in Glenwood on Fifty-first Anniversary of Wedding.

Funeral services for Mrs. George R. Gray, 83 years old, 481 Maryland avenue southwest, were held yesterday, the fifty-first anniversary of her wedding day, at the residence. Burial was in Glenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Gray was an aunt of Lacy Shaw, vice president of the board of county commissioners of Montgomery County, Md. She was a native of Colesville, Montgomery County, Md. Her maiden name was Miss Pink Fawcett. She had been ill for about three years. Besides Commissioner Shaw, Mrs. Gray is survived by her husband, a Washington printer.

A meeting of the district chairmen of the Fairfax County Red Cross chapters was held yesterday in the courthouse. Each chairman made a report of the results in his district of the Red Cross roll call. Lee District raised $136 for 136 members, Mount Vernon had $168 for 154 members, the incomplete report from Providence District showed McLean had raised $74, Vienna $50, Fairfax $121 and the Fort Humphreys Government Reservation, which always affiliates with the Fairfax Chapter, $216.83; Centerville District raised $28.50 for 28 members; Falls Church District, $202 for 188 members; Dranesville District, $100 for 100 members; the Herndon Chapter paid $50 toward its pledge of $100. The total returns, $1,096.33, are a large increase over the amount raised last year.

The county Red Cross headquarters requests that each chapter pay the full amount collected to the county treasurer in order that a complete record of all memberships and funds may be entered on the permanent record. The chapters will be returned their portion as soon as the record is completed. The chapter has pledged $1,000 toward the maintenance of the full-time county health unit.

Following the business meeting officers for the next year were nominated: Mrs. Russell A. Lynn, of Herndon, county chairman; E. C. Gibbs, of Mount Vernon, vice chairman; Mrs. George R. Bready, secretary; Mrs. E. D. Vosbury, treasurer; Mrs. John Warnock Echols, publicity chairman; E. C. Gibbs, annual roll call chairman; Mrs. U. S. Walters, nursing chairman for the northern section of the county; Mrs. Joseph W. Cox, assistant chairman for the southern section.

The executive board consists of the county officers, the branch chairman and the following members at large: Mrs. M. M. Barnard, of Lorton; Miss Jennie Moore, of Fairfax; Mrs. W. W. Cleveland, of Seminary, and Mrs. J. D. Davis, of Burke.

Plans for holding quarterly meetings were approved, beginning January, 1930. The next meeting will be held in Vienna, the date to be announced later.

At the recent meeting of the Fairfax Council Order of Fraternal Americans, C. C. Carr was elected president. Other officers elected are: Vice president, Clinton A. Lane; recording secretary, John M. Whalen; financial secretary, Stacy Swart; treasurer, Thomas Carter; assistant recording secretary, James H. Craig; warden, Harry S. Whitesell; marshal, Samuel W. Sisson; chaplain, Thomas P. Chapman, sr.; inner guard, Robert R. Buckley; outer guard, J. Franklin Swart; trustee for a three year term, R. R. Buckley; representative to the state council for two years, J. Franklin Swart; representative for one year, Clinton A. Lane; John W. Sisson, two-year alternate, and Stacy S. Swart, one-year alternate. These officers will be installed at the first meeting in January.

Because of the inclemency of the weather, which interferred with traffic and kept many of the members from attending, the class initiation was postponed until the first meeting in January following the installation of the new officers.

The December meeting of the Floris Community League was held in the High School Audiatorium Wednesday night. W. R. Crabill, agriculture instructor in the high school, thanked the people for their financial aid, which made the trip to Charlottesville possible for the boys' basketball team last week. He announced that his series of night classes in agriculture for persons who do not attend the school will be started about the second week in January. Anyone may attend. The first on the program was a violin solo by Miss Louise Cockerille. Several songs were sung by the newly organized high school glee club. The remainder of the program consisted of a violin solo by Miss Louise McNair, selections by the Floris Orchestra and a reading by Mrs. John Middleton.

Frank Lee was elected master of Harmony Lodge A. F. and A. M. at the annual election in Vienna. The other officers elected were: Secretary, J. F. Ortel; treasurer, E. L. Bennett; senior warden, G. Albert Merry; junior warden, J. Lovell Jeffries; senior deacon, F. G. King; junior deacon, John Ruff; senior steward, T. R. Moreland; junior steward, Charles Bayne; tyler, D. H. Martin; chaplain, Rev. Ralph Wott.

The Herndon Lodge, No. 264, re-elected Louis A. Jones as master. The other officers elected were F. W. Robinson, secretary; John A. Bready, treasurer; E. M. Armfield, senior warden; E. A. Wickline, junior warden; Holden S. Harrison, senior deacon; C. Melville Walker, junior deacon; and E. Westerlund, tyler. Plans for holding a banquet some time in the latter part of January were discussed and a committee, with S. F. Hutchison as chairman, was appointed to take charge of all arrangements.

It has been reported that the Mount Vernon Airways, Inc., located at Hybla Valley, has been sold to the University of Aviation, which has for its directors a number of prominent aviators and business men of Washington. It is planned to make the field in this county outstanding and to give a thorough course in aviation. The instruction will include aeronautical engineering and airport administration in addition to the regular flying courses.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Church at Oakton has elected Mrs. Thomas Maffett president, Mrs. Norman A. Speer vice president, Mrs. George Taylor secretary and Mrs. C. N. Royer treasurer, for the coming year.

The pupils of the Herndon School have prepared a Christmas program which they will present this afternoon in the school auditorium. The program will be opened by the singing of "Jingle Bells" by the school: Kathleen Steele will recite the story of "The Other Wise Man;" the story of Christmas will be given by the pupils of the seventh grade; Billie Anderson will give a reading, "Holiday Week;" selections will be played by the Seventh Grade Orchestra, and first and second grade pupils will sing "Jolly Santa Claus;" third and fourth grade will give the selection, "Christmas Guesses," fifth grade the song, "Christmas Bells." The playlet, "Christmas Dolls," will be given by the primary class. The play, "Christmas in America," by a cast of grade pupils will close the program.

Mrs. Kathleen M. Clarke, secretary of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce, is in receipt of a letter from J. Z. Walker, manager of the Washington branch of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, in which he states that he would refer the question of erecting a colonial type of building in Fairfax for its new filling station, to the officials of the company to see if they could conform to the wishes of the people of Fairfax.

Holsinger Urged For Virginia Post

McGaheysville Man's Name Advanced for Farm Commissioner.

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., Dec. 19.—Gabriel F. Holsinger, of McGaheysville, president of the Virginia Farm Bureau Federation and secretary of the State commission named to make a study of the agricultural conditions in Virginia, is being advanced by his friends in the Valley for appointment as the Virginia commissioner of agriculture.

Mr. Holsinger's name has been placed before Gov.-elect John Garland Pollard for consideration in event that the incoming executive decides not to reappoint George W. Koiner, of Augusta County.

The Rockingham County Farm Bureau, with 1,300 members, the largest farmers' cooperative body in Virginia, is solidly behind Mr. Holsinger, its former president and organizer.

Mr. Holsinger has been active in advocating farm relief. He gave support to the equalization fee plan as a feature of the national farm relief legislation. He also has been active in contending that profitless farm lands should be planted in forests and that taxation on these should be adjusted until the time that timber becomes profitable.

HOOKER TO PLEAD FOR NEW BUS LAW

Virginia Commission Member to Appear Before U. S. House Committee.

FEDERAL CONTROL ASKED

Richmond, Va., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Virginia's interest in legislation to control interstate passenger transportation by bus will be represented before the national House of Representatives committee on interstate and foreign commerce by Lester Hooker, member of the State corporation commission, when the committee considers the proposed Parker bill on January 8.

Mr. Hooker has accepted an invitation as a member of a special committee of the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners to attend the hearing. It will begin at 10 o'clock on the morning of January 8, and both proponents and opponents will be heard.

According to the Virginia commissioner, there is at present no Federal control of motor vehicles carrying passengers. The Parker bus bill, he declared, proposes to regulate passenger carrying, but by allowing States to retain control as far as possible.

Under the proposed measure, according to Mr. Hooker, an application for an interstate passenger line would be heard by the public service commissions of the States affected, and these in turn would make recommendations to the Interstate Commerce Commission, which would grant a certificate if the recommendations were approved.

The Parker bill was approved by the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners at its recent New Orleans, La., convention, and is still pending in the House of Representatives. The same bill, in somewhat amended form, has been introduced in the Senate by Senator Couzens. This measure has also been approved by the Railroad and Utilities Commissioners.

Mr. Hooker was appointed a member of the special committee on motor vehicle legislation of the national association by Charles Webster of Iowa, president.

Hunter Is Badly Burned Dozing Beside Open Fire

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, Va., Dec. 19.—His clothing a mass of flames, started while he dozed by a fire built by himself and several other coon hunters, Frank Cave, 26, last night was burned seriously as he dashed a half mile down the eastern side of Piney Mountain, in this county. As Cave dashed down the mountain side he fought hard to extinguish his burning clothing.

When companions finally overtook Cave, following the trail he had taken by burning fragments of his clothing strewn down the steep mountain side, they found him terribly burned about the legs and up to his waist. It is feared that Cave inhaled the flames, furiously fanned as he dashed down the mountain. While waiting for their dogs to "tree" a coon the hunters had built a fire when a spark ignited Cave's clothing.

ALEXANDRIA SCHOOL HOLIDAY UNDER WAY

Board Will Face Problem of Caring for Annexation Pupils on Reopening.

BURGLAR PLEADS GUILTY

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The public schools and several of the private schools in the city will close today for the holidays, and reopen on January 6 next, when the local public school officials will be faced with the problem of caring for pupils from the recently annexed territory, and also assuming the direction of the schools included in that section. The annexation becomes effective on January 1.

Superintendent R. C. Bowton has been considering plans for a new school building, to be erected between the high school and Jefferson school, completing a school unit on West and Cameron streets that will relieve the congestion and, if the plans being considered by the school board are adopted, will solve the school problem for many years. The school board and superintendent have stated they are not expectant of any building program for at least a year, as the city council will have a full state and taxed budget in taking over new territory and assimilating the oprations of the various executive departments.

Superintendent Bowton has stated that while no definite plans are under consideration, the school board is on the alert to push a building program when it is considered expedient, as when the new pupils are to be cared for after the first of the year, he expects to place many of the grades on a part time basis, with the teachers conducting two classes a day to a room. At present some of the high school classes are being held in the old West End school building, which is now the property of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association, and was vacated by the city when the Maury School building was opened last year, but the city was forced to solicit the rental of several of the classrooms for the high school overflow this session.

St. Agnes Episcopal School, which will close today, yesterday afternoon presented a Christmas cantata in Emmanuel Episcopal Church. Braddock, with the older pupils participating, and this morning will have a Christmas tree for the primary grades, and a program of carols.

St. Mary's Academy, St. Mary's Parochial School and the Xaverian Brothers School will also close today, while the Episcopal High School and Episcopal Theological Seminary will close tomorrow.

Leonard Frye, charged with breaking and entering the establishment of T. F. Burroughs & Son, last September, pleaded guilty in Corporation Court yesterday, Judge William P. Woolls presiding, and was sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary.

Lena Sowers colored, in a prohibition case, was fined $10 and costs and given a sentence of three months, in her absence.

Earl Thomas, colored, charged with feloniously shooting Maggie Osley, colored, on July 28, 1928, was found not guilty.

Mrs. Roberta B. Webb, wife of H. E. Webb, died yesterday at her home, 137 South Fairfax street. She is survived by her husband. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and burial will be in the Methodist Protestant Cemetery.

The body of William Fennell, whose parents reside at 120 Wolfe street, this city, and who died yesterday in Lynchburg, Va., has been brought to the Wheatley funeral home and the funeral will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Burial will be in Bethel Cemetery.

Monsignorship Is Given To Lynchburg Pastor

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., Dec. 19.—The Rev. Edward M. Tearney, pastor of Holy Cross Catholic Church here, has been elevated to the position of domestic prelate in the papal household which gives him the rank and title of monsignor. This is the first appointment of this nature in the Catholic diocese of Richmond since the elevation of the late Mgr. O'Ferrell, of Portsmouth.

Father Tearney is the second pastor Holy Cross has had in its history of fifty years, the first having been the late Rev. J. J. McGurk.

Lynchburg Masons Elect.

Lynchburg, Va., Dec. 19 (Special). W. C. Staples has been elected worshipful master of Hill City Lodge of Masons here, other new officers being: Senior warden, P. P. Still; junior warden, J. H. Luther, jr.; deacon, W. W. Manley, jr., and junior deacon, C. C. Candler.

War Department Proposes To Rout Roadside Petters

Bill Seeks to Extend Patrol Area of U. S. Park Police to Cover Highways Around Arlington Cemetery; Conditions Called "National Disgrace."

The routing of petting parties from roads near Arlington National Cemetery is one of the aims of a bill to extend the patrol area of the United States park police, it is indicated in a letter which Secretary of War Hurley has sent to Congress.

The bill, which was drafted by the War Department, authorizes the local park police to patrol Federal roads for a distance of 5 miles outside of Washington.

"The situation," Hurley told Speaker of the House Longworth, "has become a national disgrace, especially along the roads leading from Highway Bridge to Arlington Cemeteyr, where numerous cars have frequently parked at night in order to utilize this road (because it is not policed by anybody) as a place for carrying out immoral practices."

Hurley explained that at present, the Virginia authorities have not the power to police the Federal military roads just outside of Washington, and that there is some doubt as to whether the park police have such power.

He quoted the sheriff of Arlington County as saying that that there are 46 miles of Federal roads which have no police protection whatever. An average of five misdemeanors are committed on these roads each week, he said, and about 25 or 30 felons a year.

Hurley said that he did not believe the use of troops on these roads was advisable, and he, therefore, urged that the bill giving power to Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, to send park police out on them be passed.

The bill also authorizes the United States District Court for Eastern Virginia to appoint such additional United States commissioners as may be necessary to try prisoners arrested by the park police in Virginia.

FIREMEN ABANDON SALE OF CHANCES

Postoffice Department Ruling Ends Scheme Tried in Takoma Park.

DIVORCES ARE GRANTED

Following decision by the Postoffice Department that a play being propagated by the Takoma Park Volunteer Fire Department is in violation of the lottery law, officials of the department have ordered that the members cease selling the chances. The contract with a company which had been conducting the campaign has been cancelled. The oFstoffice Department ruled that circulars advertising the socalled lottery are unmailable.

For about two weeks the firemen have been selling chances on prizes to raise funds to help pay for the new firehouse. Each fireman was given a book with pages numbered from 1 to 35. The purchaser bought a voice in the disposition of the prizes and paid the amount shown on the page he drew from the book. The firemen innocently entered into the contract, believing the scheme legal.

No decision as to the disposition of funds already collected has been made as yet, as the firemen wish to confer with the promotion company, according to Maj. Louis C. Vogt, president of the fire department. The major could not state definitely the amount which has been collected.

A final decree of absolute divorce was granted to Anthony E. Sylvester, of Montgomery County, from Mrs. Helen L. Sylvester, of Long Branch, N. J., yesterday, by Judge Robert B. Peter, in Circuit Court, at Rockville. The divorce was granted on the grounds of desertion. Letters were presented written by the wife which declared her intention of remaining away from the husband for good.

The couple was married at Long Branch, June 27, 1926, and have no children, according to the petition filed by Attorney Robert B. Peter, jr., counsel for the plaintiff.

Two committee meetings will be held today at Rockville in the courthouse in connection with preparations for the beginning of construction of the new courthouse and jail to be constructed at Rockville. The committee on materials, equipment and specifications, which is headed by George Sacks, will meet to consider several materials which it is planned to use in the courthouse.

The appraisal committee, which is charged with deciding when the occupants of the structures on the square west of the present courthouse must leave in order that demolition work can begin, also will meet today. This committee, which is composed of Lacy Shaw, vice president of the board of county commissioners, chairman; Berry E. Clark, clerk to the county commissioners, and Preston B. Ray, clerk of the circuit court, has taken steps to clear the way for the immediate construction of the new courthouse building, subject to approval by the county commissioners of the plans and specifications for the new building.

The Montgomery County Commissioners will not meet Tuesday, their regular meeting day, because it is Christmas eve. The meeting will be held Monday. The meeting on the following Tuesday, which is the eve of New Year, will be dispensed with entirely. Courthouse employes will be given a two-day holiday for Christmas, Tuesday and Wednesday it was announced yesterday.

The heavy fog which blanketed the roads of Montgomery County early yesterday morning was blamed for an accident which occurred on the Rockville pike near Bethesda about 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning, when two men were injured and an automobile ran down a 15-foot embankment.

Wilbur Appleby, of the Congressional Country Club, a passenger in the automobile driven by Peter Alfred Schmitt, also an employe of the country club, sustained a broken nose, and William P. Benson, of Hyattstown, Md., the driver of the other car, was injured on the arm. Schmitt told County Policeman Joseph Oldfield that he was driving without lights so that he could see in the fog, claiming that the light rays made driving impossible.

The Schmitt car ran over the embankment and stopped right side up. Schmitt was charged with reckless driving and operating dithout lights and was forced to put up $105 collateral to insure his appearance in Police Court by Justice of the Peace A. L. Moore, of Bethesda. Benson was released on his personal bond to appear to answer the charge of reckless driving.

J. F. McArthy, of Kensington, had a narrow escape from injury and caused the tie-up for nearly an hour of Chevy Chase Lake and Kensington cars last night when his car skidded on the street car tracks on Connecticut avenue nrth of the circle and struck a pole which supported the overhead wires for the street car railway. He was uninjured. The pole was cut in two. Street car traffic was tied up and motor vehicle traffic was seriously impeded by the accident which occurred in the course of the homegoing rush of workers.

A meeting of the Montgomery County Boy Scout committee has been called for Saturday evening in the courthouse at Rockville. Chairmen of local troop committees, scoutmasters and others interested in the scout movement also have been invited. Definite plans will be discussed for the formation of the county organization at the meeting. It is hoped that a permanent county organization will be formed at the meeting.

Irving C. Root, chief engineer of the Maryland Park National Capital and Planning Commission, has started the work of preparing the plans of all park lands which it is planned to acquire and the names of the owners of the land and other information which was asked by a resolution adopted by the commission at a meeting Wednesday night. Thomas E. Hampton, secretary-treasurer of the commission, is preparing a statement on the amount of money available from the 7-cent park land tax and the total amount of money which may be obtained by the sale of bonds under the authorization of the commission's organic act.

The Montgomery County Schools will close today for the Christmas holidays. Most of the schools will hold appropriate exercises today. The schools will reopen January 2.

TWO FIGHT VERSIONS TOLD MARION JURY

Deliberations on Fate of Eight Deputies Will Begin Today.

ARGUMENTS ARE MADE

Burnsville, N. C., Dec. 19 (A.P.).—Two versions of the early morning battle between officers and strikers at Marion, N. C., on October 2, in which six union members were killed, were presented today as State and defense attorneys continued arguments in the trial of eight deputy sheriffs charged with second degree murder.

Defense attorneys declared there was "clear and convincing evidence" that deputies, who admit shooting into the crowd of strikers, fired in defense of their own lives.

Attorneys for the prosecution asserted the weight of the evidence showed the officers used excessive force and fired at the strikers as they ran from tear gas bombs exploded by the officers.

The trial, sent here on a change of venue from Marion, drew near a close today. Arguments were expected to be completed tonight. Tomorrow Presiding Judge G. V. Cowper, of Kinston, will deliver a lengthy charge to the jury, which is expected to begin its deliberations before noon. Taking of testimony was concluded yesterday and arguments began.

A strike the Marion local of the United Textile Workers of America, a branch of the American Federation of Labor, called in the Marion Manufacturing Co. mill at 10:30 a. m., October 2, preceded the battle.

Mill officials called the sheriff's office at daybreak and said strikers were refusing to permit members of the day force who would not join in th estrike to go to work. The clash followed arrival of the officers at the mill.

The defendants, Webb Fender, Taylor Greene, Charles Tate, Robert Ward, Broad Robbins, William Twiggs, James Owens and Dave Jarrett, sat on the front row of seats today listening intently to the arguments.

Farm Hand Held As Girl Attacker

Child, 13, Tells Her Story After Hiding in Barn Several Hours.

Special to The Washington Post.

Moorefield, W. Va., Dec. 19.—Junius Cross, colored, is in the Mineral County Jail at Keyser, having been taken there as a precautionary measure by authorities following his arrest yesterday on charges of having attacked Virginia Lee Fisher, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Fisher, who live 9 miles from here toward Petersburg.

Cross is alleged to have come from the William Welton place, where he is employed, to examine cattle at the Fisher farm, and, seeing the girl in a field some distance away, to have committed the assault there. The girl, a policeman said, returned to the barn on her father's farm and hid in the mow, afraid to tell of the attack until her brothers found her later in the day. Three State troopers and a county officer arrested Cross and took him to jail.

Lynchburg Schoolgirl Mysteriously Wounded

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., Dec. 19.—Louise Laughon, 12, daughter of L. S. Laughon, of Alta Vista, is a patient at Lynchburg hospital, where she underwent an operation for removal of a .22 caliber rifle bullet with which she was shot while walking from school to her home.

It is not known who shot the child.

TWO WAYS TO OPEN BANK CONSIDERED

Merger of Prince Georges' Closed Institution With Another Proposed.

KINDERGARTEN IS ASKED

Two proposals seeking the early reopening of the Southern Maryland Trust Co. at its two branches in Seat Pleasant and Upper Marlboro, Md., are being given serious consideration by directors of the defunct institution and Maryland Bank Commissioner George W. Page, according to announcement here last night by Allen MacCullen, secretary of the trust company, which closed its doors last Saturday.

Mr. MacCullen made public that one plan is for a reopening under the same management and another is for reopening upon the proposed "consolidation of the trust company with a large Maryland bank, whose name can not be announced at this time."

He declared that a meeting of the stockholders of the institution, held at Seat Pleasant, resulted in appointment of a committee which he said would confer with representatives of this unnamed financial institution on the matter.

Mr. MacCullen, in declaring he sought to refute reports that many persons had lost Christmas savings checks by closing of the trust company, stated that about $18,500 of the total Christmas amount of $21,000 had been paid out previously.

Establishment of Prince Georges County's first kindergarten at Laurel has been asked in a petition presented to the county board of education by residents of that town, it was announced yesterday by Superintendent of Schools Nicholas Orem. The petition asks for the establishment of a kindergarten for the training of children between the ages of 4 and 6 years and is signed by 35 persons.

Superintendent Orem acknowledged the petition yesterday in a letter. He points out that the question will have to be acted upon by the board
